MARINES GAIN MILE AGAINST OKINAWA JAPS

66,324 of Enemy Slain on Island

GUAM, June 8 [Friday]—(AP)—Tenth army doughboys and marines, who have killed 66,324 Japanese on Okinawa and near-by islands, swept rapidly forward in good weather yesterday toward stiffening resistance along the enemy's last natural defense line in the southern end of the island.

Adm. Nimitz reported in his bulletin today that Maj. Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd Jr.'s 6th marine division drove ahead more than one mile on the west flank against strong opposition. Rear elements were clearing the Oroku peninsula and putting the captured Naha air field into shape. The marines had cut off Oroku peninsula yesterday.

On the east flank Maj. Gen. Archibald V. Arnold's 7th infantry division was pressing into one end of the Yaeju-Dake escarpment against determined resistance. Advance patrols of the 7th and Maj. Gen. James Bradley's 96th infantry division to the west reported machine gun fire along the entire escarpment.

Land on Another Island

Elements of the 7th division, meantime, landed on O-shima, an island one-quarter of a mile off southeastern Okinawa.

Adm. Nimitz reported 66,324 Japanese had been killed on Okinawa and surrounding islands as of Wednesday, 67th day of the operation. This was 4,805 more than the toll one week before. American soldier and marine dead, wounded, and missing, last given as of May 24, were 26,677.

Improving weather over the Okinawa area permitted the use of aircraft and tanks in support of the ground operations.

Encounter Heavy Fire

The 6th division marines, moving slowly southeastward from the Naha airdrome sector, encountered fire from machine guns, heavy automatic weapons and dug-in mortars as they pressed to Gushi town, on the south side of the Oroku peninsula, in an advance of more than a mile from the air field.

Marines of the 1st division, immediately east, captured hill 108, west of Gakiton town, on a highway leading to the sizable west coastal city of Itoman, western anchor of the Yaezu-Dake escarpment. Advance elements drove to the west coast about 900 yards above Itoman.

Rockets Keep Off Suicides

Broadcast quotations from Domei and from Japanese newspapers alike virtually wrote off Okinawa as lost, with Domei conceding that "the war situation gradually is becoming more disadvantageous to our side."

Larger numbers of United States land based planes were moving into Okinawa, the Japanese said, and by "effectively employing" rocket ships and planes the Americans had kept Japanese suicide planes "from getting to their targets" in Okinawa waters.

WAC, 2 Yanks Marooned in Hidden Valley

BY WALTER SIMMONS
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

HOLLANDIA, New Guinea, June 6 [Delayed]—In a hidden valley 130 miles southwest of Hollandia, a WAC and two airmen are awaiting rescue following one of the most fantastic tragedies of the war. No white man had ever set foot in this isolated paradise before a C-47 transport plane circled over it at 3:15 p. m. May 13.

The plane carried 15 officers and men and nine WACs. They planned to surmount the 16,000 foot peaks which encircle the valley and drop low to see the queer, unclad people who threw spears at planes.

But on this day the mist hung soggily over the peaks and in grim air force parlance, the plane "hit a cloud with a rock in it."

Five Thrown Clear

Smashing into the side of the palisade, the transport burst into flames. In the tail, which broke off, were three WACs and two men. They were thrown clear. The others, probaly killed instantly, were cremated.

One of the WACs died immediately, the other after 20 minutes. The survivors were Lt. Joseph McCollum, Trenton, Mo.; Tech. Sgt. Kenneth Decker, Kelso, Wash., and WAC Corp. Margaret Hastings, Oswego, N. Y.

Dazed and shocked they reached the floor of the valley, several miles distant.

A fleet of 24 search planes hunted the group in vain the next day. The search was continued two more days before a keen eyed pilot of a B-17 sighted the wrecked plane and later three khaki clad figures who were waving frantically. The next day a C-47 dropped supplies and a walkie talkie radio set. Communication was established almost immediately.

Lt. McCollum radioed that the natives were friendly but of little help.

"They're feeding us bananas and boiled sweet potatoes," he said. "That tastes pretty good but we'd like some real chow."

Medics and Food Dropped

Almost a ton of food was dropped in response to this appeal.

Two Filipino medics laden with supplies also were dropped by parachute. They reported the survivors were badly shaken up but had suffered only slight injury.

Then Miss Hastings went on the radio with a purely feminine request.

"How about dropping me some panties?" she asked. "Any kind will do."

Clothing, mail, and also a new pair of shoes for Miss Hastings were dropped. Six more Filipino paratroopers and officers landed in the valley 10 miles away and took three days to fight their way thru dense vegetation.

At their request a supply of rice was dropped for them. They set up a pyramidal tent which had been dropped.

"I never have been waited on so much in my life," reported the only white woman in the valley.

On May 26 two chaplains boarded a C-47 transport and headed for the valley. They were Col. August Gearhard of Milwaukee, Wis., a Catholic priest and air chaplain of the far east air service command.

THE BARNYARD MATADOR

Nazis Had Plane to Raid N.Y.; New Navy Fighter Fastest Yet

Inventor Surrenders

PARIS, June 7 (AP)—Alexander de Seversky said today that on the eve of the allied European victory the Germans had developed a four-engined jet bomber for trans-Atlantic round trip bombing raids against New York and other eastern American cities.

Simultaneously, supreme headquarters annouced that Heinrich Bernhard Celerich, inventor, designer, and producer of German jet planes and other military aircraft, had surrendered to the United States military government and offered his jet secrets and aircraft designs to the American army.

Discloses U. S. Superbomber B-36

De Seversky, noted aircraft designer, declared that before the war with Japan is ended the United States army air forces might have planes in operation capable of 10,000 mile nonstop flights.

De Seversky also disclosed to a press conference some hitherto unpublicized facts about America's newest superbomber, the B-36, but censors would not clear them for publication. [Censors also cut out 23 other words of this dispatch relating to new United States planes.]

He said Reichsmarshal Goering told him and Gen. Carl A. Spaatz that the Nazis would have sent the big jet bombers against the United States within a few months if the war had not ended.

Nazis Had 600 Fighters

De Seversky, a special consultant to Secretary of War Stimson, said Germany had 600 ME-262 jet fighters at one time and hoped to build 3,000, which Goering considered necessary to make allied bombing unprofitable.

De Seversky forecast that jet propulsion would replace internal combustion engines as the main power of all aircraft in a very short time and predicted the United States would make rapid strides in development of jet propelled aircraft as a result of lessons learned from Germany.

Ready for Japs

Bethpage, N. Y., June 7 (AP)—A new navy fighter plane, the twin engine Grumman F7F Tigercat, swiftest and most powerful built for the fleet, is ready for action against the Japanese.

The navy today removed some of the secrecy surrounding the heavy, high speed fighter which it described as one of the answers to improved performances by Nipponese aircraft.

Altho the number and size of guns carried by the Tigercat were not revealed, navy officials said the full fire power volume could smash a big Japanese bomber in a single burst.

Equipped with Rockets

Some of the highlights of the sea service's latest sky fighter are:

1. Ability to climb steeply at better than a mile a minute.

2. Carrying a 4,000 pound bomb load—greater than any other fighter—or a full size torpedo. It also is equipped with rockets.

3. A longer range than any previous fighter plane.

As the first twin engine fighter used by the navy, the Tigercat is powered by two 2,100 horse power double Wasp Pratt and Whitney radial air cooled engines turning three blade propellers.

Versatile Plane

Described as the most versatile aircraft it ever has adopted, the navy said the Tigercat's climbing speed made it especially effective in quick interception of enemy air attackers.

The navy said the longer range, made possible by a 300 gallon detachable fuel tank, enabled it to operate ahead of ground attacks or to give fighter cover on distant bomber missions.

The first of the Tigercats will be used by marine corps pilots for land based operations. The navy said its own flyers would use the plane on new 45,000 ton aircraft carriers of the Midway class.

MEDLEY GUILTY IN BOYER DEATH

Convicted in Capital of Slaying Divorcee

Washington, D. C., June 7 [Special]—Joseph Medley, 43, debonair escaped convict from Michigan, was found guilty of first degree murder today in the robbery killing of one of his red haired women friends for whom the government said he had a weakness. A death penalty is mandatory under the verdict.

Joseph Medley

His victim was Mrs. Nancy Boyer, 45, attractive divorcee described by the defense as a "shakedown artist." She was found, shot thru the head, in her swank Washington apartment on March 6 after a gay party and all night poker game. The jury deliberated 2 hours and 40 minutes.

The government charged that Medley returned to Mrs. Boyer's apartment after the party to keep a breakfast date with her, and choked her with a scarf, hit her on the mouth, and shot her in the head. Government witnesses testified he later sold an emerald and diamond ring and tried to sell a silver fox fur jacket stolen from Mrs. Boyer.

Medley was captured March 18 in a St. Louis hotel in the company of another red-head, Mrs. Mabel W. Mueller, after a nation-wide search. At that time he also was hunted for the bathtub deaths of two other auburn haired women with whom he had shared hotel rooms.

He was indicted for murder in the killing of Laura Fisher, 28, in a New Orleans hotel.

TRUMAN NAMES 4 STAR GENERAL FOR HINES' POST

Warns Travel May Be Rationed

BY WALTER TROHAN
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., June 7—In a flow of pithy sentences, President Truman today unloosed the heaviest flood of news White House press conferences have known in years.

Within the space of 15 minutes he broke the following major news items:

1. Gen. Bradley, fighting deputy of Gen. Eisenhower, will succeed Maj. Gen. Frank T. Hines as head of the veterans administration. Hines resigned.

Maj. Gen. Frank T. Hines [left], Stuart Symington [center], and John B. Hutson.

2. The President will not hesitate to ration travel if he deems such action necessary to maintain the flow of troops from Europe to the Pacific.

3. The Truman-Churchill-Stalin meeting will be held within 40 days.

Pay Increase for Congress

4. The President believes members of congress are grossly underpaid and should receive $15,000 to $25,000 a year.

5. The Little Steel formula, holding wages to within 15 per cent of Jan. 1, 1941, levels, will remain for the present, altho a survey of the situation is to be made later.

6. Stuart Symington, St. Louis electrical equipment executive, is to succeed former Sen. Gillette of Iowa on June 15 as chairman of the surplus property board.

7. John B. Hutson, member of the staff of War Mobilization Director Vinson, will succeed Grover B. Hill as undersecretary of agriculture.

New NLRB Chairman

8. Paul M. Herzog, now a navy lieutenant, will succeed H. A. Millis as chairman of the national labor relations board on June 30. Herzog, 38, formerly was chairman of the New York state labor relations board. Millis, 72, told the President he was quitting on orders of his physician.

Most of this news was volunteered by the chief executive, altho some came in response to questions. He was in excellent spirits as he rattled off his answers and appeared to be willing to go on as long as the reporters could take it. The conference ended when a weary, news burdened reporter shouted, "Thank you,

Quiz Widow on Langford's Strange Past

New York, June 8 [Friday]—[Special]—A possible clew to a motive in the baffling Park avenue slaying of Albert E. Langford, 63, textile executive, appeared today for the first time in an amazing account of the dead man's past during questioning of Reed Lawton, musical comedy baritone.

Mrs. Langford

The one time favorite protege of Langford's widow, Mrs. Marion Grimes Langford, utility heiress and cafe society benefactress, Lawton, regarded as a possible key witness because of his knowledge of Mrs. Langford's affairs, came here from Chicago, where he was managing a touring operetta, and surrendered to New York police. He and Mrs. Langford both were questioned until early this morning—but separately. The two did not meet during their visits at the district attorney's office.

Also injected into the case was a third mystery witness, who was being held early this morning.

An Ex-Shirt Salesman

Lawton in his story described Langford as a former shirt salesman who backed out on a promised payment of $25,000 to an Austrian baroness and a self-styled Indian chief who had promoted Langford's matrimonial match with the wealthy patroness he wed in 1942.

Involved in the story was the name of Rafaelo Diaz, the late opera singer and protege of Langford's 70 year old bride. His name was mentioned by the two men who reportedly talked with Langford a moment before he was shot to death Monday night at his swank apartment.

Lawton, who received more than $50,000 from Mrs. Langford to assist his career, gave the following account of the alleged marriage plot:

The introduction of Langford and the elderly heiress, then the widow of Atty. Robert H. Grimes, took place the summer of 1942 in the Riverside dr. apartment of Mrs. Amelia Noble, widow of John Noble, noted painter.

Baroness, Chief Attend Party

Mrs. Grimes was brought to the party by Diaz. The baroness was also at the party, as was the chief, to see how things went. Things appeared to have gone well, for Langford and Mrs. Grimes were married in September, 1942. A month later the baroness came to Lawton's office and angrily complained that Langford had reneged on a promise to pay for her services in promoting the match. This, Lawton said, was the first he had heard of the plan to promote the wedding.

"I paid all of Langford's bills during that period," Lawton said the baroness exclaimed. "I even bought the sport suit he wore the night he met her. He made a deal to pay us—the chief and myself—$25,000 immediately after he married her. Now he doesn't even want to know us. He hasn't paid off and I want to get even."

The baroness demanded that Lawton take her complaint to Mrs. Langford.

Dismisses Incident with Laugh

"When I told her she laughed and said it was just an attempt to shake her down for some cash. Some time later I asked:

"'Whatever became of that baroness?'

"'O,' she replied, 'I got her deported.'"

The hostess of the party at which the Langfords were introduced, the former Mrs. Noble, who has since remarried, confirmed that they met in her home and that "the baroness and the Indian chief were there."

The names of the baroness and self-proclaimed chief were given to authorities before they summoned Mrs. Langford to the district attorney's office for further questioning last night.

Mrs. Langford's visit to the prosecutor's office was the second time since the slaying she had left her lavish apartment. Earlier in the day she had visited her 96 year old father, Joseph Bell Mayer, public utility tycoon, in the same hotel. Waiting reporters asked her then if she planned to attend her husband's funeral.

"Good God, no," she snapped.

STALIN AGREES TO TALK OVER WAR THREATS

End Frisco Parley Deadlock

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

San Francisco, Cal., June 7—Russia surrendered today in the veto controversy that has stalled the progress of the world security conference for nearly three weeks.

Russia now agrees with the United States, Great Britain, France, and China that there shall be unrestricted freedom of hearing and discussion by the prospective world peace league's security council of any international dispute likely to lead to war.

In negotiations with Harry Hopkins, special representative of President Truman in Moscow, Russian Premier Stalin receded from the Russian contention that under the so-called Roosevelt compromise voting procedure adopted at the Yalta conference even discussion of an international dispute could be vetoed by one of the Big Five powers that was not a party to the controversy.

The Russian backdown breaks the logjam of issues in the San Francisco conference and clears the way to a speedy agreement on the charter of the new league of nations to enforce peace. Conference leaders think that it will be possible to conclude the conference in about two weeks.

The Russian delegation had contended for three weeks that any one of the Big Five—the United States, Great Britain, Russia, France, and China—could prevent discussion of a dispute by the security council so long as the power was not a party to the dispute. The other four powers held out for the right of free discussion and a hearing of parties to the dispute with the veto applying only when the question should occur on invoking a formal investigation, conciliation, arbitration, or other pacific means of settlement.

Support United States

The smaller nations overwhelmingly supported the United States, Great Britain, France, and China against the soviets on what became known as the proposed "Russian gag" of freedom of speech in the security council. It became evident several days ago that if the issue were to be pressed to a showdown in the conference Russia would be defeated by a vote of 45 to 5, as French Chief Delegate Paul-Boncour predicted.

The announcement that Stalin had yielded to the Big Four in his dispute was made by State Secretary Stettinius at a meeting of the Steering committee consisting of the chief delegates of the 50 nations represented in the conference. After the steering committee adjourned Stettinius made the following statement to the press:

"Consultations among the four sponsoring powers and France have resulted in agreement on the provisions for voting in the security council.

Freedom of Hearing

"The agreement reached preserves the principle of the unanimity of the permanent members of the council in all actions taken by the council, while at the same time assuring freedom of hearing and discussion in the council before action is taken. We believe both are essential to the success of the world organization.

"Under the terms of the agreement, unanimity of the permanent members of the council is required as provided by the Crimea agreement in all decisions relating to enforcement action and—except as to parties to disputes—in all decisions for peaceful settlement. But this requirement of unanimity does not apply to the right of any nation to bring a dispute before the council as provided by paragraph 2, section A, chapter VIII., and no individual member of the council can alone prevent a consideration and discussion by the council of a dispute or situation thus brought to its attention.

Heartening Proof

"The successful conclusion of discussions on this matter among the

Parents' Shoe Pleas Swamp OPA

BY ORVILLE DWYER

Applications for extra shoes for children are swamping ration boards in the Chicago metropolitan area, it was disclosed yesterday by local office of price administration officials. It was said that stamps for probably 100,000 or more additional pairs of shoes have been requested since May 1. New applications still are being received by the hundred. The last shoe stamps were issued Nov. 1, 1944, and the next ones are not due until Aug. 1.

Many OPA rationing board chairmen and members, all of them volunteers, declared the situation is due to mishandling of the problem by OPA headquarters in Washington, D. C. The local board members said the Washington officials gave no thought to the need for children's footwear arising from graduations, first communions, confirmations, and other events, and failed to consider the inferior quality of war time footwear.

The situation led to a controversy in ration board 34, 3409 Armitage av., between Mrs. Harry Wykowski, 3509 Palmer st., and a group of OPA clerks, headed by Miss Florence Travin, assistant chief clerk. Mrs. Wykowski brought her son, Harry Jr., 9, a pupil of Our Lady of Grace parochial school. He was seated in a chair, his stockinged foot sticking out of a big burst in the side of his shoe. The mother said she applied May 29 for a special stamp for new shoes and failed to get action.

Miss Travin ended the controversy by issuing a stamp to Mrs. Wykowski. This happened, however, only after the dispute came to the attention of James F. Riley, acting metropolitan OPA director, and James Degnan, district board executive.

KING AND QUEEN OF YUGOSLAVIA PARENTS OF AN 8½ POUND SON

LONDON, June 7 (AP)—Queen Alexandra, wife of King Peter of Yugoslavia, gave birth tonight to an 8½ pound boy at the royal couple's country home in Sunningdale. Alexandra, 24, a princess of Greece, was married to King Peter, then 20 years old, in the Yugoslav legation in London on March 20, 1944.

EXPECTS 15 PCT. MORE CIGARETS WITHIN 2 WEEKS

New York, June 7 (AP)—The supply of cigarettes for civilian smokers will be increased at least 15 per cent within two weeks, Joseph Calamia, president of the Retail Tobacco Dealers of America, Inc., said today.

He based his estimate on surveys among manufacturers and wholesale distributors. Reduction in army orders and slightly improved manufacturing conditions, he added, will make the cigarets available.

four sponsoring powers and France offers a new and heartening proof of the will and ability of the allied nations which have fought side by side in the war to construct, upon the strong foundation of their war time collaboration, a workable and effective and lasting peace in which they will labor together with mutual understanding and a common purpose.

"The same spirit which has now been so effectively demonstrated by the powers which have taken part in those conversations will, I feel certain, motivate the entire conference and make possible the speedy and successful conclusion of its task in which I have always had an unswerving faith and confidence."

Stettinius was asked if Russia's withdrawal of the right to veto discussion meant that a member of the Big Five would not have the power to veto amendments to the peace league charter in future years. The secretary said that was a point still undecided.

Asked when he thought the conference now would wind up, Stettinius said no one could say whether it would be eight of 10 days or two weeks.

Full Steam Ahead

Indicating that the conference now will proceed full steam ahead, Stettinius said a complete "working paper" containing all details of the voting procedure agreement will be issued tomorrow morning as committee consideration of this and other matters pending final formulation goes forward.

When he was asked if there had been a note from Moscow conveying Stalin's decision to recede, Stettinius lost his composure and then after a moment of hesitation said that "obviously in a matter of this importance to all governments concerned there is diplomatic consultation of all governments concerned. I don't feel at liberty to discuss the activities of other governments."

Later the inside story of the episode came out. Stettinius, it transpires, after a conference with other members of the American delegation and with President Truman's permission, last Sunday sent a message to Hopkins and Averell Harriman, American ambassador to Russia, setting forth the serious crisis that had arisen in the conference.

Tell of Support

The secretary informed the American envoys that the stand taken by the United States delegation for freedom of consideration of disputes by the security council was supported by the British, French and Chinese and by two score smaller countries. He stated that there would be no retreat from this stand by the United States or the three other great powers and that if Russia should continue to insist on the power to veto even discussion of a dispute, the issue would go to a showdown in the conference in which event the Soviets would be defeated overwhelmingly.

Stettinius suggested that the situation and its implications be laid before Stalin at once with a request for immediate consideration. Hopkins had a talk with Stalin on Monday. Nothing was heard from Moscow on Tuesday but yesterday afternoon Stettinius received a message from Hopkins stating that Stalin had yielded to the other four powers on the question and that Russian Foreign Commissar Molotov was informing Russian Ambassador Gromyko, chief of the Russian delegation in San Francisco, to that effect.

Receives Delegates

Stettinius then settled down to wait to hear from Gromyko that his instructions to recede had been received.

Along about noon today Stettinius received the expected call from Gromyko, who requested a meeting of the Big Five.

The Big Five met at 3:30 p. m. In addition to Stettinius and Gromyko, those present included British Ambassador Halifax, French Chief Delegate Paul-Boncour, Chinese Premier Soong, and Sen. Vandenberg and Sen. Connally of the American delegation.

Gromyko, maintaining an air of mystery and importance, addressed the meeting as soon as it was called to order. He said that "in a spirit of conciliation and a desire to expedite the work of the conference" Russia would concede the points made by the other four powers against the veto of discussion of disputes by the security council.

After a session lasting 45 minutes, the Big Five adjourned to the meeting of the steering committee, where the announcement of the settlement was made. Cheers and applause greeted the announcement.

A conference committee decided that the name of the league shall be "The United Nations." Ratifications of the charter are to be deposited in the United States. The charter is to go into effect as soon as ratified by all the Big Five and a majority of the other nations.

ARABS DEMAND FRENCH GET OUT OF LEVANT AREA

Threaten 'Measures to Resist Aggression'

CAIRO, Egypt, June 7 (AP)—The Arab league announced tonight that it was supporting the demand of Syria and Lebanon for immediate evacuation of French troops from the Levantine states and had decided to take "necessary measures in order to resist French aggression."

The council of the league said it had decided "France attacked Syria and Lebanon and must take responsibility for assassination, destruction, and other losses which occurred in both countries."

In a bulletin the council declared "retention of French troops in Syria and Lebanon is contradictory to the rights, sovereignty, and independence which have been acknowledged in both countries. Presence of French troops in Syria and Lebanon is a continual threat to the people of such fatal events as took place in recent days and the further presence of these French forces causes permanent tension in the relations between France and the two Arab republics and this tension extends to the rest of the Arab countries, thus embarrassing the war effort against Japan."

Measures Threatened

The council said, "in accordance with clause six of its constitution [providing mutual aid for a member attacked] the Arab league has decided to take necessary measures in order to resist French aggression. These measures are being put into effect."

The bulletin did not say what the measures were.

The council said that in demanding the withdrawal of French troops it "does not think it probable that other foreign troops will remain in these countries. The British have announced without hesitation their intention to withdraw their troops."

The Syrian government was moving rapidly to liquidate all of its relations with France. It discharged all French officials, experts, and technicians in the customs and wheat commission. French magazines and newspapers were prohibited from entering Syria. French courts were on the way to dissolution.

Invite 5 Power Parley

PARIS, June 7 (AP)—The French government today formally invited the governments of the United States, Britain, Russia, and China to participate with France in a five power conference on the explosive middle eastern question.

An authoritative informant said that instructions were sent to French embassies in the four capitals concerned to present the five power invitations along with a short statement on France's reasons.

French hopes of British acceptance were slim in the light of Prime Minister Churchill's statement two days ago that such a conference would "certainly cause a great deal of delay and require very careful consideration on many grounds."

Asks All-Out Parleys

Churchill originally had suggested a tripartite meeting in London of French, British, and American representatives to settle the Syrian-Lebanese dispute with France. But De Gaulle shunted this aside, asking that Russia and China participate in a meeting that would include discussions on Egypt, Iraq, Saudi-Arabia, and the whole Arab world—an oil-rich area where

The Syrians and Lebanese demand complete independence from the French, who have held league of nations mandates since the first World war. Altho this has been promised by France the De Gaulle government at the same time wants military bases.

Almost simultaneous with France's diplomatic counter-move embarrassing to Britain, Gen. Fernand Oliva-Roget, French commander in the Damascus area, said that a mysterious "man with a black dog" was one of the British officers whom he accused of fomenting the recent Syrian clashes with the French.

Oliva-Roget said the "man with a black dog" is an Arabic speaking British colonel named Sterling, but not Col. David Sterling, R. A. F. officer in the middle east. The other so-called British agent was identified as a Col. Marsack.

PLEAS FOR AIRING OF YALTA DENIED BY CHURCHILL

No Secrets Not Made Public, He Says

LONDON, June 7 (AP)—Laborite demands for a full airing of the Yalta Big Three conference last February were turned down by Prime Minister Churchill today, but he declared that there were no secret agreements not since made public.

Churchill indicated, however, that the discussion covered a wider field than had been announced. The conversations, of course, proceeded in "a very intimate manner," he explained, "and I am not going to say that everything discussed at Yalta could be made the subject of verbatim report."

Evasion Charged

Opposition members persisted that Churchill was evading the issue, particularly as to Poland. If there were no secret agreements, he was asked, "Why is it that the Russian government has acted in the matter of broadening the Polish government in a way totally at variance with the declared decisions of the conference?"

[No. 4 of the nine point program adopted at Yalta provided for merging the provisional (Polish) government now recognized by Russia with certain unnamed "democratic leaders from within Poland and from exiled Poles abroad."]

Sections of the British press and critics of the government's foreign policy have asserted repeatedly that the Big Three—Churchill, Premier Stalin and the late President Roosevelt—apparently left Yalta with varying interpretations of the Polish agreement.

The Russians, in backing the Warsaw Polish regime as a nucleus for any expanded government, have insisted they were abiding by the Yalta decisions.

Matter of Interpretation

"There were no secret agreements entered into at all," Churchill reiterated, "except that we kept secret the addition of two members to Russia [Ukrainian and White Russian votes in the security conference] at the desire of the United States until the President could get home and make the necessary arrangements on the spot."

It thus appeared that the Big Three dispute over the formation of a Polish government rested with the interpretation of decisions reached at Yalta.

DEWEY CALLS ON U. S. TO CANCEL FOREIGN DEBTS FOR 2 WARS

New York, June 7 [Special]—Gov. Dewey of New York, who supported New Deal policies during his unsuccessful Presidential campaign, in a speech tonight recommended, in effect, that the United States forget the financial debts owed it by foreign nations for two wars.

He called for cancellation of World War I. debts and an early settlement of lend-lease obligations tho it might mean the cancellation of most of those debts, too.

He also urged that this country accept the Bretton Woods financial proposals, despite "imperfections," as a step toward solving post-war economic problems. The United States also should take the lead in reducing tariffs, he said.

In an address before a war finance committee dinner here, the 1944 Republican Presidential nominee contended that the 27 year old World War I. debts cannot be paid and that "we should be honest and intelligent enough to say so officially and cancel them."

ARGENTINA BANS PAPER BUT LIFTS BARS ON OTHERS

Journalists Protest

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, June 7 (AP)—The government of Gen. Edelmiro Farrell today lifted suspensions ordered against newspapers and other publications in recent months for "promoting intranquility among the people," and voided limitations imposed on journalists for similar cause.

The measure, however, did not apply to publications which had been suspended for what the government called dissemination of social theories adverse to the Argentine constitution. The announcement came shortly after the Argentine federation of journalists disclosed abandonment of plans to celebrate annual "journalists' day" tomorrow. The journalists said government restrictions on the press made such a celebration inappropriate.

UNRRA BRANDED RALLYING POINT FOR REDS IN U. S.

Washington, D. C., June 7 (AP)—Rep. Thomas [R., N. J.] today called for a congressional investigation of the united nations relief and rehabilitation administration, which he termed "the focal point for the Communist party in the United States."

Rep. Thomas

Thomas said in an interview he would ask the house committee on un-American activities, of which he is ranking minority member, to make the investigation.

The lawmaker disclosed at the same time that the committee, set up as the permanent successor to the old Dies committee, will begin hearings June 20 to investigate what he termed "the dissemination of communistic propaganda" by a employe of the New York OPA office.

Plan to Call Bowles

Other committee members said that investigators have been checking on the price administration's New York office since last month and that Chester Bowles, OPA head, would be the first witness when the hearings start.

Thomas said a transcript of radio broadcasts made by one New York OPA employe indicated that he "has been smearing business, trying to bring about racial and class hatred, and following the communist line."

Thomas said he would ask the committee to make a full scale investigation of the UNRRA as soon as it finishes the OPA inquiry.

Demands UNRRA Accounting

"I think the government should insist on an accounting of the UNRRA by the general accounting office," he asserted, "because there is a strong possibility, based on what I have already found out, that the UNRRA is financing the Communist party in many parts of the world."

Thomas said he had been "informed by a reliable source" that one UNRRA subexecutive "now gives the orders to the Communist party in the United States."

"I want to find out if this is true," he added.

In New York City Daniel P. Woolley, regional OPA administrator, said texts of all OPA radio broadcasts over station WOR are open for inspection to any one.

"We also have phonographic recordings of all these broadcasts," Woolley said. "Any one examining these broadcasts will find that they attack only the black market."

CHICAGO IS HUB IN AIR SERVICE 8 STATE MERGER

Chicago and Detroit district offices of the air technical service command have been ordered consolidated by July 1 with headquarters in Chicago, it was announced yesterday by Col. R. L. Finkenstaedt, commanding officer here.

Col. Finkenstaedt explained that the merger results from a reduced work load due to aircraft production retrenchment.

Known as the central district, the new organization will include Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Missouri.

LANDON SAYS REDS MAKE ACHIEVEMENT OF PEACE DIFFICULT

Manhattan, Kas., June 7 (AP)—Alf M. Landon, Republican Presidential nominee in 1936, called on Americans today to give their united support to President Truman "as he faces his crucial negotiations with Stalin and Churchill."

"We cannot merely attempt with fine words to sit on the lid of explosive forces now working in the world," the former Kansas governor told the Manhattan Rotary club.

"Basically," he said "we have been trying to work with Russia, not only in war, but for a lasting peace. But Russia is making it exceedingly difficult, and there are those in the United States who are not making it easier by their loose talk that eventually we must fight Russia.

Landon asserted America is failing to build a bridge of coöperation for peace in "our emotional approach to the problem of world peace and of Russia." He said our first problem is to "establish the right kind of relations with Russia."

BRITAIN'S TIES WITH REDS ARE ELECTION ISSUE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, June 7—While Prime Minister Churchill was preparing a 5,000 word election policy declaration, Britain's future relations with Russia today emerged as the election issue in the battle of words now going on over the country.

Laborite Stafford Cripps, speaking in Birmingham, warned that the entire continent of Europe was swinging to the left and that Britain must do likewise to maintain the sympathy and understanding of the new European governments. Election of a Conservative government in Britain, he declared, would lay the foundation for all kinds of friction and difficulty in relations with Russia.

Conservative Maj. Randolph Churchill, son of the prime minister, at the same time told his constituents at Preston that "vital as are our relations with Russia, it is also of paramount importance to the British to maintain close relations with many other countries, notably the United States, France, and China."

Yanks Return the Drum Scots Lost at Dunkerque

LONDON, June 7 [Reuters]—The drum that the Highlanders lost at Dunkerque was handed back to the commander of the 5th Highland battalion in Munich today, the allied news service in Germany said. The presentation was made by the commander of the American 10th tank division, which recovered the drum last March 23, at a ceremony.

EX-NAZI CHIEF AND WIFE SLAIN; MUNICH PUZZLED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

MUNICH, Germany, June 7—One of the most hated men in Bavaria is dead. He was the former gauleiter of Bavaria, Paul Giesler. Buried near-by him is his wife.

American investigators learned that Giesler and his wife attended a party May 3 and swallowed poison. Later a relative called a doctor to a wood near Berchtesgaden where Giesler and his wife lay ill. He had them removed to a hospital from which they disappeared the next day.

On May 5 Mrs. Giesler was found shot dead on a road near Berchtesgaden. Giesler, who had also been shot, was found a short distance away and died in a hospital. Munich is wondering whether Giesler tried to commit suicide and lacked the courage to take a fatal dose and then attempted to kill himself after killing his wife, or whether he was murdered.

ALLEYS TEEMING WITH GARBAGE, SURVEY SHOWS

Only Bowler Ward Found Clear of Refuse

Garbage is scattered in profusion thru most of Chicago's alleys.

A survey by THE TRIBUNE has shown that this is true of all except one of the city's wards—Ald. Bowler's 25th. Bowler has been in the council for 36 years and for the last decade has been chairman of its finance committee, to which the mayor and all others must go for their appropriations.

Alleys in the 25th ward were found almost universally clean, while in all other wards it appeared that only chosen alleys were free from table refuse and ashes. This was found to be true even of the 24th ward, of which Lt. Col. Jacob Arvey formerly was alderman and which voted more than 24 to 1 for the Kelly Democratic machine.

Mayor Seeking Relief

Mayor Kelly left for Washington, D. C., late Tuesday vowing to do something about the situation. The mayor said he will try to get the war production board to release enough steel for the manufacture of 20,000 garbage cans. He said the city will then purchase these and give them, if necessary, to the 20,000 persons who need them most to help clean up the garbage.

While the mayor was en route to the capital, Tribune reporters and photographers were traveling the alleys on the north, south, and west sides of the city. Alleys were found just off Lake Shore dr., on the near north side, in which rotting fruit and vegetables mingled with damp coffee grounds, ashes, paper, and other refuse.

Situation Bad on All Sides

On the south side, thruout the Negro district and in other sections, similar conditions were found; and in ward after ward on the west, northwest, and southwest sides, it was almost the same.

Yet in every section alleys so clean, as one citizen expressed it, that "you wouldn't mind lying down in them," also were found. No one could be found who could explain this mystery. Many expressed the suspicion that an influential politician, perhaps the ward superintendent, ward committeeman, or even some unusually energetic and peculiarly "in good" precinct captain might live near-by.

Lloyd M. Johnson, commissioner of streets and electricity, who has charge of the city's forces for keeping the alleys clean, said he was "only too conscious of the fact that something must be done about the garbage and rat situation."

Johnson Tells His Problem

"The crux of it all is garbage cans," Johnson said. "The trouble is the lack of containers, plus absence of public realization that containers must be used. We have for garbage removal 200 trucks with 6 to 18 cubic yards capacity. We have 40 outmoded trailers. And we have 1,200 men.

"We now work the men in two shifts, night and day. But garbage removal is a daylight job. Our force of men is big enough, if we can ever get general use of cans. It takes only half the time to dump a can into a truck that it does to shovel up the refuse. We need an ordinance with penalties for those who will not use cans."

Ald. Sheridan [16th] has come out definitely for an ordinance providing penalties for nonuse of garbage cans. He said other aldermen are beginning to join him and that such an ordinance will be prepared. There now is no ordinance covering obligations of private citizens in connection with garbage care or removal.

H. W. WEHR, STEEL OFFICIAL, NAMES FIANCEE AS HEIR

Shop Manager Called 'Wife' in Will

Mrs. Georgette Moran, 14 W. Elm st., a widow of World War I., was named as sole heir of the estate of the late Henry W. Wehr, former chairman of the board of the Wehr Steel company, in his will, which was admitted to probate in Milwaukee, Wis., yesterday. Under the name of Lola Sal, Mrs. Moran is manager of the Madame Huntingford Cosmetic shop, in the Stevens building.

The will gave the value of the estate as "in excess of $100,000," and Louis Quarles of Milwaukee, attorney for the estate, said that its value was "considerably more" than that sum.

Forbids Contesting Will

"I herewith proclaim Georgette Moran [presently living at 14 W. Elm st., Chicago] as my lawful wife, and it is my wish that she inherit my estate as such," the will said. "Any one contesting this will shall receive $1 only."

Wehr, who was 72, died May 17 in the clubhouse of the Chicago Athletic association. Quarles said that Wehr and Mrs. Moran had been engaged for "several years" and had planned to be married some time this year. Differences in Wehr's and Mrs. Moran's religious faiths were said to have delayed the marriage.

News of her inheritance brought no flicker of elation to the eyes of Mrs. Moran, who was wearing a mourning costume.

"I feel too badly about Mr. Wehr's death," she said. She added that she had known the steel manufacturer for 20 years. He was her "best friend," she said.

May Visit Relatives in England

Asked about her plans, she replied:

"Right now I will rest awhile. I am not in good health. Later I may go to England, where my family lives."

Mrs. Moran was born in Cairo, Egypt, Quarles said, and was a British subject until she became a naturalized American citizen several years ago. She was educated in Europe.

Mrs. Moran confirmed Quarles' statement that she and Wehr had planned to be married this year. He was a bachelor and lived at 3022 W. Wisconsin av., Milwaukee, with a brother, C. Frederick. Other survivors, both of Milwaukee, are a sister, Mrs. Louis W. Falk, 3022 W. Wisconsin av., and a brother, Edward R., 3035 W. Wisconsin av.

Mrs. Falk said that the family knew Wehr planned to marry Mrs. Moran.

PAN-AMERICAN LINK OPPOSED IN SALVADOR

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, June 7 (AP)—Efforts of the presidents of Guatemala and El Salvador to establish a joint federation of the two countries are being opposed in the El Salvador congress, it was reported here tonight.

An editorial from the El Salvador newspaper Diario Latino reprinted in La Prensa Libre here indicated that 28 deputies apparently were against and 22 deputies were in favor of the federation, which would be a cornerstone for a federation of all Central America republics.

Diplomatic quarters here said the split may frustrate the plans for unity.

Group to Aid Traitors Uncovered in Belgium

BRUSSELS, Belgium, June 7 [Reuters]—A vast underground traitor organization has been discovered by Brussels authorities, the newspaper Le Peuple reported tonight. The organization's purpose was to meet at the frontier Belgian traitors coming from Germany, facilitate their movements and provide them with hiding places, the paper said.

PREMIER EXPECTED TO WIN 68 OF 90 SEATS IN ONTARIO'S HOUSE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

TORONTO, Ont., June 7—Premier George A. Drew's Progressive Conservative strength in the 90 seat Ontario legislature apparently increased to 68 members today when it was reported that the ridings of Saulte Ste. Marie and Wellington North had been won by Drew candidates. The oversea soldier vote later may change the results in one or two constituencies.

The only doubtful seat at present is that at Kenora, where a Progressive Conservative leads in the voting by a narrow margin. Rainy River, on the basis of incomplete returns, has elected a Liberal-Labor candidate.

Candidates elected, in addition to Progressive Conservatives, are: Liberals, 10; Coöperative Commonwealth federation, 6; Liberal-Labor, 3; and Labor-Progresive, 2. Both Labor-Progressives were elected in Toronto ridings.

PREMIER KING SUPPORTS 'SHARE WEALTH' PLAN

OTTAWA, Ont., June 7 [Special]—In his boldest bid of the campaign for left wing support Prime Minister King, head of Canada's war time Liberal government, today presented himself as the advocate of a share the wealth program comparable to the proposals of the Socialist Coöperative Commonwealth federation.

King's additional declaration that the "common people will get their fair share of riches by revolution or some other means" was coupled with a plea for the return of the two party system as the only certain means of preventing a minority Tory victory in Monday's national parliamentary election.

This 11th hour development in the campaign was believed to be a direct result of the recent Ontario provincial election, in which the Progressive-Conservatives, or Tories, scored a sweeping victory over both the Liberals and the CCF. King argued, however, that the Tories in Ontario received only 45 per cent of the popular vote, compared to 49 per cent for the combined Liberals and CCF candidates, and 6 per cent scattered among leftist independents.

SCANDAL JOINS FRISCO PARLEY; LOVE SUIT FILED

BY FRANK HUGHES
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Francisco, Calif., June 7.—A California love-nest expert, William V. [Peek-a-boo] Pennington, today invaded the most sacred precincts of the allied nations security conference—the heavily guarded fourth floor of the Fairmont hotel, where American, Yugoslav, and other delegations are housed—to serve a divorce suit subpena on Dr. Milorad Cerovic, a top adviser to the Yugoslav delegation.

Mrs. Kay Kunich

The suit was filed by Sam T. Kunich, an Oakland railroad accountant in Alameda county Superior court today. It charged that Dr. Cerovic and Kunich's wife, Ksania [Kay], described as pretty, dark, curvesome, and of Yugoslav descent, were found in Cerovec's "darkened" room in the hotel last Tuesday afternoon.

Entrance by Subterfuge.

The suit, prepared by Atty. Granville T. Burke of Oakland, admitted the evidence was discovered "upon procuring entry into said room by subterfuge," but it was left to other witnesses to tell the story of how the diplomat was surprised under the eyes of white-helmeted American military policemen, FBI agents, and army intelligence men whose presence here for the last 48 days have made the Nob hill hotel one of the most secure and inviolable buildings in the world.

Pennington, who is a private detective wtih a local reputation for raiding love nests, said he brought two assistants and Kunich to the lobby of the hotel Tuesday afternoon. They saw Dr. Cerovic meet Mrs. Kunich there, he said.

How Trap Was Laid

Then the detective described how the trap was laid:

"I rode up with my two men in the same elevator with Dr. Cerovic and Mrs. Kunich. I knew where the diplomat's room was, of course, and we stood in front of the elevators long enough to make sure they had gone inside. Then I sent back for the husband.

"Kunich speaks Yugoslav and when the four of us passed an MP in the corridor on the way to the room, we would let Kunich do the talking. I guess the soldiers thought he was another of those Belgrade boys taking some Americans up to his room for a drink."

A "Boy Friend"

While the detective would not admit how entrance to Dr. Cerovic's room was gained, other witnesses indicated that somebody represented himself as part of the hotel management. It is said that Kunich, the husband, spoke first.

"Ho, ho," he is reported to have said to his pretty wife, "you finally got yourself a boy friend."

There were protestations of innocence, it is said, with the diplomat crying the Yugoslav equivalent of "I didn't know she was married."

The suit also charges that Mrs. Kunich and Dr. Cerovic were alone on another occasion, when she retired to the Yugoslav's room on May 31, "and remained . . . in said room unchaperoned for a period of one half hour."

Listed as Adviser

Dr. Cerovic is listed in the conference directory as the second of three advisers to the Yugoslav delegation.

Kunich asks the court for all communal property and for custody of the couple's two children, a boy, 4, and a girl, 5. They had been married about nine years, the complaint said.

The first that staid diplomats at the security conference learned about the scandal within their very cloisters was when Pennington knocked on Dr. Cerovic's door again today and allowed a newspaper photographer to "surprise" him handing the subpena to the Yugoslav.

ROBBED OF WATCH AND $40

Earl Simpson of the Continental hotel reported to police that two men held him up near the hotel and robbed him of $40 and his watch.

CHARGES VETS HOSPITAL USED AS BAIT AT POLLS

White House Promise to Montana Told

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., June 7—A charge that the Democratic administration tried to "buy votes" in the recent Montana special congressional election thru a White House promise of a veterans' hospital for the area was made today by Rep. Halleck [R., Ind.].

Rep. Halleck [top] and Edwin McKim

Halleck, who is chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee, in a house speech implicated Edwin D. McKim, chief administrative assistant to President Truman, in the alleged effort to influence votes.

The election, held Tuesday to fill a house vacancy in the 2d [eastern] Montana district, was won by the Republican candidate, Wesley D'Ewart.

Halleck told the house that a week before the election McKim sent a telegram from the White House to Rep. Mansfield [D., Mont.] at Miles City, Mont., reading: "The veterans administration has advised me that the hospital will go to eastern Montana."

"No Decision Reached"

The congressman said that, altho the McKim wire was widely used in the campaign, "Gen. Hines [chief of the veterans administration] "tells me that no decision has been reached as to where the hospital shall be located."

"I have called Mr. McKim," Halleck said, "and he tells me he sent the telegram. A child would understand the reason why the telegram was sent."

Halleck said that, when he told McKim of Hines' statement, the White House aid said he "had reason to believe" the hospital location had been decided.

"All of which," the congressman continued, "adds up to clear proof of the cynicism of the political operations of the present administration which seems determined to continue the policy of buying elections with the taxpayers' money.

Hints Superauthority

"This action was even worse because the telegram designed to influence votes did not speak the truth unless there is a super-authority over the veterans administration and its boards, which determines the location of hospitals.

"The Truman administration seems to be adhering closely to the standard New Deal policy of trying to influence elections with the expenditure of public money, or promising to spend public money."

TRUMAN NAMES GEN. BRADLEY AS VETERANS' CHIEF

Orders Modernizing of U. S. System

Mr. President," in order to cut the flow of items.

Shortly after Mr. Truman announced his intention of modernizing the veterans' bureau, Gen. Bradley, commander of the American 12th army group, called at the White House to thank the President for the appointment, which he is to take over in 30 to 60 days. Bradley said he will return to Europe and his troops before taking over the post.

Set Up for Last War

In making the announcement of the shift Mr. Truman reminded his press conference that on May 15 he had announced his intention to modernize the veterans' organization as soon as possible. At that time he said he was not ready to make the announcement.

He explained he wanted the organization modernized to conform with the problems growing out of this war. As it now stands, he said, the administration was set up for the last war and needs reorganization.

Continues in the Army.

The President said Gen. Bradley will continue in the army in four star rank when he takes over his new duties. The general will not take over Hines' post as administrator of retraining and reëmployment under the office of war mobilization and reconversion. This post, from which Hines also resigned, will be given to some one shortly, the President said.

In asserting that he will employ federal controls to limit travel if necessary, Mr. Truman said he hoped he will not be called upon to take such drastic action. He released a statement appealing to the public to refrain from travel in order that facilities might not be strained as troops shuttle to the Pacific and shipment of war materials to that theater is stepped up.

Ten Month Task

He said plans call for the shipment of armies to the Pacific in 10 months, a task only one-third less than the previous job, which required nearly 48 months. The transportation job in the first phase of the war has been called a miracle, he said, but an even bigger job lies ahead.

The President's observations on the pay of members of congress was prompted by questions on the $2,500 expense account which members of the house have voted for themselves, completing the process today by a vote of 206 to 152. The senate had approved the house request, but turned down the allowance for its members.

Mr. Truman said he would sign a bill calling for an increase in salary if one is sent to him, saying he favored an outright increase rather than the expense account allowance. Asked if this meant that he will veto the allowance, he said it would not because it is a legislative matter and if congressmen wanted it that way, he felt they should have it.

In reporting that the Big Three meeting is to be held within 40 days, Mr. Truman gave no hint as to the place of meeting. Last week he said he did not expect the conference would be held in the United States, which was regarded as an indication that Stalin will name the site.

He brushed off soviet and French suggestions that a Big Five conference be held to settle the French-Syrian dispute. He said that the only meeting he is planning to attend is the Big Three conference on world affairs.

PRIVATE FLYING CONTROLS CUT TO A MINIMUM

New Rules to Become Effective July 1

Washington, D. C., June 7 (AP)—Private flying goes largely on its own July 1, with a minimum of red tape around the controls.

Newly revised civil air regulations come as close as government officials believe possible to matching the simplicity of an automobile driver's license. The changes were developed during a year of study and research by the civil aeronautics board and the civil areonautics administration, working with the aircraft industry and an air minded public.

Here briefly is the changed picture:

Eliminate Exams

Examinations in meteorology, navigation, and general servicing of aircraft eliminated. The only written examinations will be in air traffic rules and general operation rules, this latter a new part of the regulations.

Physical examinations have been simplified and may be given by any registered physician. Previously only designated medical examiners could make the examination. This change already is effective.

Dual time [time flown with an instructor] is increased to 10 hours from 8, but solo hours necessary for a license have been reduced from 35 to 30 for conventional aircraft.

For the two control, nonspinning "safety" planes, dual time has been raised from 5 to 7 hours and solo time lowered from 25 to 20 hours. Cross-country time in both cases has been cut from 5 to 3 hours.

Drop Power Ratings

Requirements for demonstration of flying skill have been changed to eliminate spirals, simulated forced landings and some of the coordination exercises, while climbing and gliding turns at minimum controlable speeds have been added.

Any certificated pilot may now give instructions, but only a commercial pilot may charge for such instructions. The practical effect is that a pilot may let relatives and friends handle the controls while they are flying with him.

Log books, which previously listed every flight made by a pilot, now need show only enough entries to substantiate recent experience in planes of the type the pilot is flying.

Power ratings, whereby a pilot was licensed for a particular class of plane, such as 0 to 80 horsepower, are being eliminated. A pilot may solo a plane of any horsepower after June 30, but he may not carry a passenger unless within the preceeding 90 days he has made at least five take-offs and landings in an aircraft of rated horsepower within 50 per cent of that in which he proposes to fly.

Change Traffic Rules

An important change was made in the traffic rules. Formerly a pilot was required to remain 500 feet below the overcast while at the same time the minimum altitude at which he could fly was 500 feet. This lessened the number of days for private flying. Minimum altitude remains at 500 feet, but the pilot may fly up to the overcast if its ceiling is 1,000 feet or less.

He must not exceed a 1,000 foot altitude until the bottom of the overcast is 1,500 feet or more above the surface and thereafter must stay 500 feet below the overcast. The objective is to assure 500 feet clearance for aircraft flying on instruments thru the clouds.

M. P. ASSAILS MRS. ASTOR AS 'OLD GAS BAG'

LONDON, June 7 (AP)—Aneurin Bevan, the former butcher boy and Welsh coal miner who became a Laborite member of parliament, called Mrs. Nancy Astor "an old gas bag" in commons today. "O, dear," the noble lady from Virginia and Plymouth replied.

Bevan was protesting that parliament had not sanctioned subsidies to encourage house building when Mrs. Astor made an audible comment. "Shut up," went up the cry from the Labor benches.

Mrs. Astor, 65, and a stanch Conservative, jumped to her feet and appealed to the presiding officer: "Why does Mr. Bevan expect complete silence when he repeats himself a hundred times?" Bevan retorted, "It really is intolerable when this old gas bag gets up and gabbles away."

HIDDEN VALLEY SHUT OFF FROM OUTSIDE WORLD

Tribune Man Flies Over Walled Villages

BY FRANK STURDY

[Tribune aviation editor who recently flew over the Hidden Valley while on a 30,000 mile tour of the Pacific.]

The black tribes inhabiting the rugged New Guinea valley where two soldiers and a WAC, survivors of an airplane crash, have awaited rescue for three weeks, are believed never to have had any contact with the world outside their mountain-locked villages.

Tho no means have been found to land an airplane in the cultivated tribal fields, many flights have been made thruout the area by Col. Ray T. Elsmore of the far east air force troop carrier command. This writer rode on such a flight with Elsmore last April 28.

20 Miles Long

The valley is 20 miles long, surrounded by mountains 11,000 to 12,000 feet high. Its floor is at an elevation of about 5,500 feet, and airplanes going in must top a pass in the Oranje mountains at a height of about 16,000 feet.

Walled villages of round, dome topped huts dot the valley from end to end. Every village is surrounded by large acreages of carefully cultivated fields and gardens, totally different from anything else known to New Guinea explorers.

Some Bridges Movable

The people of the valley appear to be more skilfull and industrious than the tribes known to white men. Their fields are elaborately drained and cultivated, some of them terraced against steep mountain slopes. An enormous amount of labor must have gone into these field works and into the bridges, some of them apparently movable, crossing a river coursing thru the valley's center.

The smaller villages have only a few huts, the larger ones as many as 20, guarded by watch towers. Most of the bigger ones have a long, central community or ceremonial house. We observed several natives who apparently wore not even so much as a breech cloth.

ITALIAN ON TRIAL ACCUSES JUDGE OF BEING FACIST

ROME, June 7 (AP)—Cesare Rossi went on trial today in a fascist crime case and nearly broke up the session by accusing the president of the high court of justice of having himself been a Fascist.

Angered by questioning of Court President Lorenzo Maroni, Rossi shouted: "You had better remember that up to 1943 you wore a blackshirt under your robe and that you belonged to the Fascist sectional group Scambelluri." Maroni retorted sharply that if this were true, it was "your fascist methods."

Rossi is accused on various charges of supporting Mussolini. He also is implicated in the notorious Mateotti assassination plot of 20 years ago, which will be the subject of a separate proceeding.

and Lt. Col. Carl Mellberg of Dayton, O., a Protestant chaplain.

Read Rites for Dead

While the plane circled slowly they read the committal rites for the 21 dead. At the end of the service, standard white army crosses and one star were dropped for the victims of whom 16 were Protestants, four Catholics, and one—a WAC—Jewish.

Meanwhile fragmentary reports were received regarding the inhabitants of the valley. The natives had been reported as large and irascible but one Filipino said: "How? They're no bigger than we are." The valley dwellers were reported peaceful and industrious. Apparently they had considered the planes at which they had vainly tossed spears to be huge flying monsters.

The natives were found to have neat homes, fenced fields, irrigation ditches, and bridges. Vegetation and animal life in the valley were found to be similar to the rest of New Guinea, but the nights were exceptionally cold because of the 5,500 foot altitude.

Salt from Leaves

The natives did not need food, but pounced on salt tablets like candy. Their only salt comes from burned plant leaves.

Cross locates valley into which white men had never penetrated before.

For three weeks the tiny WAC secretary and the two men have been cheerfully awaiting rescue, but no plan has been definitely worked out. Several ideas have been suggested — an autogiro, a seaplane which might land on a lake 30 miles away, a glider snatch, and tiny liaison planes which could bring out one passenger each trip.

To make the last two plans feasible an air strip would have to be built on the valley floor. On it a liaison plane or glider could land and the glider could be picked up by towplane and lifted clear of the peaks.

Lake at 11,000 feet

Air men are reluctant to land on the lake with seaplanes, pointing to its 11,000 foot elevation and the necessity of gaining 1,000 feet of altitude quickly. No suitable autogiro is available. An overland trek is possible but it would require weeks.

Hidden Valley, as it is known to the army for lack of a better name, was discovered by accident two years ago. It is located almost directly south of Wakde. Its discovery led to a flood of scientific speculation about its inhabitants and expeditions to reach it were planned for after the war. It now appears the world will not have to wait that long for news of its people.

20 HEROES WHO WALK ALONE GET FLING AT GAYETY

The swish of Hawaiian dancers and the gurgle of American beer were two of the sounds which filled an upstairs guest room at the Stevens hotel yesterday when 20 American soldiers of Japanese ancestry gathered for a party. There were also laughter, singing, and boisterous conversation as the 20 sought to banish for an afternoon the thought of their past troubles.

These troubles were considerable. All of the men had known the panic and the pain of being smashed down by enemy fire on the battle field. Most of them had shared the horrors of the heartbreakingly slow and arduous Italian campaign. All of them, because of their race, had had to encounter prejudice in some shape.

He Lightens Their Lot

The entertainment, food, and drink were furnished by their host, Earl Finch, a Hattiesburg [Miss.] farmer who has made almost a career out of lightening the lot of Japanese-American service men. This was the third such party he had had for them in Chicago. There were innumerable others in Hattiesburg. Finch used to have the soldiers over by the hundreds on week-ends from near-by Camp Shelby, where thousands of Japanese-Americans were trained.

"They ran into a lot of prejudice," said Finch, a grave, kindly appearing man who looks more than his 29 years. "I developed a keen sympathy for them. They seemed so lonely."

He kept in touch with them when they were sent overseas. Within a few months many of them began coming back—to army general hospitals in the United States.

Many Visit Chicago

Chicago, because of the nearness of Vaughan General hospital and Percy Jones General hospital at Battle Creek, Mich., became a favorite place for many of the men to visit when they were given furloughs or discharged. Finch knew that he could always get a group together here.

Some of the men are being returned to duty after their convalescence, others are being discharged. Finch is trying to enter one of the latter in college here.

Japanese-American units in Italy, Finch said, won more than 3,000 Purple Hearts as well as 218 bronze stars, 183 silver stars, 31 distinguished service crosses, and three legions of merit.

James Roosevelts Expect Birth of Heir in November

Beverly Hills, Cal., June 7 (AP)—Col. and Mrs. James Roosevelt are expecting an heir. A member of the family disclosed that Mrs. Roosevelt expects the arrival some time in November. The couple, married April 14, 1941, have no other children. Mrs. Roosevelt is living here with her mother while her husband, son of the late President Roosevelt, is on duty with the marine corps at an undisclosed station.

1,802 5TH ARMY VETS REACH N. Y.; MANY TO FIGHT AGAINST JAPS

New York, June 7 (AP)—The new navy transport Gen. W. P. Richardson put into port today with 1,802 battle hardened troops of Gen. Clark's 5th army.

The bemedalled veterans, victors over the Nazis and Italians in Africa and Italy, were sent home for reassignment. Many will go to the Pacific after 45 day furloughs.

They represented such famous outfits as the 34th, 36th, 85th, and 88th divisions and the 1st armored division and the 12th and 15th air forces.

Seven of them were Japanese-American troops from the 100th infantry battalion of the 34th division. They were cheered as they stumbled down the gangway.

All but 34 of the men were sent to Camp Shanks, N. Y., for processing. The others were sent to Fort Hamilton, N. Y.

Rep. Lyle Boren [D., Okla.], who said he had been on a one man special mission that took him to Germany, France, England, Italy, and North Africa, returned on the ship. He said he could not comment on his work until he had seen President Truman.

$500,000 BLAZE DESTROYS 23 NEW ICING CARS

A half million dollar fire in Michigan City, Ind., last night destroyed 23 new refrigerator cars that were being painted by the Pulman Standard Car Manufacturing company in its huge paint shed.

Only two of 25 cars ordered by the Santa Fe railroad were saved from the fire and explosion. Thousands of gallons of paint, turpentine, and chemicals were destroyed despite efforts of the entire Michigan City fire department.

The blaze was visible for 25 miles, and offers of assistance were received from all neighboring cities. A throng was attracted to the blaze, which firemen continued to fight thruout the early hours today.

Fire Chief Alfred Zoch said the fire was discovered by a watchman at 9:30 p. m. Zoch reported the fire under control at midnight.

Pullman Standard officials were rushing work on the refrigerator car order to make room for an 18 million dollar government order for 1,200 troop cars, awarded earlier this week.

LONDON, June 7 (AP)—The third session of the united nations relief and rehabilitation administration in London has been postponed from July 24 to Aug. 7. The postponement was made at the suggestion of the British in order to facilitate arrangements for the meeting, the UNRRA information office said today.

JACKSON TELLS TRUMAN OF WAR TRIAL PROGRAM

Foolhardy to Set Dates, Says Chief Counsel

BY JOSEPH HEARST
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., June 7—Supreme Court Justice Jackson, chief counsel for the United States in the prosecution of axis war criminals, reported today to President Truman on plans for the trials but said he could not state when the trial of the principal criminals will start or how long it will last.

Justice Jackson

He said, it would be foolhardy to name dates which depend upon the action of other governments and many agencies.

Fair and Deliberative

"The trial must not be protracted in duration by anything that is obstructive or dilatory, but we must see that it is fair and deliberative and not discredited in times to come by any mob spirit," he said. "Those who have regard for the good name of the United States as a symbol of justice under law would not have me proceed otherwise."

Justice Jackson said his responsibilities extend only to "the case of major criminals whose offenses have no particular geographical localization and who will be punished by joint decision of the governments of the allies."

"We will accuse a large number of individuals and officials who were in authority in the government, in the military establishment, including the general staff, and in the financial, industrial, and economic life of Germany who by all civilized standards are provable to be common criminals," he said.

Volunteer Organizations

He said it also is proposed to establish the criminal character of several volunteer organizations, such as the Gestapo and the S. S. [elite guard], which he said were direct action units recruited from volunteers "accepted only because of aptitude for, and fanatical devotion to, their violent programs." The legal charges against these criminals will be:

1—Atrocities and offenses against persons or property constituting violations of international law including the laws and rules of warfare.

2—Atrocities and offenses, including persecutions on racial or religious grounds committed since 1933.

3—Invasions of other countries and initiation of wars of aggression in violation of international laws or treaties.

In addition Justice Jackson said he had attempted to establish standards to segregate from the class of principal criminals cases against many other offenders and to expedite their trial. He said these cases fall in these three principal classes:

1—Those who committed offenses against military personnel of the United States, such as killing American flyers who crash landed and others who became prisoners of war. These cases will be tried by courts martial.

2—Those who are to be sent back to the scenes of their crimes for trial by local authorities, as prescribed in the 1943 Moscow declaration.

3—Those nationals such as the "Quislings, Lavals, Lord Haw Haws, and the like" who will be tried on treason charges in the courts of their own countries.

American Proposal

Justice Jackson said that more than a month ago the United States proposed to the United Kingdom, Russia, and France a specific plan, in writing, that these powers join in a protocol establishing an international military tribunal, defining the powers and jurisdiction of the tribunal, naming the categories of acts declared to be crimes, and describing those individuals and organizations to be placed on trial.

Negotiations among the powers on this proposal are not completed, but Justice Jackson said he went ahead with preparations for the American case against the criminals. In this connection he said he wished to take the responsibility for the action of the war department in refusing to allow prominent German leaders to talk to reporters.

REFUSE TO FREE 219 INTERNED IN NORTH IRELAND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, June 7—The Northern Ireland government has refused to release 219 persons interned in prisons there, it was disclosed today. Internees, who reportedly include 14 women, are being held because of their association with the Irish Republican army, Basil Brooke, prime minister of Northern Ireland, told Nationalist M. P.s who pressed for their release.

He said since the Irish Republican army's activities have not ceased and because it aims at the "destruction of our constitution" by force, it would not be possible to free the internees despite the fact Britain has released persons it interned during the war.

FRANCO FREES 2,000 HELD IN POLITICAL JAILS

MADRID, Spain, June 7 (AP)—Two thousand political prisoners who were sentenced to prison terms of 20 to 30 years as a result of the civil war have been released, it was learned today. Generalissimo Franco ordered them freed at a cabinet meeting late in May.

This is the largest number of prisoners to be released by a single order this year, altho thru three previous years the government gave provisional liberty to more than 100,000.

The prison population of Spain now is estimated at between 50,000 and 80,000, of which the majority were jailed as a result of the civil war or politics. The normal criminal population is about 20,000

BELGIUM STOPS GERMAN GIRLS' HUSBAND HUNT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BRUSSELS, Belgium, June 7—Belgian authorities are turning back German girls who have crossed the frontier in repatriation trains looking for Belgian husbands.

Some of the girls are German WACs who were stationed here during the occupation and said they were looking for former sweethearts to marry them so they would not have to go back to Germany.

The frauleins are having no luck for most of their former Belgian friends are in concentration camps now as collaborators and the Belgian government has just passed a law forbidding Belgian nationals to marry German girls.

TORTURER DIES AT SCENE OF HIS OWN BESTIALITY

AT A DEATH CAMP IN THE AUSTRIAN ALPS, June 7 [Reuters]—Swift justice overtook Franz Zerels, commandant of this horror camp, who was responsible for the slow torture and eventual murder of allied parachutists who were handed over to him on the order of the Gestapo Chief Himmler.

He had fled when American troops approached the camp, but flying squads of Polish and Russian political prisoners and American troops scoured the mountains until he was tracked down almost 100 miles away. When he tried to fight off his pursuers, he was shot three times and carried half dead to the camp.

Starving, half crazed inmates had to be restrained from tearing him apart. When he died of his wounds, the inmates of the camp stripped his body, painted a swastika on his back, and hung him on the electrified wire surrounding the camp.

A number of SS men who had wielded lashes had their heads battered in with stakes by inmates. Others were beheaded with their own daggers.

Execute Six Croat Chiefs

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Premier Dr. Nikola Mandic and five other leaders of the former Croatian fascist government have been executed after conviction of high treason and war crimes by a Zagreb court martial, the Yugoslav Telegraph agency said yesterday.

The broadcast dispatch said that the premier, War Minister Niko's Steinfel and Dr. Pavao Canki, state secretary and minister of religion and justice, were shot. Executed by hanging were Dr. Mila Budak, foreign affairs minister, a Col. Juco Rukavina, not otherwise identified, and Ivan Vignjevich, president of a summary court, the agency stated.

Three others were reported given prison sentences. They were identified as Ademaga Mesich, who received life imprisonment; Lt. Gen. Lavovslav Milich of the Ustashi supply service, and Dr. Bruno Nardelli, Croat fascist governor of Dalmatia, each sentenced to 20 years.

Yanks Seize Accused Nazi

PARIS, June 7 [Reuters]—The arrest of Peter Bach, Nazi party rural leader, whom other Germans accused of being the ringleader of a group which murdered an American flyer in the village of Preist last Aug. 15, was announced at 15th army headquarters today.

Bach's name was consistently mentioned in the trial last week of three residents of Preist for their part in the crime. These three have been tried and a sealed verdict was handed for preview to Lt. Gen. Gerow.

"Axis Sally" Arrested

ROME, June 7 [Reuters]—Rita Louisa Zucca, an American girl who broadcast for the Germans and was known to allied soldiers in the Mediterranean theater as "Axis Sally," was arrested in Turin today.

From February, 1943, she broadcast a special program for allied soldiers and, due to the girl's charming voice, there was speculation in the trenches as to whether she was pretty.

In fact she is not good looking and is cross-eyed. Her father owns a restaurant in New York, it is said. She will be tried as a traitor.

French Execute Traitor

LONDON, June 7 [Reuters]—Leon Michel, French Gestapo agent, was executed today on the spot used by the Gestapo for executing victims denounced to the Germans by this traitor, the Paris radio said.

A WAR PRISONER STORY—BUT WITH NEW TWIST TO IT

Framingham, Mass., June 7 (AP)—A Pennsylvania soldier today said that his "30 most harrowing days" were those spent as a captive of his own troops, trying to convince them he was not a German war prisoner.

Corp. Beamesderfer

The story told by Corp. Gilbert J. Beamesderfer, 27, of Ephrata, Pa., was released by a Cushing General hospital public relations officer, but at Washington the war department said its records failed to verify the tale.

Beamesderfer said that his "troubles" began after he had been wounded in the left arm while his squad was taking a German machine gun nest, and war department files showed he was wounded slightly in September, 1944.

The corporal said that he was taken to an evacuation hospital and that he chatted with a German medical corpsman in German while his wound was being treated.

He was placed with the German wounded, he said.

Hours later an American lieutenant passed by, and Beamesderfer asked: "What happened?" Have we been captured?"

"Be quiet," the lieutenant said. "You're all right. You're with your buddies."

"Buddies, hell!" Beamesderfer screamed. "Get me out of here. I'm an American!"

Germans posing as Americans were nothing new, Beamesderfer explained, and he met quiet disbelief when he tried to convince Americans that he was an American.

After landing at a prisoner of war camp in England the corporal pleaded for a chance to talk about Pennsylvania to show knowledge of the state. A Philadelphia nurse finally believed him.

Beamesderfer said a cable check with Washington on his fingerprints clinched it and he was returned to the American army.

But, said the war department at Washington, there's nothing in the records to show that Beamesderfer's fingerprint file was requested or that he ever was a prisoner of war in any fashion.

FRENCH DEMAND DELAYS FIXING OF GERMAN ZONES

Paris Presses Allies for Cologne and Frankfurt

PARIS, June 7 (AP).—It was asserted authoritatively today that the problem of the areas of Germany to be occupied by forces of the Big Four allies is virtually settled except for satisfying French desires.

The United States and Britain were said to be juggling the problem of carving out a French zone at the expense of the areas allotted to them while Russia looked on.

An authoritative source said the French were pressing for the inclusion of two big cities in their zone, Cologne, which is now in the British zone, and Frankfurt, which the Americans hold and which is the site of Gen. Eisenhower's advance headquarters. The French also would like the Saar basin, originally included in the American area.

Expect Agreement Soon.

There have been no serious deadlocks on these points, it was said, and an agreement may be reached within a week or ten days.

Supreme headquarters declined to comment on the boundaries of the various occupation zones, declaring that announcement of the lines, when fixed, will come from Washington, D. C., and London. Elsewhere, however, it was said that they would be essentially the same as those indicated by maps published yesterday in Moscow, which showed the Russian zone including the eastern half of Germany.

The following account of the situation after the brief initial Berlin meeting of the allied control council has been obtained from informed sources:

The western allies now have diminishing hopes that the council will prove the efficient machinery originally expected, due to Russia's apparent disinclination to give her representative on the council, Marshal Zhukov, powers to act on his own.

SHAEF's End Delayed

This takes into consideration Russia's last minute argument over Article X. of the Berlin declaration signed Tuesday but which had been decided on weeks previously and also Russia's slowness in permitting leaders of the western allies to visit Berlin and setting up the council machinery there.

There is no immediate prospect of a new meeting of the allied council in view of the slowness of the negotiations over occupation areas combined with the fact that Gen. Eisenhower, the American member, is scheduled back in the United States within the next 10 days. It is expected that he will take a rest there.

There has been delay in plans to dissolve supreme headquarters of the western allies. It was authoritively asserted, however, that this delay has no relation to negotiations with the Russians or discussions of the occupation zones. The delay in dissolving SHAEF has been at the request of the British, who are represented as wanting to keep it as long as possible because dissolving the western allied command would throw a heavy burden on British supply lines, which at present are unable to accommodate the necessary load.

Army's Europe-to-Japan Point System Completed

PARIS, June 7 (AP).—The point score survey that will enable the United States army to release some 2,000,000 men not needed for the occupation of Germany for the war against Japan, has been completed ahead of schedule and forwarded to the war department, Brig. Gen. Ralph B. Lovett, adjutant general of the European theater of operations, said today.

AMERICANS FIND SWEDEN LAND OF HAPPY LANDINGS

1,450 Flyers Enjoy 'Prisoner' Status

BY HAL FOUST
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, June 6—Sweden's internment camps were Valhalla for American airmen whose planes were damaged in raids over Germany.

Ask any of the 1,450 American flyers who technically have been prisoners of war in that neutral country. The experience of Lt. Charles Christburg, 25 year old bombardier from Milwaukee, Wis., is typical.

"We were too badly crippled Nov. 21 by flak over Hamburg to return to the U. K. [United Kingdom] so we headed north," he related.

"We landed near Malmo. Swedish soldiers with machine guns rushed to the plane and took our pistols. With them were American officers with a carton of cigarets for each of us.

"We were interrogated, fed at the Swedish officers' mess, and then entrained for Stockholm with box lunches, including good beer that was a joy after months of English beer. For breakfast the next morning we stuffed ourselves with smorgasbord, only to learn that this was merely preliminary to bacon and eggs.

"A Great Life"

"We continued by train to sporting lodges that were an internment camp near Falun, about 150 miles northwest of Stockholm.

"It was a great life. The lovely blonde girls of Falun—population 19,000—were sociable. There were good movies and eating and dancing places. We had our own football and basketball teams.

"There was skiing and skating in winter and sail boating and cycling in warmer weather. We could get a bit of schnapps as well as beer. The curfew at midnight could be extended with a pass. I gained five pounds."

Ten Find Brides

Most of the internees have departed for Britain and the United States. We saw some of them just leaving. In sport shirts, colorful jackets, and slacks, the tanned, grinning youths, beaming with health, looked like a victorious college football squad.

Brig. Gen. A. A. Kessler, air and military attache at the American embassy at Stockholm, said every one of the returned flyers will become Swedish good will ambassadors in America. Ten of them married Swedish girls and others have become engaged.

Feted at Dinner

Alfred A. Bailes, 68, an employe of the Grand Trunk Western railroad for 50 years and an engineer for about 35, took No. 20 from Dearborn station to Battle Creek, Mich., yesterday on his last run. In the evening his friends in Battle Creek, where he lives, gave him a banquet.

He is retiring and has no plans except to outlive his younger associates on the railroad. His retirement period is to start with a three months' vacation with his wife in a Michigan lakeside cottage.

Bailes served as call boy and did firing on the railroad before he was made engineer.

700 OF HITLER'S U-BOATS SUNK BY ALLIES IN WAR

Washington, D. C., June 7 (AP)—America and Britain disclosed today that 700 Nazi submarines were destroyed during the battle of the Atlantic.

The United States navy announced, meanwhile, that less than one out of every 1,000 ships convoyed by it was lost to submarines. The actual count of convoy losses to U-boats from Dec. 7, 1941, to May 30, 1945, was 17 merchant ships sunk and 15 damaged out of 17,707 which sailed under protection of the United States Atlantic fleet. This does not take account of hundreds of unescorted vessels that fell victims to submarines.

Seven U. S. Warships Sunk

American naval losses to German submarines in the 1941-'45 period were reported as seven vessels sunk and six damaged, the biggest being the escort carrier Block Island whose loss was announced June 5, 1944.

President Truman and Prime Minister Churchill, in their last monthly statement on the submarine war, gave the total of more than 700 U-boats sunk, in addition to "many others" which they said the Germans themselves destroyed in the final stages of the war.

Battle of Atlantic Ends

The joint Truman-Churchill statement said that "with the surrender of Germany, the battle of the Atlantic has ended."

It added that most of the successes "have been achieved by the combined allied naval and air forces working in closest coöperation; others are due to mines laid from aircraft and ships; others to bombing in harbors; and a few U-boats were lost by marine dangers."

The report said losses were heavy both in lives and materials, and that "at the peak in 1941 and 1942 the issue of the struggle hung in the balance."

Job Is Finished

"Germany's object," the report continued, "was to cut the allied sea communications, upon which the maintenance of the allied war effort depended. This included the movements in supply of armies and air forces during successful campaigns on four continents. . . .

"But success was achieved. Thanks to the sailors and airmen, the scientists and technicians, the ship builders and factory workers, the convoys reached their destination and enabled the soldiers and the airmen to fulfill their tasks.

"We, President and prime minister, in this our last joint statement on the U-boat war, can now report that the allies have finished the job."

BEG YOUR PARDON

In a Tribune story Thursday morning, the name of Gunner Sgt. Robert E. Wagner, whose wife lives at 2612 Hampton ct., and who shot down a Jap plane on his 20th birthday, June 5, was incorrectly given as Sgt. Robert E. Wayne.

PANICKY GERMAN TOWN TOLD REDS MAY NOT COME

SCHWERIN, Germany, June 7 (AP)—British military government officers acted today to prevent a stampede of German civilians westward from Schwerin, the capital of Mecklenburg, after radio reports said that the entire province would be occupied by the Red army.

Loudspeaker trucks advised the population of Schwerin there was no official confirmation of the reports, which were said to have been relayed by the Hamburg radio and attributed to Moscow newspapers.

The entire German police force was instructed to quiet the refugee crowded city. "For a while it looked like a complete panic," said Maj. E. C. Reed of London.

JAPANESE FLEET CLOSES TRAP ON LEYTE CARRIERS

Uses Heavy Guns Against U. S. 5-Inch Weapons

This is the third of four articles on the battle of Leyte gulf which smashed nearly half of Japan's naval power. Previous articles told of a powerful Jap fleet sneaking thru to get at our virtually unprotected escort carriers.

BY CHARLES BALLENGER

The faint rays of the sun just coming up over Samar Island glinted on the wings of navy Hellcat fighters and torpedo-bombers. Off to the west another group of planes barely could be seen circling. Below a strong northwest wind kicked up whitecaps.

In the cockpit of one of the fighter planes Lt. George E. Johnsen, 29, of Arlington Heights, a veteran navy pilot, worked frantically with his radio, trying to bring back the American flyer's voice which had announced: "The whole damn Japanese fleet's down there."

The voice of the air support command on the beach of Leyte, where Gen. MacArthur's land forces were carving a beachhead, broke in:

"All planes proceed immediately to [Rear Adm. Thomas L.] Sprague's carrier group. He is under attack."

Carrier Planes Start Back

"Our planes started back. Adm. Sprague commanded all 16 escort carriers in the area. The carriers were in three groups. Adm. Sprague's flagship was in the group of six carriers off the southern tip o Sanar Island.

"As we flew toward the battle," Lt. Johnsen said, "I tried to recall the tactical setup of the forces protecting MacArthur. We had heard reports of large Jap naval forces moving in three columns toward the Philippines.

"Adm. Halsey's 3d fleet was opposite Luzon, I knew, leaving a force of old battleships outside Leyte harbor. About 60 or 70 miles off Leyte were 16 escort carriers, separated into three groups.

"Halsey had accounted for the enemy in the north. Our 7th fleet met and vanquished the Jap fleet in the south. The powerful enemy force we were to fight had come thru the Sibuyan sea in the center of the Philippines."

Five Battleships in Jap Force

The fighter group with which Lt. Johnsen was flying was called in while 50 or 60 miles from the six carriers under attack. Each of the fighter planes, Johnsen said, was loaded with a 500 pound wing bomb, and the torpedo-bombers each carried a torpedo and a small bomb.

"In a few minutes we were within sight of the battle," Johnsen related. "The sea seemed full of ships of all sizes, belching smoke and flame. The six American carriers were in a sort of rough triangle with four destroyers and three destroyer escorts around them as their only protection. Beyond them spread out the Jap force of five battleships, seven heavy and light cruisers, and about nine destroyers.

"The carrier group was running southwest to get under a huge rain cloud. The destroyers and escorts were laying a smoke screen behind and potting away with their small guns.

Americans Heavily Outgunned

"The odds were heavily against us. Salvos from the Jap fleet's 14, 15, and 16 inch guns lighted up the sea. The answers of the American ships' 5 inch weapons were like striking a match in bright sunlight.

"We went down to 1,500 feet. Flak started to lace the sky. Black puffs shook my plane. American planes rocketed past. Not a Jap plane was around.

"Frank [Lt. Frank Reiser of Miami, Fla.] peeled off in a dive, and I followed. Our target was a large cruiser that was shelling one of the carriers. The flak and smoke were so thick I could not tell where my bomb landed.

Colored Shells Make Garden

"I remember half cursing, half praying as I went in and then pulled out. The anti-aircraft fire chased me as I pulled up steeply. A confused picture of my former home in Wilmette and my wife, Angela, mixed with the prickling fear that swept up my spine.

"Again we pulled up, somewhat out of range of the Jap fire. I don't believe that I've ever seen a more horribly confused picture. The Japs were using colored shells for easier identification of shots fired by each ship. Spotted in the water in a bizarre garden effect was nearly every hue in the spectrum.

"The carriers by then had reached the rain cloud. Salvo after salvo streaked at them. I remember being a little surprised that they were still afloat. I still am. The Gambier Bay and the St. Lo, two of the ships, were almost hidden in the smoke of exploding shells.

"Things were so disorganized in the air that it was impossible to reform into proper groups. I decided to go above the clouds and then descend in a strafing run on one of the cruisers. At about 7,000 feet I came out of the cloud to see one of the most amazing sights of my life.

Flak Forms Solid Barrier

"The flak thrown up by the Japs formed a solid umbrella over the cloud. It literally looked as if you could step out of your plane and walk on it. The colored shells made it look like a crazy patchwork, or one of the quilts my grandmother used to make. But, how deadly!"

Lt. Johnsen started making strafing runs on the Jap ships to draw their fire away from the carrier group. Strafing runs on a battleship have much the same effect as shooting a peashooter at an elephant. The flyers nevertheless were setting themselves up as live decoys.

In his report later Adm. Sprague, commander of the six escorts, credited many of the flyers with making "dry runs"—without any machine gun shells or bombs—to divert the enemy fire. Time after time, he said, the flyers swept down on the Japanese ships without any protection.

Planes Face Uncertain Fate

Another factor increased the problems of the flyers. The six carriers were heading southwest but the wind was coming from the northwest, making it impossible for any planes to land for refueling and rearming. If the carriers had headed into the wind they would have run right into the Jap fleet. As it was, the planes that survived either would have to land on another carrier or on the beach or crash in the sea.

"As I was preparing for another strafing run," Lt. Johnsen continued, "I noticed that I had only about 30 minutes of gas and no ammunition. I figured that I'd better get started back. Just as I turned I heard a torpedo-bomber pilot announce over the radio: 'Out of gas, fellas. I'm going to set down in the water.'

Japanese Cruiser Blown Up

"Another pilot broke in: 'Me, too. We'll go down together.' A third started yelling: 'Hey, jerks, wait for me. We'll have a party.' I hope they got down safely and had their party.

"As the fighting group disappeared from my view I saw a tremendous explosion which mushroomed smoke almost above the clouds. I know now that it was one of the cruisers on which we had been working.

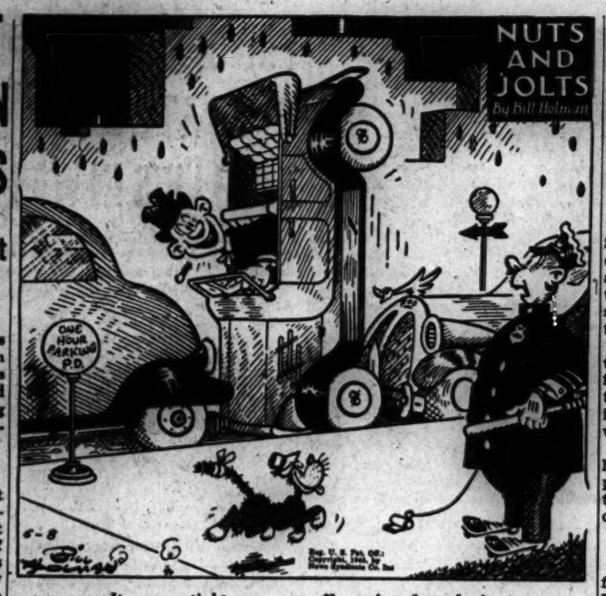
"As I flew back to my carrier, the Sangamon, in the southern of the three groups of escort carriers, I tried to recall some of the things I had seen that morning. Some of the sights still stand out, but most are obscure. I remember how the courageous destroyers and carriers dodged from one shell splash to another, figuring that where one shell landed the next wouldn't.

Back to Ship—Off Again

"I remember how fighter and bomber pilots would try to tell their buddies in double talk that they were going to make a dry run on the Jap ships and would try to hint at good-by. There are a lot of things to remember and some things to forget."

Lt. Johnsen returned to his ship, grabbed a quick cup of coffee, a sandwich, and then was off again to return to the fighting.

[Lt. Johnsen's story of the carrier planes' part in the naval battle will be concluded in the final article tomorrow.]



It was a tight squeeze, officer, but I made it

JAP ADMIRAL CAPTURED WITH FLEET'S SECRETS

Washington, D. C., June 7 (AP)—Sen. Tydings [D., Md.] revealed today that Filipino patriots captured a Japanese admiral at the height of the battle of Leyte and obtained the secret battle deployment of the entire enemy fleet.

Tydings, chairman of the senate territories committee, is just back from a trip to the Philippines. He told of the admiral's capture in telling the senate how loyal the natives were to the United States.

The admiral's capture previously had been reported from the Philippines but no reference was made at that time to capture of the fleet location papers.

Plane Was Forced Down

"The chief Japanese admiral was flying across the Viscayan Islands," Tydings said. "Bad weather forced his plane down on the Island of Cebu. When it landed the natives captured him. He had in his possession very valuable Japanese papers. These papers showed the location of every ship in the Japanese navy at that time.

"The Jap admiral was flying to hold a conference with those who shortly would fight the great naval battle of the Philippines. These papers were immediately sent to our own military forces by the Filipinos.

Filipinos Slain in Revenge

"The Jap admiral was kept in captivity. The Jap garrison on Cebu became so infuriated that they started killing a number of Filipinos each day in order to force the Filipinos to give up their Jap captive.

"Only after a number of people had been killed did the Filipinos relent and then only after a conference in which it was agreed that the admiral would be given up provided there would be no more killing or mistreatment of civilians on that island."

Wearily we roll along . . .

But we'll keep on rolling

Many a worker, who once stepped on his own starter, today counts himself lucky when nobody steps on his toes in a jam-packed 'bus or trolley. Accustomed to shorter hours, he is surprised at his strength and skill to perform the more difficult tasks of a wartime day. It is his ambition to produce and produce and produce and thus hasten the day when our valiant youth will work by his side again.

Yes, everybody has been more weary in wartime than ever before, not forgetting that patient Mother who is first on the job before breakfast. And, who of us isn't determined to carry on to total victory? If America hadn't had the spirit to pull together, if we hadn't sharpened our wits, if we hadn't surprised ourselves with our own sinew and self-reliance, we might feel uneasy over whatever trials may lie ahead. As it is, we can be grateful for our war-found capacities which will help the young folks get started in the sort of a world they want.

Since most folks are more tired than usual when they finish each wartime day, a bottle of golden, foaming Budweiser is a welcome companion in a moment of relaxation—and it makes simple, wartime meals taste better.

M'ARTHUR TAKES A SENTIMENTAL TRIP THRU MUD

Bulldozer Pulls His Jeep from Quagmire

BY DONALD STARR
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]
[For The Combined American Press]

WITH GEN. MacARTHUR IN THE FIELD [Delayed]—Visiting the Mindanao battle front today, Gen. MacArthur paid a sentimental call at the Del Monte air field from which he took off in a Flying Fortress three years ago to set up headquarters in Australia preparatory to opening a drive for the recapture of the Philippines. It was at this spot that he found refuge at the end of a P-T boat trip from Corregidor.

50 Miles Thru Mud

MacArthur's official party left the front in company of Lt. Gen. Eichelberger, commander of the 8th army, Maj. Gen. Franklin Sibert, 10th corps, Maj. Gen. Clarence Martin, commander of the 31st infantry, and Brig. Gen. Robert Shoe, commander of the central Mindanao task force, all of whom are combining their talents to rid the island of Japs who centered their strength in Davao.

Jeeping 50 miles over rough roads turned to quagmires by recent heavy rains, Gen. MacArthur spoke highly of the job accomplished by the engineers in widening the cart trails into supply routes. At one point the road had disappeared after heavy afternoon rains, but the engineers were ready. When the motorcade pulled up short in the sea of mud a bulldozer waddled out, hooked three jeeps, including Gen. MacArthur's, together and pulled them out.

It was the first time correspondents had seen mud rise over the sideboards of a jeep.

Heart Breaking Job

The road from Agusan to Malaybalay now handles the required traffic but beyond this point the engineers are battling thru a heartbreaking job. One supply train has been marooned a few miles away for two weeks. Mail truck drivers come thru with an eight days growth of beard. But troops in the lines are getting supplies dropped day after day by planes.

The driver of Gen. MacArthur's jeep was S/Sgt. Paul Hess of Sheboygan, Wis. He won the admiration of the whole party by his skilful maneuvers.

SEIZE POSSESSOR OF NAZI MACHINE GUN AS ROBBER

Shortly after midnight Wednesday a man armed with a submachine gun entered the restaurant of Louis Thomas, 6250 S. Marshfield av., and forced the owner to hand over $55. Early today the same man armed with the same gun returned. This time the door was locked and Thomas telephoned police.

Shortly afterward Chicago Lawn police heard that a man was slumped over the wheel of an automobile parked in Ashland av. between 59th and 60th sts. Detectives Walter McCauley and Martin Repp found John Quinn, 27, of 5806 S. Union av., unemployed, in the car. Also in the car they found the machine gun, of German make and unloaded; a German bayonet, and a three foot saber, decorated with silver tassels and nazi emblems.

Police said Quinn explained that the souvenirs had been sent home by his brother, Pvt. Eddie Quinn, now in Berlin. Police said they would ask John about another machine gun robbery in the Englewood district on June 2 as soon as he was sober enough for questioning.

450 B-29s BOMB OSAKA 3 HOURS WITHOUT A FIGHT

Fire Fighters Driven Underground: Tokyo

GUAM, June 7 (AP)—High explosive bombs dropped by American Super Fortresses, along with some 3,000 tons of gasoline jelly incendiaries, scattered raging fires today thru the arsenal and munitions making area of Osaka.

Not a Japanese plane challenged the B-29s. It was the second raid in a week by 450 B-29s from the Marianas on Japan's No. 1 industrial city.

Crews of the B-29s reported on return to their bases that the explosives and incendiaries were dropped thru heavy overcast. They were unable to observe results.

In Washington the 20th air force said considerable anti-aircraft fire was encountered and that two aircraft were missing from the raid.

Terrific Damage Indicated

Fire fighters were driven to underground shelters by the explosives, the Tokyo radio said, and then the incendiaries turned the target area into an inferno.

The high explosives were aimed particularly at the steel and cement Osaka arsenal, one of the largest in Japan. Ignited ammunition from this and other munitions plants probably added to the blazing ruins.

Tokyo said fires were burning "in the areas around Osaka castle," not far from the big arsenal. There was no report of damage to the castle itself, home of Japanese rulers in the 16th century and now headquarters for Nippon's 4th army division.

The raid continued for three hours, Tokyo said, starting at 10 a.m. [8 p.m. Wednesday, Chicago time].

Raid by Leaflet Planes

A Japanese radio dispatch by Domei agency said that about 40 American fighter planes, led by two B-29s, invaded the skies over the southern Japanese home island of Kyushu, beginning more than an hour ahead of the Osaka raid today.

The dispatch said the fighters, apparently from Okinawa, made little attempt to attack targets but scattered propaganda leaflets around the city of Kagoshima.

Domei reported that American air raids had "rendered homeless" 50,000 families, totaling 200,000 persons, in Japanese cities. These families, it added, were being moved to farms to help boost food production. Inhabitants of smaller cities were warned by the Jap radio that their industries may be the next targets of the raiders.

YANKS CAPTURE TOWN IN LUZON, PUSH ON 3 MILES

MANILA, June 8 [Friday]—(AP)—Troops of the 37th [Ohio] division, thrusting rapidly northward thru the gorge leading to the Cagayan valley of northern Luzon, captured the town of Bambang and advanced three miles beyond it, within four and one-half miles of the key road junction of Bayombang, Gen. MacArthur disclosed today.

In central Luzon, the Japanese were cleared from positions in the mountains east of Manila, MacArthur's bulletin said.

Both operations were supported by planes which dropped 200 tons of bombs.

Limited Gains on Mindanao

On the southern Philippine island of Mindanao the cleanup of Japanese continued, MacArthur announcing further attrition of enemy personnel and supplies with limited gains against stiffening resistance.

MacArthur announced widespread bomber operations against Formosa, Borneo, Rabaul, and the Indo-China coast. Heavy bombers hit several targets in Formosa, including Taito, on the east coast, where numerous fires were set. The Taito airdrome was strafed by fighters.

Heavy, medium, and fighter bombers caused "widespread damage" to enemy bases on Borneo, hit air strips and storage buildings, and sank two freighters.

Naval Units Off Borneo

Allied light naval units, operating off the east coast of Borneo, destroyed several Japanese naval launches and set a fuel dump on fire.

Far ranging air raiders sank a medium sized freighter east of Shanghai, harassed shipping on the Yangtze river in China, and hit motor vehicles in Indo-China.

MacArthur's announcement followed disclosure that he had just conferred here with Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, chief of American ground forces.

Stilwell, who once commanded all American forces in China and who launched the allied comeback in Burma, also visited forward areas and talked with theater commanders, MacArthur's headquarters announced yesterday.

BRITISH SILENCE HEAVY JAP FIRE IN SOUTH BURMA

CALCUTTA, India, June 7 (AP)—British tanks and artillery have silenced strong enemy positions north of Kalaw in south Burma, 95 miles southeast of Mandalay, after being checked temporarily in their advance along the Kalaw road by heavy Japanese rear guard fire, a southeast Asia bulletin announced today.

Indian troops advancing along the Toungoo-Mawchi road toward Thailand have reached milestone 18, where they encountered opposition.

Sharp patrol actions have been fought in the area of Pegu, which is 43 miles northeast of Rangoon. One British patrol eight miles north-northwest of Pegu fought a two hour action with a strong enemy group, forcing them to withdraw, and other patrols probed positions about 10 miles west of the railway town.

CHICAGO SKIPPER SHELLS JAPS IN OKINAWA HILLS

ABOARD THE U.S.S. NEVER-RUN OFF OKINAWA (AP)—Two correspondents who wanted a closeup view of the Itoman-Gushican chain of hills, where the Japanese may make a last stand on the southern tip of Okinawa, came out on this small wooden landing craft manned by a crew of two.

The little boat eventually reached Itoman, where the Japanese are believed concentrating for a last stand in hill masses. A destroyer stood offshore banging away at the hills. Lt. Comdr. W. L. Roberts, 10640 S. Hamilton av., Chicago, the skipper, was directing the fire.

"We've been shooting at everything from slit trenches to troop movements," Roberts said. The ship pounded two tanks on the road west of Itoman and knocked them out. "It gets kind of monotonous," said Roberts.

From the destroyer one got a good view of the Itoman-Gushichan line. These hills looked formidable but they do not compare with the Nata-Shuri-Yonabara line.

$5,000 FIRE IN BOWLING ALLEY

Fire, early yesterday, destroyed four of six bowling alleys and the entire bar stock of liquor in the Norwood Bowling lanes, 6150 Northwest hwy. Damage was estimated at $5,000 by Fire Chief Homer Ball of the 27th battalion. Chief Ball said the fire apparently started from a cigaret discarded in a rubbish pile at the rear of the alleys.

GIs IN PACIFIC JUNGLES TO GET ICE CREAM SOON

Combat men in the jungles of the South Pacific islands soon will be able to get ice cream, E. M. Harmon of the National Dairy council said yesterday. A portable 40 gallon capacity freezer has been developed which will permit the production of ice cream in hitherto inaccessible spots, he said. A powder has been developed which will permit quick manufacture of ice cream with only the addition of water. The office of the quartermaster general has promised the equipment will be available to fighting men soon, Harmon said.

CHINESE FORCES FIGHT WAY INTO LIUCHOW SUBURB

Former U. S. Air Base Still in Jap Hands

CHUNGKING, China, June 8 [Friday]—(AP)—The Chinese high command announced tonight that Chinese troops, in bitter fighting, had reached the northern suburbs of Liuchow, vital Kwangsi province city which formerly was a United States 14th air force base.

Liuchow at last official reports still was in Japanese hands, but this announcement indicated its fall was imminent. An unofficial report two days ago, now proved to have been premature, said the Chinese had recaptured the city.

A battle for the city apparently was taking shape. The Chinese said the enemy, which has occupied the base for seven months, had strongly fortified the area and that a large number of Japanese troops were concentrated there.

Head for Port City

Chinese troops sweeping the Japanese out of strategic Fukien province, 450 miles west of Okinawa, launched attacks today on enemy units in Futing, a highway town covering the southern aproaches to the major Chekiang port of Wenchow.

A second Chinese force, 640 miles to the southwest in Kwangsi province, captured Mengshan, Chinese authorities said.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's soldiers at Futing's outskirts have laid open a 105-mile stretch of the Fukien coast above liberated Foochow and are less than 10 miles from the Chekiang province border. This freed coast constitutes a potential American invasion area.

May Quit Wenchow

Japanese formations in Futing apparently consist of the enemy force which withdrew from the Foochow area thru the town of Siapu, and the relief column that pushed 55 miles southward from Wenchow. The enemy relief force was reported several days ago to have been less than 25 miles from Futing.

It was believed the Japanese would continue their northward withdrawal up the coast and might abandon Wenchow, a former treaty port 220 miles south of Shanghai.

LEMONT YANK'S STORY OF SHELL 10 FEET AWAY

OKINAWA, [Delayed] (AP)—He was was standing 10 feet from where a Jap artillery shell exploded. Marine Pvt. Edward C. Kucera, 28, Lemont, southwest of Chicago, told about it:

"It doubled me up just as if a good boxer had led with a right to the belly, then jabbed with a left to the head. I wasn't conscious of hitting the deck. My body was numb, and for a second I thought everything except my head was torn away. Then my legs and arms tingled. I tried to stand, but fell. On all fours I crawled up a little hill to an aid station. The earth kept wobbling and, finally, things went black."

Kucera was evacuated and returned to duty three days later. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kucera, Lemont.

This Illinois Ball of Fire Accounts for Three Japs

IN THE PACIFIC [Delayed (AP)—Marine Pvt. Charles W. Sheehan, 19, Belleville, Ill., armed with a flame thrower, charged a machine gun position on Iwo Island with one buddy. Sheehan gave the position two squirts of fire. They found three machine guns and three dead Japs.

PHILIPPINE BILL PROVIDES BASES AND MEN FOR U.S.

MANILA, P. I., June 7 (AP)—At least one measure placing Philippine military bases and man power at the disposal of the United States is already on the docket for the first Philippine congress since 1941, which opens Saturday.

President Sergio Osmena will address the house and senate jointly the afternoon the session opens for its historic restoration of representative government. The president is expected to stress the necessity of national unity in the face of the manifold problems of reconstruction.

Congressman Manuel Gallego of Neuva Ecija, already has filed a resolution offering the United States all air, army and naval bases necessary for "all time to come." The resolution also pledges the total man power resources of the Philippines for the prosecution of war.

Expresses Filipinos' Gratitude

Gallego said the resolution expressed the gratitude of the Filipinos for their liberaton and added the presence of such bases would protect the islands against future aggression.

A joint house-senate resolution also filed would make Gen. MacArthur an honorary citizen of the Philippines and carry in perpetuity his name on the company rolls of all Philippine army units. It also provides that MacArthur's likeness should appear on a Philippine stamp and coin with the title, "defender-liberator."

The session will be highlighted by what may be a major test of strength between Osmena and Sen. Manuel Roxas, current Philippine hero who is a candidate for the influential senate presidency.

Roxas, a brigadier general in the Philippine army, recently reverted to inactive status at his own request.

Osmena has requested Roxas to head a new economic rehabilitation commission to the United States. The senator has declined, however, to give a definite answer until after congress convenes.

Chicagoland Tankers Clear Path Near Naha

OKINAWA, June 6 [Delayed]—(AP)—In a coördinated tank and infantry assault, the 6th marine division troops rolled along Naha harbor's south shore and captured a ridge south of the harbor. After tanks manned by Lt. Oscar Britt, former Mississippi university football captain; Sgt. Richard Ostrowski, Chicago, and Corp. Walter Newlander, Villa Park, Ill., pounded a ridge on the right for half an hour, company F moved up to the plateau with little difficulty.

TYDINGS ASKS $100,000,000 FOR PHILIPPINES

Outright Gift as Well as Loans Urged

Washington, D. C., June 7 (AP)—Sen. Tydings [D., Md.] proposed today that the United States give the Philippines $100,000,000 outright, make loans available, and guarantee low tariffs for possibly five years to restore the islands' economy.

Back from a trip to the Philippines, the chairman of the senate territories committee told the senate he had submitted these recommendations to President Truman:

1. Adoption of the idea that Philippine independence by July, 1946, is "certain."

Would Repay War Damage

2. Outright gift of funds to repair the war damage.

3. Loans to the Filipino government "to carry it thru this period of real emergency."

4. A trade policy of low tariffs until the Philippines are functioning properly, then placing the nation on a tariff par with others.

Tyding said 25 per cent of the permanent buildings in the islands have been destroyed. The islands' economy was completely wrecked, he said, by the floating of billions in worthless Japanese money—"Mickey Mouse money." Issuance of millions of pesos in guerrilla also complicated the financial setup. Not a bank in the islands is open.

People Dependent on Army

He forecast that the sugar industry would not be revived for another two or three years. The people are almost solely dependent on the United States army.

Not much can be done at present to ease that situation, Tydings said, nor until the war with Japan is brought to a close.

'BILLY THE KID' FROM ILLINOIS DOWNS 2D JAP

OKINAWA [Delayed]—(AP)—A Japanese suicide bomber starts a dive on an American ship in the east China sea as ship gunners send up streams of ack-ack. A Corsair plane suddenly flashes into view and closes on the suicide plane. The ship's gunners cease firing. The Corsair's 20 mm. cannon knock the bomber off its course and set it afire. The bomber splashes into the sea a few yards off the port side of the ship and explodes. The Corsair returns to Yontan air field. The pilot, Marine Lt. "Billy the Kid" Cooney, 22, Quincy, Ill., now has two planes to his credit and has saved a destroyer escort.

COL. ARVEY HOME BOUND; HIS EYE ON LAW CAREER

BY EUGENE GRIFFIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

San Francisco, Cal., June 7—Lt. Col. Jacob M. [Jake] Arvey, 49, former alderman from the 24th ward in Chicago, left here by plane tonight for Chicago. He expects an early discharge from the army to permit him to return to private law practice after two years in the Pacific.

Lt. Col. Arvey

Loaded down with a souvenior ebony cane and two heavy Japanese swords, which he carried over his back like golf clubs, Col. Arvey said he has 108 points and a recommendation from Gen. MacArthur toward the discharge for which he has applied. He will report at Fort Sheridan tomorrow for orders.

Plenty of Politics

"I never want to run for anything any more—ever," he said. "Eighteen years in politics was plenty for me. But of course if I ever see a chance to help the veterans, I won't turn it down."

Arvey held a commission in the Illinois national guard and he resigned from the Chicago city council, and also as the 24th ward Democratic committeeman, in March, 1941. He doesn't want either job back, he said tonight.

He was judge advocate and civil affairs officer at army stations in the Pacific theater, including the Dutch East Indies, New Guinea and the Philippine Islands.

Commends Tribune Men

"I left three good Tribune men in Manila just the other day," he said, "Walter Simmons, Donald Starr and Arthur Veysey, all grand fellows and all doing a great job. The Overseas Tribune being put out by Don Starr in the Philippines is a wonderful morale builder. The boys eat it up. Walt Simmons covered our division, the 33rd, in the Baguio campaign, and Art Veysey had just returned to the islands when I was leaving."

Col. Arvey said he lost 16 pounds in the Pacific and feels "at fighting weight." He put down his swords and cane at the United Air Lines office and weighed in at 138 pounds for the flight home.

"You don't have to make Poindexter that good"

● An old time Kentucky whisky man said that to our distiller—and gave his reasons, too:

"What do whisky buyers care about your 40% small grains—that Red Rosen rye and fine barley malt you put in with the good yellow corn? What do they know about jug yeast or low temperature fermentation? I tell you, folks don't appreciate fine whisky any more!"

Our distiller replied, "We can't supply everybody. But there's a few men in every thousand who can taste the quality that has been put into Old Poindexter for 88 years. That few keeps our little distillery oversold right along."

Our distiller's rather old-fashioned. He says he'd rather be the best distiller in Kentucky than the biggest. We think he may have an idea.

to feel jake...not a fake...now simply drink "Morning After" away this simple easy way!

The digestive tract needs to be cleaned out, and depressed nerves need a lift, when you wake up feeling terrible the "morning-after." Taking commonly used depressant headache preparations may only further depress the nerves, and that's wrong. So to clean out the digestive tract, to help steady those nerves and feel good again, just try this..

... first thing in the morning when you get out of bed, take bubbling effervescent KRUSCHEN in ice cold water, and follow it a half hour later with one or two cupfuls of good strong coffee. You can get a package of effervescent Kruschen at any drug store. Caution: Use only as directed. A teaspoonful of good effervescent Kruschen mixed with a glassful of ice cold water is inexpensive to use and makes a delicious and refreshing ice cold drink. Get effervescent Kruschen today. PLEAD INNOCENT IN THEFT OF SECRET PAPERS

Six Arraigned by U. S.; More Arrests Seen

BY ROBERT YOUNG
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., June 7—Six persons, arrested last night by the FBI in Washington and New York, today pleaded innocent to charges of conspiring to violate federal espionage laws thru the theft of "highly confidential" government documents. They were arraigned before United States commissioners, who set bonds of $10,000 for each person.

Lt. Andrew Roth

Meanwhile, it was disclosed that the arrests were a part of an intensive drive to seal off leaks of confidential official documents. Further arrests for unauthorized removal or possession of secret papers were believed probable.

Three Held in Washington Jail

Those arraigned in Washington were Emmanuel S. Larsen, 47, specialist in the China division of the state department's office of far eastern affairs; John S. Service, 35, foreign service officer of the state department, and Lt. Andrew Roth, 26, formerly assigned to the office of naval intelligence.

Arraigned in New York were Mark J. Gayn, 37, nationally known author and free lance magazine writer; Kate Mitchell, 36, editor and author of several books on the orient, and Philip J. Jaffe, 47, editor and president of a greeting card firm.

Altho a well-to-do business man, the Russian borne Jaffe has been an active supporter of pro-communist and pro-soviet movements for a number of years, it was disclosed today.

Lectured at Red Schools

Jaffe is a member of the board of directors of the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, Inc., a leading pro-soviet propaganda organization. He also has lectured and taught recently at Jefferson School of Social Science, official communist school.

Jaffe and Miss Mitchell are co-editors of the magazine Amerasia which figures in the case. At the time of the magazine's founding in 1937 it was described as "a review of America and the far east." In an article in the Saturday Evening Post for Feb. 15, 1941, Benjamin Stolberg described it as one of a number of "communist transmission belt magazines."

On behalf of Jaffe and herself, Miss Micthell tonight made public a statement in which she denied that Amerasia had ever printed any material that might be prejudicial to the interests of the United States, and charged that the case against them constituted an attack on freedom of the press and on traditional press procedures in handling background material.

Gayn Says He Sought "Background"

Gayn, whose name formerly was Ginsbourg, contended today he had only been seeking "background" information. An article by him in the current Collier's magazine was described in a news release sent to newspapers before the announcement of Gayn's arrest as based on "a distillation of intercepted Japanese radio broadcasts and radiograms, and on confidential reports from various military and diplomatic sources."

Gayn was quoted as labeling the charges as silly and as saying that he was to go to the far east soon as correspondent for Collier's magazine and the Chicago Sun.

Gayn said his articles "in every instance" had been cleared with the United States office of censorship and that he had resisted "pressure" on him since last night "to reveal certain of my sources of information."

"The complaint against me seems to be that I had papers marked 'confidential' and 'secret,'" he said.

Not Accused as Spies

Jaffe, Miss Mitchell, and Gayn furnished bonds and were released, but Larsen, Service, and Lt. Roth, unable to provide bonds, were held in the District of Columbia jail. Hearings for the latter were continued to June 14, while those for Gayn, Jaffe, and Miss Mitchell were set for June 20.

At FBI headquarters in Washington, it was emphasized that the six persons are not charged with selling or disclosing secret documents to the enemy or to another country, but are specifically accused of conspiring to violate the federal espionage statute which prohibits the unauthorized possession and transmittal of national defense information. If held for trial and found guilty they face a possible maximum penalty of two years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

Larsen's wife said in an interview today that she knew that her husband gave Jaffe and Lt. Roth information from his own files, but declared her husband was honest and patriotic and that the arrest "must be a terrible mistake."

Daughter of Rich Lumberman

The 36 year old Miss Mitchell was born in Buffalo, the daughter of the late George Armstrong Mitchell, wealthy lumberman and civic leader, and the socially prominent Sara Gates Hamlin Mitchell. Before attending Bryn Mawr, outside Philadelphia, she was graduated by the swank Franklin school of Buffalo. Despite the charges against her, Mrs. Mitchell said tonight: "My daughter definitely is not a Communist."

Service, who was born in China, has been with the state department since 1933 and is believed to be the first foreign service "career man" to be accused of such an offense. Larsen, a native of California, was educated in China and worked for the Chinese postal administration and secret service. Lt. Roth, born in New York City, was a student of the Chinese and Japanese languages and worked as a research associate for Amerasia before joining the navy in September, 1941.

Map Slum Clearance

Black area indicates proposed self-help slum clearance area on north side.

A subcommittee of the city council's committee on housing toured yesterday a near north side area of some 200 acres which the Chicago Plan commission has proposed for post-war redevelopment by the owners. The area is bounded by Grand, Milwaukee, Chicago, and Ashland avs. It was chosen for self-help slum clearance because more than 40 per cent of its residents own their homes.

The plan commission has recommended that the city start rehabilitation by establishing playgrounds, building parkways, and planting trees. Such light industry as exists in the neighborhood should be screened by belts of parkland, the commission said, and some streets should be used only for residential purposes.

Ald. Moss [5th], chairman of the subcommittee, said findings resulting from the tour will be reported to the council at its next session.

CHURCH GROUPS URGE DELAY ON POST-WAR DRAFT

Washington, D. C., June 7 (AP)—Religious, labor, and education leaders today spoke vigorously against peace time draft legislation today on the ground that the issue can wait until the war is won.

Their arguments were made to the house committee on post-war military policy by spokesmen for the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, the Catholic hierarchy in the United States, the Rabbinical Assembly of America, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, and the Evangelical and Reformed church.

All favored adequate defense but suggested that action on peace time military conscription should be deferred until the pattern of peace is clear.

Dr. Herbert J. Burgatahler, president of Ohio Wesleyan university, Delaware, O., testified that the Federal Council of Churches of Christ opposed the bill because "the precise nature or strength of armaments that may be required cannot be foreseen now."

Sticks to Old Policy

"The people for whom I speak and the churches with which they are identified hold to the view that our nation should not at this time take any action which would reverse our historic policy with respect to compulsory military training."

Mrs. William A. Hastings, Madison, Wis., president of the PTA, suggested that peace time military training is unnecessary.

"It," she said, "a reasonably sized standing army, along with a strong national guard force, is ready for an immediate emergency, then our youth, in good physical condition, skilled and alert in mind, can soon be prepared for any part they must play."

Chairman Woodrum [D., Va.] read a letter from the Very Rev. Howard J. Carroll, general secretary of the National Catholic Welfare conference saying the Catholic hierarchy believed a matter "so important should await decision until the end of the war when it can be known what the international situation will be."

An Invitation to War

Byrl A. Whitney, assistant general counsel of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, testified passage of the bill now would be an open invitation to other countries to prepare for war.

"There is," he said, "something pitifully ironical about a nation vigorously preparing for the next war and delaying the problems of peace while fighting a war to destroy militarism and to establish enduring world peace."

Saying the rabbinical assembly is not a pacifist organization, Dr. Robert Gordis, president, asserted action now on the legislation "would be unwise and even dangerous.

"What is more," he said, "a large standing army with an active bureaucracy and a permanent conscription system must ultimately undermine democracy. . . . For us to adopt this peace time military training program would mean to serve notice that we have no faith in the capacity of the united nations to achieve a lasting peace organization."

Huber F. Klemme of Cleveland, speaking for the Evangelical and Reformed church, said the legislation would tend to promote future wars.

U. S. 43D DIVISION REPLACEMENT CAMP IN LUZON.—This is a letter from Pvt. Walter Trzeciak to his mother, Mrs. Mary Trzeciak, 4759 Ada st., Chicago, and to the parents of the other guys here:

"Well, surprised? Here we are in the Philippines. We got here just a few days ago. Didn't get sick once on the way over but sure thought we would that first day out of 'Frisco.

"Our transport wasn't bad at all. We ate three times daily instead of twice like the troops used to. We weren't very crowded but had to wash in salt water, which isn't too good—makes you want to scratch.

"We spent a couple of days just outside Manila. Some guys went to town but most of us just stayed in our tents and wrote letters. We haven't gotten any mail yet but ought to start catching up pretty soon.

Mandate Definition

"Most of us have been in the army only a few months, but there are some Q men. They are the guys who have been stationed in the United States all the time but are now qualified—that's where the Q comes from—to go overseas. One of them with us is the top kick. He's been instructing at an artillery school for three years. He says Gen. Stilwell, head of the army ground forces, finally caught up with him. He went to town the first night here and since has been reciting almost continuously about his exploits in the night clubs that are springing up in Manila.

"Which reminds me: We are taking atabrine to check malaria and are beginning to turn yellow. Everybody jokes about turning oriental already.

"Our camp is in a bunch of rolling hills. Some guys from New England say it reminds them of the Berkshires. I suppose it might look something like the country around Fox river, west of home. We have big tents that each hold about 20 cots. Of course, there are no mattresses or sheets.

"We had fresh beef yesterday and so far haven't had dehydrated potatoes once. Suppose they are just breaking us in easily?

Medals for 26

"Filipinos who come into camp collecting clothes to wash say the rainy season is just beginning. We had a downpour last night. A couple of tents blew over and, boy, did the guys get soaked!

"Our general came down today. He pinned medals on 26 guys who have been overseas three years and are now going home. Wish we were they. But they deserve it.

"The old division has been thru Guadacanal and Munda and New Guinea and now four months on Luzon. It's nice to know there are lots of veterans around to show us the ropes. Our general said the division is the best one in the whole army.

"Our general's name is Wing. He used to be an attorney in Vermont and they say he is one of only two national guard generals still bossing their outfits in the Pacific. He seems right friendly. He must be good, too, or there would be more of us going in as replacements.

"We are fine and even happy in a way. Please don't worry about us. We will be coming home okay one of these days. Don't worry.

"Love, Your Son."

REBORN BELGIAN ARMY ASKS PART IN REICH PATROL

BY DAVID DARRAH
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BRUSSELS, Belgium, June 7—Belgium's renascent army wants a sector of Germany to occupy. So far the allied command has no plans to give Belgian soldiers a part in policing the reich, but Belgian army units, as a part of Field Marshal Montgomery's 21st army group, want to participiate in occupation tasks.

The Brussels war ministry has far reaching plans to build up the Belgian army to its pre-1940 scale. War Minister Leon Mundeleer wants to make it democratic and equip it with modern arms.

Some Attached to U. S. Group

The British have done the most to outfit the Belgian army. Belgians attached to the 21st army group are hardly distinguishable from the British in dress, deportment, and tactics except for shoulder insignia. Other units, attached to the United States 12th army group, have American clothing and arms.

In 1940 the Belgian army comprised about 740,000 men. On May 26, 1940, an army of 600,000 Belgian soldiers capitulated to the Germans.

The Germans subsequently released the Flemish speaking Belgian soldiers but held the French speaking soldiers and officers, including the Belgian general staff.

Organized in England

The Belgian army ceased to exist under the occupation but many Belgians managed to leave the country and in England, in 1943, was organized the Col. Piron brigade from the name of its commander.

It had 2,500 men and fought with distinction with the British army in Normandy. Subsequently this brigade has been recruited up to 6,000 men and forms the nucleus of the new Belgian army. It has taken over resistance units and volunteers. Altogether, now, Belgium has 73,000 men under arms. In addition to the Piron brigade there are about 50 battalions of fusiliers.

The Belgian army also has an air force of about 900 pilots and 600 ground men who serve with the British air force.

PLACE GERMANS IN LUMBER JOBS, MERRION URGES

The use of German prisoners of war in the United States and Canada to augment production of lumber was advocated yesterday by Joseph E. Merrion, head of the National Association of Home Builders. He said German prisoners of war already are being used in reconstruction work in Germany and Russia. New construction is needed as desperately in America, Merrion added, as reconstruction is needed in Europe. He said 125,000 more men are needed to get the lumber from the forest.

PATTON HINTS HE MAY NOT GO TO THE PACIFIC

Welcomed Back to U. S. by 750,000

Boston, Mass., June 7 [Special]—Gen. Patton, pistol carrying head of the United States 3d army, last night sent a message to his troops still in Europe to stay out of another war until he returned, as he received the screaming welcome of three-quarters of a million people.

The general told a press conference that "it is my sincere desire to go to the Pacific," but added that "it may not be fulfilled."

Patton's transport plane hit the Bedford runway 20 minutes ahead of schedule this afternoon, but the schedule soon was bogged down by the cheering throngs. The general didn't wait for the unloading platform, but leaped to the ground and embraced Mrs. Patton, whom he hadn't seen for two and one-half years, and kissed his West Point cadet son, George III. Driven thru cheering throngs to Boston, he was honor guest of the state at a reception and dinner.

Gives Tank Figures

Later, Patton told newsmen that the German tanks and armored forces failed because of "their attempt to make a defensive tank." He said that Germany lost 2,400 tanks of which 894 were the vaunted Tiger tanks, while we lost 1,179. "If the Tiger tanks were so damned good, why did so many of them die?" he asked.

He named the two and a half ton truck as the one weapon which proved most valuable to the American forces. In second place he selected the M-1 rifle, which he described as the "greatest killing hand arm ever designed. If we could persuade our soldiers to fire 100 rounds per enemy per fight, our casualties would be cut in half."

By explanation he added that American soldiers "do not shoot enough. They apparently get interested in something else."

He said that when he arrives in California he plans to go to the church where he was baptized and confirmed. "God has been very good to me. I would like to go there and give Him my thanks," he explained.

Pays Tribute to Men

Tears filled his eyes when he paid tribute to the American fighting men. Speaking of himself and his officers, he said, "We've had the terrific honor and terrific responsibility of telling heroic Americans—and they are heroic—to go in, go in, and go in. I've seen them cross rivers that couldn't be crossed and die in the mud, but we always won. It is a proud privilege you people have, of being the relatives and ancestors of such men.

"It is foolish and wrong to mourn the men who died. Rather, we should thank God that such men lived. I can say no more."

The general replied to a Stars and Stripes correspondent's request for a message to his 3d army:

"Tell them not to get in a war until I get back."

HAAKON LANDS AS 50,000 NORSE ROAR WELCOME

Uses Sloop in Which He First Arrived

OSLO, Norway, June 7 [Reuters]—In the same sloop—the Heimdal—in which he reached Oslo 40 years ago when he was invited to occupy the Norwegian throne, King Haakon of Norway, a tall, gaunt figure in admirals uniform, landed at Oslo today after five years exile. He was greeted by 50,000 people.

The king traveled from England in the British cruiser Norfolk. Exactly five years ago he had boarded the British cruiser Devonshire at Tromsoe on his way to exile.

The king stepped on to the pier of honor in front of Oslo town hall amid delirious cheers. He was accompanied by Crown Princess Martha and her three children, Princess Ragnhild, Princess Astrid, and Prince Harald.

Welcomed by Olaf

Crown Prince Olaf, in khaki dress, welcomed him, followed by Carl J. Hambro, speaker of the storting [parliament]. The king also greeted the prime minister, John Nygaardsvold, and the cabinet.

He stood at salute, obviously moved, while the band played "God Bless Our King," which was sung by the welcoming crowd. Princess Martha wept openly.

The king then inspected the guard of honor, made up of Norwegian naval and air force units, newly arrived Americans of the 474th infantry regiment, British air borne troops, and royal air force men.

King Never Doubted

King Haakon said "it was a very grave day, the day when he had to decide to leave the country. We were confronted with the fact that if we stayed behind we would be imprisoned. We would be prisoners and would not be able to represent a free Norway. We were forced to continue the struggle for Norway's liberty outside the country.

"Many times it may have looked dark for some of you. But I never doubted that Norway would get back her rights."

John R. MacGregor, chairman of the community service division of the Association of Commerce, told the pupils that the cleanup campaign was "a laboratory for children to practice coöperative effort in accomplishing their projects."

Marilyn Breyts of Everett elementary school and Betty Lou Dean of Fenger High school received awards as winners of the cleanup slogan contest. Muriel Lane of Von Steuben High was given a $200 scholarship as winner of the high school poster contest, and James Abramic of Lindblom High received an award for winning second place.

WHAT AMERICA DID

It is to be hoped that the figures released by supreme allied headquarters on the forces of the different allies engaged in overthrowing the Germans on the western and Italian fronts and the casualties they suffered since D-day are as widely circulated in the British Isles and liberated Europe as they have been in the United States.

Americans have, of course, been aware that ours was the principal force exerted in the final effort that overthrew Hitler. The figures, however, show just how overwhelming American superiority was in men engaged and losses suffered. There were 91 divisions in combat, of which 60 were American, 14 British, 5 Canadian, 11 French, and 1 Polish. Actually, since American divisions, both infantry and armored, were maintained at higher strength, America furnished more than three-quarters of all the men on the firing line, and its allies together less than a quarter.

The report of casualties follows the same trend. We suffered 514,534 out of a total of 765,486. That made our casualties more than two-thirds of the total, those of the British and Canadians together less than a quarter, and those of the French less than one-twelfth. When all of the men now listed as missing are returned from German prison camps this nation will still have given the lives of more than 100,000 of its sons to liberate Europe from Hitler.

The American contribution did not stop with our ground forces or with the tremendous devastation wrought against the enemy by our air forces. To a greater or lesser degree all of our allies were dependent upon us to equip and supply their armies. But for us there would have been no French army. We clothed and armed the French divisions. The British and Poles also got a substantial portion of their equipment and subsistence thru lend-lease. The Russian army in the east, of course, would also have been virtually immobile but for the American trucks, tanks, and planes which gave it the added power to go on the offensive after two summers of almost unremitting defeats.

The facts are spread on the records for any Europeans who may be disposed in the future to argue who made victory possible. America did it. Whether America can ever be prevailed upon to do it again is questionable. The American people, viewing the imperialist intrigue, bickering, and throat cutting that are rampant thruout Europe today, may well conclude that more than a hundred thousand American lives is too high a price to pay to keep that continent a going concern. The world might be happier if the natural talents of the Europeans for getting into war were allowed to take their natural course, without interference, until they plunged the continent into anarchic impotence.

REPUBLICAN VICTORIES

Some of the leaders of the Republican party, particularly those in Cook county, must have been astonished to learn from the results of Monday's judicial election that not only does the party still exist, but that downstate it is thriving. In Chicago 10 Republicans gained seats on the Circuit court bench under the Democratic party tag, and one elected to a vacancy in Superior court owed his success to the same means.

Downstate the Republicans elected to go it on their own power, and they did not do at all badly. Quite the reverse. Returns from the eight downstate districts which held elections to the Circuit court showed Republicans the winners in 20 of 24 contests. They even swept such a traditional Democratic stronghold as St. Clair county. Nine sitting Democratic judges were swept from office in the outpouring of Republican votes.

The irony in the contrast between this downstate Republican showing and what happened in Chicago is heightened by the fact that the Republican coalition candidates here who wore the Democratic party label paid tribute to the Democratic party treasury. Ten elected to full Circuit court terms were required to kick in an "assessment" of $4,500 each and another elected to a Superior court vacancy was clipped for $1,500.

The results of the balloting downstate prove that there is a strong Republican sentiment in Illinois; indeed, that the party is resurgent. The strength of this following is all the more remarkable in that the Republican voters have not received too much leadership or encouragement. That the party did so well downstate suggests unmistakably that its leaders in Cook county would do well to pluck up their courage.

ARMY JUSTICE

Rep. Thomason of Texas has asked the house military affairs committee to investigate the conduct of courts martial by the army. His suggestion is sound and the investigation should be thorogoing.

Mr. Thomason was particularly concerned about the trial of men who may have been victims of combat fatigue, and the discharge of some of the defendants from the army "without honor." Combat fatigue, known during the last war as shell shock, is a demonstrable medical condition. A patient is not insane and he is not a coward. He may have, and often has had, a splendid combat record. A day comes when he can't take it any more and a board of officers, who have faced the same hazards and who themselves are prepared to take them in the future, is hardly an unprejudiced tribunal, even when furnished with medical testimony. Obviously, combat fatigue offers a refuge to malingerers. Equally obvious, the knowledge of this will cause the army to be oversuspicious in genuine cases. Such cases should be reviewed in the light of the findings of unprejudiced civilian psychiatrists and physicians.

The review of army court martial cases should not be confined to those involving combat fatigue, however. Martial law was drafted in different times, for a different kind of soldier from the one who wears the United States uniform today. The professional soldier a century or more ago was recruited, as often as not, from the dregs of society. When a weapon was placed in his hand the most savage discipline was required to insure that he did not turn it against those whom he was enlisted to protect. Such a code is neither necessary nor desirable to govern civilians in uniform defending a free country of which they are free citizens.

During the war the army has made tremendous advances in the rehabilitation and return to combat of men convicted of military offenses. At the same time, courts martial have all too often felt themselves under the necessity of making an example of military offenders. They have imposed savage sentences, well knowing that in the process of review most of those sentences would be greatly tempered. Some of their penalties, naturally, will escape this screening process, and when they do gross injustice will have been done. Congressional surveillance can do much to correct these abuses.

SATIRE AT SAN FRANCISCO

The world, if one world, the same old one, is passing from tragedy to tragic farce. The peoples and the governments of Europe have learned nothing. The traits which brought wars in cycles remain unchanged. The Punch and Judy show at San Francisco is not funny as a comedy and is incredible as a serious assembly of nations seeking peace. Americans might even regret that it took place in an American city.

Arthur Vandenberg and Tom Connally, representing the United States senate, might do the only useful thing they could if they checked out, saying that they could not represent this compact before the treaty confirming body from which they are delegates. That would either raise the proceedings to the level of common honesty or break up the meeting. Either one or the other seems desirable.

The puppets in San Francisco are working on a satirical document. It does not seek to prevent the misuse of power. It sanctions such use. It does not seek to restrain a powerful nation when it turns on a lesser one, but permits the enterprise to proceed, the aggressor remaining in good standing and character in the fellowship of peace. With such indulgence Japan, Italy, and Germany would not have walked out of the league of nations in a huff to begin their conquests. They would have remained in their seats and voted sanctions for themselves, with unquestioned place in the vestry.

One thing may be said for the gentlemen running affairs in the conference. They realistically represent the world today and its high placed racketeers. One illustration is sufficient. The tiresome De Gaulle made a prime mistake in Syria and Lebanon. He beat the gun. If he had waited until the security league was in operation he could have attacked without interference from any one. The Syrians and the Lebanese would have squealed in vain. On second thought this may be wrong. The British could have asserted their right to attack the French, or, as compensation, the Greeks or the Persians. Thereupon, the Russians could have attacked the Turks. All would remain peace loving nations.

Wilson's covenant compared with this gory tablet of laws was a wise conception. His peace by comparison was an honest engagement of nations. Its frontiers now seem to have been the work of angels. Its greatest mistakes were in not recognizing that Japan was dishonorable, that the new Germany should be befriended, that some economic vacuums had been created, and that if the seemingly powerful nations which supported the league would not honestly join in a general disarmament they must not allow themselves to become obsolete, as they carelessly did, or to fall into discord when they should have stood together.

The work at San Francisco already is ridiculous, both as a charter of freedom and a guaranty of peace. It is argued that concessions must be made to preserve the coöperation of the great powers. Coöperation for what? Piracy, brigandage, and oppression? Mr. Churchill has come to a point where he no longer can be trusted. He has won his war. He wants its profits. The young man who had the time of his life in the extinction of the Boer republic and tasted the sweetness of Kitchener's conquest of the Sudan is now the 70 year old ironsides who believes that the British empire has the special sanction of the Almighty. Stalin never could be trusted. He is a tricky Asiatic potentate whose ambitions exceed those of Peter the Great and whose methods imitate those of Ivan the Terrible. Chiang Kai-shek is a dictator without a country and De Gaulle is a prestige seeker and trouble maker. These men in their own or their countries' interests would be incendiaries.

San Francisco has produced nothing, viewed by itself or in connection with events in Europe, to which the United States could put its signature without scandal to itself. We'd underwrite the rape of liberty and the mockery of just relations between nations. We'd indorse the doctrine that force, however used, must be respected and not resisted.

Vandenberg and Connally had better get back to the senate while they can do so without red faces.

When the Japs aren't apologizing to the emperor they are explaining to their departed ancestors.—Indianapolis News.

GRAND OPERA JAPAN

After glancing over the field of Anglo-American comic opera in Japanese costumes yesterday, we turn to the more impressive but less fertile uplands of tragic opera, upon which music historians concentrate 99.9 per cent of their attention. [Try to find anything about comic operas in libraries!] The standard item in this category is, of course, Puccini's "Madama Butterfly," which is so well known that it is introduced here merely to take a bow.

* * *

Bow, heartbroken doll named Cho-Cho-San, before you use the hara-kiri knife whose blade bears the motto, "To die with honor when one can no longer live with honor." Bow, little child named Trouble, blindfolded and waving an American flag as symbol of your mixed ancestry. Then withdraw into war time retirement.

* * *

This opera, first sung in 1904, at La Scala, Milan [now shattered by bombs], had two forerunners which chronic patrons of the Chicago and New York seasons can remember, altho their performances have been infrequent. No doubt they paved the way for "Butterfly's" enduring popularity; at any rate, their libretti suggest that they were the parents of Cho-Cho-San. These works are Messager's "Mme. Chrysanthème," first staged in Paris, 1893, and Mascagni's "Iris," in Rome, 1898.

* * *

"Mme. Chrysanthème" is of distinguished literary origin. It is based upon Pierre Loti's graceful, cynical tale, which presents reveries of an exotic and erotic summer in Japan. [He was a French naval officer and a counterpart of Pinkerton in "Butterfly."] The story is not of tragic opera stuff; it is a comedy of disillusionment, and if Chrysanthème committed suicide after Lt. Viaud's [alias Loti] nonchalant departure [we can't remember], the librettist was responsible.

"Walking away," wrote Loti, "I turn around once or twice to look at her—but it is for politeness only, and in order to respond agreeably to her lovely last obeisance."

* * *

"Iris" is closer to the "Butterfly" pattern, without the mixed marriage. The characters are all oriental, and the heroine is a victim of the traffic in red-light girls. When her blind father finds her in the Yoshiwara district, he curses her, so she jumps out a window, and dies slowly with visions that occupy most of the third act.

UNTIL I FIND THAT WORD

I shall not write again until I find
That word whereby my love for you may bridge
The shadowed gulf of longing where my blind,
Mad lyrics fall in utter sacrilege,
Unto the ends of earth I shall pursue
The distant star-shine of my sacred quest;
There must be one sweet word describing you
Between the dawn-pale east and moon-bright west.
I shall avoid the fields of asphodel
And fair, Elysian slopes, and groves of laurel,
To search the early dew, the fluted shell,
The trillium, the ocean-sculptured coral.
Perhaps within the throat of some glad bird
I may discover that exquisite word!

When Butter Was Homemade

We had two styles of churns when I was small. One had a wooden crossbar at the end of a stick and we plumped it up and down thru the lid in an earthern jar. The other, more modern, was known as a barrel churn. We turned it around and around until we could hear the flippity-flop of the butter ball inside.

We took the butter ball, placed it in a wooden bowl, and worked the surplus buttermilk out of it with a wooden ladle. Mother's eyes as she worked the butter were blue as the skies.

The blue of her eyes and the gold of the butter. Blue and gold are grand colors. They have been colors for many schools, but I claim them as peculiarly and intimately my own.

They are the colors of my little school, from which I shall never graduate. Roy Engel

CRITIQUE ON CRANES

(A Brookfield Ballad)

With your indulgence I'll explain
The courtship of the sandhill crane:
He's mostly leg, and neck, and wing,
But fascinating in the spring,
For when he meets a lady friend
He bows as low as he can bend,
And then, in manner debonair,
He leaps and pirouettes mid-air,
And bows and jumps in high romance
Until exhausted from the dance.
Amusing? Yes—if we survive
This age of jitterbug and jive!

D. E. writes: "It has been my understanding that soldiers wore the shoulder patch to identify their division or other organization on the left sleeve, but recently I have seen men on the street with patches on both shoulders. What does this indicate?"

Men returned from combat divisions overseas are authorized to wear the insignia of the overseas organization only until they are assigned permanently to a new organization. Then they must change insignia. When the shoulder insignia of the new organization is worn on the left sleeve, the insignia of the overseas unit may be worn on the right sleeve, but it is not required. Men who have served in more than one overseas unit may wear whichever insignia they prefer, but not more than one indicating overseas service.

K. D. writes: "I was discharged recently after four years of service in the army for disability with the rank of captain. I have been advised that my disability is rated at 30 per cent and that I may have a pension of $34.50. I believe I am entitled to retirement pay. Should I ask for review of my retirement and how soon?"

If you were released for physical disability without pay you may ask for review any time within 15 years from date of retirement. If retirement pay is granted it will amount to much more than the pension. You cannot collect both.

CHLOASMA—LIVER SPOTS

A BEAUTIFUL complexion is the aim of every member of the fair sex. The young girl with acne will spend many agonizing hours before a mirror, perhaps picking at her blemishes.

The middle aged woman invests heavily in preparations such as "youth" creams. Even in the sixth and seventh decades, cosmetics are relied upon heavily to make the dowager "look 10 years younger."

There is no doubt that most women can be glamorized by makeup. But sometimes Mother Nature plays a mean trick on her children and deposits an unattractive pigment in the skin which is difficult to conceal. These discolorations are grouped under the general heading, "chloasma."

We are all familiar with the bronzed areas that may follow continued pressure or friction from belts or trusses as well as injuries, such as bruises. Pigmentation may result from the prolonged use of medicines containing silver, gold, or arsenic. The condition may be secondary to systemic diseases such as tuberculosis, syphilis, or malaria. In deficiency states, such as pellagra, these lesions are not uncommon.

But in so-called liver spots, or moth patches, the origin is often difficult to locate. In this form of chloasma, the pigmented regions may be so light that they are hardly detectable. On the other hand, they may range from deep brown to black. They are of various sizes and shapes and usually involve the face. There is no discomfort — no pain, itching, or inflammation. These blotches differ from freckles in that they do not fade on staying out of the sun. Furthermore, brunets are more susceptible than blondes or redheads.

In some instances we can trace the cause to indigestion, anemia, or advancing age. But in many more cases, endocrine upsets are to blame. The patches may appear in individuals whose thyroid gland is either lazy or overactive. When the ovaries or the pituitary are not functioning properly, this disorder is seen frequently. Many women who exhibit these muddy plaques during pregnancies find that they vanish after delivery. In others, uterine disturbances are responsible.

Local treatment, on the whole, is unsatisfactory. Bleaches containing mercury and caustics are frowned upon by dermatologists. They may leave scars that are worse than the brown patches. Milder preparations containing hydrogen peroxide, bismuth salts, salicylic acid, and citric acid may give temporary relief. Lemon juice has a reputation for "whitewashing" but its value is doubtful. On the whole, chemicals will lighten the surface somewhat but they have no effect on the deeper pigment-carrying cells.

If the discoloration is not too dark, creams composed of zinc oxide and a certain amount of dark stain may be employed to make the face look one shade.

Perhaps the best advice would be to attempt to find and remove the cause. If this is impossible, don't let the mottling get you down. Remember that it may disappear spontaneously.

Three Pictures

A recent edition of The Thunderbolt, weekly published by the 83d division as it wandered thru Europe, carried the pictures of three men in its editorial column. One was plump and jowlish with a black felt hat perched jauntily on his head. One was lean and tight with compressed lips. The third had anomalous features you might see anywhere except that they were set off by a Prussian haircut. The three were the supermen who ran the forced labor racket at the nazi underground factory which the 83d overran at Escherhausen. All spent many years in American industry before returning to the fatherland to become what The Thunderbolt calls "the face of the master race."

Hans Reidel, 42, is the jowlish one. He came to America in 1924, became a citizen in 1931, and later left Detroit to manage the Escherhausen plant for Hitler.

Theodore Koch, 41, is the tight-lipped one. He jumped ship in the United States in the early '30s and also went to work in Detroit. He returned to Germany in 1937.

Adolf Stephan, 45, has the Prussian haircut. He worked in Detroit as a mechanical engineer from 1927 to 1937. He went home to the reich to become assistant director of the infamous factory.

As The Thunderbolt says, each had a rare opportunity to learn what we call, with pride, the American way. One had the privilege of being an American citizen. They preferred Hitler.

All are in what should be the flush of life. And now? They are held as war criminals.

In this country today are several hundred thousand German prisoners of war. They face no trial as war criminals, but the trial before them is perhaps even greater, for it will be longer: they must go home to face the Germany they have made.

The third set of pictures in this mental display contains faces known to all the world. They are the faces of many of the great minds of music, science, philosophy, and literature. They, too, are German. They, too, came to America, but at great personal risk and hazard. Behind was their country which they, as all men, loved for itself. Behind was their property, their standing, all that they knew of security. Behind, for some but not all, was persecution. Many, the majority, now are American citizens. They are working for the future of mankind, many in war time research so secret they must be nameless. One brought with him from Germany his formula for synthetic rubber. Another gave the American government his invention for distilling drinking water from salt water.

The list is incredibly impressive. Einstein. Thomas Mann. Emil Ludwig. Lotte Lehmann. Bruno Walter. Franz Werfel. Artur Schnabel. Walter Gropius, founder of the Bauhaus. In Chicago alone are, among others: James Franck, Nobel prize winner, now doing research on chlorophyll at the University of Chicago; Ludwig Mies van der Rohe, one of the originators of the contemporary style in architecture; Ludwig Hilberseimer, a leading proponent of advanced theories in city planning; Walter Peterhans, mathematician and photographer; Max Rheinstein, authority on comparative law and formerly librarian of the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute of Foreign and International Law in Berlin; Dr. Friedrich Wassermann, the anatomist; Arnold Bergstraesser, the scholar; Hans Morgenthau, political scientist.

This listing does not pretend to be comprehensive. It does not include, for example, Dieterle, the movie director, or Adriane, once chief of the cultural division of the German government. There probably are hundreds more. But the future these men face is of a pattern with their past: one of dignity and honor. They came free men to a free country, concerned only with matters of the spirit, and they have elected to become part of that country. America already has benefited incomparably by their presence.

WASHINGTON RINGS THE BELL

Houston, Tex., May 28—Now I know why there is a paper shortage. About a month ago I saw a government notice to the effect that some thousands of surplus ship's bells were on hand and could be had by individuals at $8.50 apiece, f. o. b. shipping point. An order must be sent to the Maritime commission at Washington.

Up to this point everything seemed very simple, so, thinking one of these bells would be not only useful but a souvenir of the times, I sent my check in the amount of $8.50 and requested that one bell be shipped to me to my ranch in Waller, Tex.

In a week or 10 days we got a legal sized envelope from Washington via registered mail returning my check and having two full sized sheets of paper therein with further instructions. It seems that I should have had my check certified before sending it. This detail was then accomplished and the check returned.

In a week or 10 days we had another legal sized envelope containing two more sheets of paper stating that certified check had been received and everything was now in order. I assumed in a few days the bell would be showing up But wait.

Saturday we received another legal sized envelope containing four sheets of regular sized paper. A very official document, the first sheet explained that the subject concerned steel bells and that three copies of the sales order were enclosed and that as soon as the bell is received I was to sign these three documents, retain the last one for my files, and return the remaining copies to the Maritime commission.

Here's a simple transaction involving one ship's bell at $8.50, f. o. b. shipping point, which has already involved eight full sized sheets of paper, one registered letter, and two other letters. Heaven knows how much time has been involved by the hard working government clerks up to this time on this one subject. I am wondering just what would have happened if I had ordered as many as two bells.

BOY BIRD KILLERS

Chicago, May 24—On the front page of today's TRIBUNE I see the picture of a cat, to draw attention to a bill pending in Springfield which would seek to save the lives of fledgling birds. This story of bird destruction is incomplete without the picture of a boy with a club in one hand and a rock in another.

On this street, a campaign of extermination is being carried out by young boys. I found two of them in my back yard yesterday, all ready to go to work with their clubs. A broken branch from one of my trees showed it was not their first visit. They climb the trees and rob the nests, then pound the young birds to death.

A hungry cat will sometimes hunt birds for food, but these young hoodlums kill for the pleasure of killing.

HOUSING TENANTS' INCOME

Chicago, June 2—Your editorial, "Slum Dwellers and Public Housing," of May 23, asks what did public housing do for the "lowest third" in peace time?

Chicago low rent public housing projects in both peace and war have proved that they can accommodate families of the lowest income groups. Of the 383 families who moved into the Jane Addams, Julia Lathrop, and Trumbull Park projects in 1940, 97.4 per cent had incomes below $1,200 a year and one-third had incomes below $800. Of these low income families 75 per cent derived their earnings from private employment, and all but 23 were families with one or more children. The United States census of 1940 shows that for the same year 30.5 per cent of Chicago families earned less than $1,200 per year.

During the war year of 1942, there were 390 families who moved into the four low rent projects. Of these none earned more than $1,200 a year, and the average was only $802. In 1944, there were 313 families who moved in with earnings averaging $1,083 at a time when both pay rolls and employment are at the highest levels in our history.

Because at the present time there is no place for families to move, the Chicago housing authority cannot evict families if their earnings increase to the level where in normal times they would be able to find decent, safe, and sanitary housing in the private market.

HOW SUB MADE FIRST ATTACK OF WAR ON JAP SHIP

Pacific Records Piled Up by Swordfish

[This is another story of brilliant performances by American submarines from the navy's files.]

PEARL HARBOR, T. H., June 7 (AP)—Lt. Comdr. Chester C. Smith, Bisbee, Ariz., was the first man to make a submarine attack against the Japanese in the Pacific.

Smith's sortie, which was made as America received the full impact of the attack on Pearl Harbor, collected for him and for his men a number of "firsts."

He made the first successful United States submarine attack of the Pacific war, suffered the first depth charging, and made the first submerged approach in battle.

Smith took the submarine Swordfish out of a Philippines harbor on Dec. 8, 1941. Behind him, on Nichols and Clark air fields, American planes still smouldered from Japanese attacks, and bombs splattered on Manila harbor.

Only 10 Hours Lost

The 40 year old, mild mannered skipper began his search for the enemy just 10 hours after the Japanese struck. The Swordfish, since reported lost after being turned over to another commander, became a symbol of America's wrath.

On the first night of the Swordfish's patrol the first Japanese ship to be sunk in the Pacific by submarine wallowed into periscope view. Skipper Smith maneuvered the Swordfish into position and seconds later torpedoes were away. There was a sharp explosion and the Japanese vessel settled slowly in the water. Presently she lurched beneath the surface.

The Swordfish was in waters bustling with enemy warcraft.

As Smith dived to escape detection, enemy vessels' chains clanked against the Swordfish's hull. Skipper and crew held their breath, waiting for a mine to explode, but the submarine moved on.

A few days later the Swordfish torpedoed a Japanese merchantman, but it was not certain whether she sank. When Smith brought his boat to the surface the target had disappeared.

Depth Charges Peril Craft

The Swordfish took her first depth charging during an approach to a Japanese convoy. Smith had brought a heavily loaded freighter into range and slammed two torpedoes amidships. The ship caught fire and was burning as a Japanese destroyer raced up. The Swordfish dived. Depth charge explosions clanged like a giant hammer against the sides of the submarine. But it escaped.

The Swordfish's next bad moments were with a Japanese patrol plane. Every time the submarine rose to the surface the plane rained bombs or hovered overhead. Smith decided his boat must be leaking oil and leaving a surface slick. That night members of the crew found a tiny leak on the deck. They found it by smell, and repaired it not far from Japanese patrol ships.

U. S. OCCUPATION PROBLEMS TOLD BY BREMEN CHIEF

Port Area Just Short of Self-Sufficiency

BY LARRY RUE
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BREMEN, Germany, June 7—The military government of the Bremen enclave, including the port of Bremerhaven, which soon will be inaugurated as the main port of supply for the American forces occupying Germany, has a population of half a million. It comprises an area about 60 miles long and 30 miles wide.

"This area," Lt. Col. B. G. Welker, military government commander for the enclave, told THE TRIBUNE, "is not self-sufficient, but would be, with the possible exception of potatoes, if extended 15 kilometers [10 miles] in all directions."

Therefore, he said, there will have to be a give and take agreement with the British military government southeast and northeast and the Canadian government to the west.

Surplus in Flour Mills

Among other things Bremerhaven has the largest fishing industry in Germany. It is about to open up any day now, and more fish will come in than the Bremen enclave needs. Some exchange of fish for other food products can be arranged, Welker thinks.

Bremen has mills which produced flour for a population of 4 million in normal times. This industry, too, might assist in enabling the Bremen enclave to get other food from areas where there is a surplus.

Good Dairy Industry

Lt. Col. R. F. Anderson of Gambier, O., executive of a mail order and chain store business in civil life, heads the economic administration. He said that besides the fisheries, which brought into Germany more than 600,000 tons of fish yearly, the shipbuilding industry in the enclave employed more than 18,000 men.

"The dairy industry, too," he added, "is fairly well developed. They have a lot of good grade Holstein cattle here."

Since the Americans arrived here 750 shops have been reopened. They are principally food stores.

Small industries are producing food products, medicines, and sanitary products.

There is a shortage of labor, particularly on the farms, and this was solved by releasing, under supervision, prisoners of war. Also there is a shortage of fuel and transportation of all kinds.

DODGE STRIKERS GET PLEA TODAY TO END WALKOUT

Whether the 178th strike since May 2, 1944, at the Dodge Chicago plant of the Chrysler corporation will continue will be decided by strikers in a meeting at 5 p. m. today at 3323 63d st. The walkout has tied up production of steel castings for B-29 engines.

A. J. Eberhardy, international representative of the International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths, Drop Forgers, and Helpers [AFL], and officials of local 495, which represents the 574 strikers in the forge division, will urge the men to resume work.

Both the regional war labor board and the automotive panel at Detroit, Mich., which is handling the contract dispute that caused the strike, promised the union officials Wednesday that the union demands would be reconsidered next week if the strike is ended.

LET'S get realistic about this Boston market. Let's forget old prejudices and misconceptions. Mass-ive sales in Boston, as in any major market stem from mass districts where mass population is concentrated. Take a look at a typical segment of Boston's well-known rental areas. Do you think it's swank Brookline, Newton or Wellesley (average rental $78) that account for majority sales? No! It's Cambridge (average rental $37), Somerville (average rental $29) and all the other mass population areas of medium and low rentals and incomes which make 88% of all retail sales in the entire market. The dominant coverage of the Record-American with its over 500,000 circulation, reaches, influences and SELLS these tremendous buying groups — 81.5% in Cambridge, 55.8% in Somerville and the same proportionate coverage in other mass population areas. The Sunday Advertiser's nearly 600,000 circulation, too, matches this same circulation pattern! SENATE TO OPEN SPENDING BILL FIGHT MONDAY

Hearing Set to Consider Soldier Bonus

BY ROBERT HOWARD
(Chicago Tribune Press Service)

Springfield, Ill., June 7—The fight against the administration's 99 million dollar post-war spending bill will be opened in the senate Monday afternoon, it was decided today. Sen. Miller [R., Hillsboro] and other economy advocates are preparing amendments to the measure to be considered at that time.

Administration forces lost the first skirmish today when the upper house tabled an amendment which would have permitted part of the post-war budget to be used for minor repairs at state welfare institutions.

"Let's not fool the people," said Sen. Thompson [R., Galesburg], who insisted that minor repair items should be in the welfare department's biennial appropriation bill, not in the post-war budget for a state-wide system of public works projects.

Soldier Bonus Hearing

The fate of the spending program is involved in a Democratic bill to use the state treasury surplus for a World War II soldier bonus. The bill was sponsored by State Secretary Barrett. Under the Green program most of the surplus would be used for post-war construction and extensions of state services.

The senate military affairs committee scheduled a hearing Wednesday on Barrett's bill.

Many regarded the Democratic bonus program as window dressing and predicted that the minority members would help pass the post-war bill over Miller's objections. As part of the Kelly-Green program, the Democrats recently helped override an economic campaign when the Democratic appropriation bills, part of the 604 million dollar regular biennial budget, were being passed.

Uncertain on Policy

Sen. Libonati [D., Chicago] and former Gov. Stelle were Democratic members of a commission which last month unanimously recommended a final decision on bonus payments be postponed. Sen. Ryan [D., Chicago] helped draft the post-war program and said he would vote for it. Sen. Daley [D., Chicago] minority leader, said a policy hadn't been decided upon.

Sen. Downing [R., Macomb] appropriations chairman, was sponsor of a blueprinting bill, which is part of the post-war program. It allocates $750,000 to counties, $3,237,500 to municipalities, $625,000 to school districts, $237,500 to sanitary and park districts, plus other amounts for administrative expenses. The allocations are to be matched by the local governments.

Rep. Branson [R., Centralia] told the house that the present 350 state policemen are insufficient to patrol highways adequately. He said Pennsylvania has 1,596 state policemen, California 910, New York 795, and Massachusetts 574.

BILL TO LICENSE CHEMISTS HIT BY HOUSE MEMBERS

(Chicago Tribune Press Service)

Springfield, Ill., June 7—Bills to license chemists and bacteriologists, of whom there are about 7,000 in Illinois, were assailed today by members of the house judiciary committee. A subcommittee will make a report on the measures June 13.

Several leaders of the professions involved appeared before the committee in support of the bills. Among the witnesses were Dr. Gustav Egloff, president of the American Institute of Chemists, and G. I. Wallace, president of the Society of Illinois Bacteriologists.

Chief target of committee members was the proposal that after admitting persons who now have 5 years' practical experience, future applicants would need 12 years' experience in order to take a state examination unless they have college training.

"This is a simple subterfuge to exclude those who later try to come in thru the route of practical experience," said Rep. Lee [R., Chicago], who is dean of the John Marshall Law school.

GREEN ASSERTS HE HASN'T ANY PLANS FOR 1948

(Chicago Tribune Press Service)

Springfield, Ill., June 7—Gov. Green told his press conference today that he is giving no consideration to what part he will take in the 1948 political campaign.

Asked if he would seek a third term as governor, Mr. Green replied:

"I just got thru with one campaign and I haven't recovered from it."

Asked if he would enter the Republican Vice Presidential picture he said: "I certainly am not entertaining consideration of that or any other office at this time."

DAY by DAY on the FARM by GAIL COMPTON

June 7, 1945.

AGRICULTURAL faddists who have been clamoring for the death of the moldboard plow, asserting it is responsible for small crop yields and destroys the soil, will be disconcerted by results of experiments under way at the Iowa State college in Ames, Ia., on various tillage methods.

Tests were made in the preparation of corn land by plowing, listing, and subsurface tillage. The last, which stirs the soil without turning it over and leaves a crop residue on the surface, is the method advocated by the plow haters.

Nitrogen Is Decreased

On unfertilized fields, the college found that plowing gave yields of eight to 10 or more bushels per acre over subsurface tillage and listing. On fertilized fields, listed corn [the lister throws the earth up into ridges] outyielded that on plowed corn by 1.3 bushels per acre. The yield on fields where subsurface tillage was used was six bushels less than on the listed fields.

One important failure of the subsurface tillage method was that it failed to stir the soil enough to permit maximum bacterial action. As a result, the plants on fields so handled contained less nitrogen than plants from plowed fields.

Listing Method Best

Of the three methods used, listing seemed the best. It resulted in the least erosion, gave good yields, required the least power and hours of labor, and made it possible for fertilizer to become more readily available to plants.

Plowing caused a sharp increase in the amount of soil lost thru erosion compared with the other methods, the tests disclosed. On plowed fields, the soil loss amounted to 34.1 tons per acre. On fields where the soil merely was stirred, the loss was 9.9 tons per acre, and on listed fields the loss was 2.3 tons per acre.

The college tests will continue for several years. Results so far indicate that the farmer should not hasten to the barn and plow under his plow in favor of the soil stirring method, for in most cases his plow will produce better crops, keep insect damage lower, and his work easier than other types of equipment. In the case of corn land, if he wants to exchange his plow for another implement, he will be better off to choose a lister than a subsurface tiller.

The GARDEN by Ben Markland

QUACK grass is a persistent weed growth in vegetable plots, particularly in gardens recently converted from sod.

There is no cure-all spray or other tricky method of eliminating this common weed; therefore, persistent use of a sharp hoe is the only recommendation.

Quack grass is a perennial and is particularly troublesome because it can send up new sprouts if only a small section of live root is left in the soil. Deep hoeing in unplanted portions of the garden will bring the roots to the surface, where they are killed by exposure to the sun. Between planted rows, shallow hoeing can be practiced to cut off the leaves and eventually starve the roots. A full season of persistent hoeing usually eliminates the pest.

"The Gardener's Diary," 58 page book published by The Tribune, contains information on combating all common garden insects. The book is available from the Tribune Public Service offices, 435 N. Michigan av. and 1 S. Dearborn st., for 15 cents over the counter, 18 cents in stamps or coin by mail.

DEATH PLUNGE FROM WINDOW HELD ACCIDENT

A coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict of accident in the death of John J. Plozay, 40, of 1136 Barry av., who fell May 27 from a window of the apartment of James D. Dugan, 45, at 3336 Cortland st.

Dugan, owner of the Candy Nut Packing company, testified he met Plozay in a tavern and they drank together in several taverns before going to the apartment. When he entered the parlor from the kitchen, he said, he found Plozay standing in front of his desk. He said he returned to the kitchen, sat at a table, and then was knocked unconscious by a blow on the head.

Dugan said he did not have a fight with Plozay and didn't know Plozay had fallen from the window. Several witnesses testified they saw Plozay standing on the window ledge and yelled for him to remain there. They said they saw no one pushing him thru the window or off of the ledge.

REPORTS ARMY WILL KEEP FOOD GOING TO EUROPE

Congressman Tells of American Plan

Washington, D. C., June 7 (AP)—The army will keep its food pipelines to Europe flowing chockful thru midsummer despite the end of the war there.

A congressman made this disclosure today with the observation that the policy may cushion the effect of a recent decision to halt all third-quarter foreign reliefs and lend-lease food shipments.

Closely acquainted with the decision, but asking not to be identified by name, this congressman said the army will keep its European food shipments going at full tilt just as tho it were still supplying a full strength fighting army.

Supply Troop Transports

He said the chief reason is to supply troop transports being used to shift fighting men back to this country and to the Pacific. It will take all the food the army can send to Europe to service these transports and the soldiers remaining there, he added.

Once the transport burden is out of the way, however, the army's food pipelines — over-the-ocean supply vessels— will still be filled.

Suspension Assailed

This food then can be used to aid in relief feeding during the late summer. If that is done, the congressman said, the absence of actual relief shipments during July, August, and September may not be missed.

Meanwhile, decision of the government to suspend lend-lease and foreign relief shipments during the July-September quarter drew sharp criticism from the national league of women voters.

In a letter to War Food Administrator Jones, the league's president, Miss Anna Lord Strauss, said Americans are "willing, we are sure, to accept decreased rations of meat in order to make more of our supply available to the devastated areas.

"Liberated persons who find that they have less to eat under democratic rule than they had under fascism will not build sound, stable democracies, the kind of neighbors we shall need for a future peaceful world."

JURY CONVICTS 2 EX-SENATORS OF BRIBE TAKING

Logie and Diggs Get 4-5 Years in Prison

Mason, Mich., June 7 [Special]—A jury of six men and six women today found two former state senators, Jerry T. Logie [R., Bay City] and Charles C. Diggs [D., Detroit], guilty of having participated in a 1941 legislative graft conspiracy involving a bill to tighten regulation of horse race betting. Both were convicted last August of graft conspiracy involving 1939 finance company legislation.

Presiding Judge John Simpson of Jackson immediately sentenced the two men to serve four to five years in state prison on the new conviction.

Simpson, who has heard all five of the graft cases arising out of a one man grand jury investigation conducted by Judge Leland W. Carr of Lansing, ordered that three years of the new sentences run concurrently with the three to five year sentences imposed on them in the earlier case, which has been appealed to the state Supreme court. Counsel for the defendants said appeals of today's conviction would be filed, and $4,000 appeal bonds were posted for each.

Howell Chief Witness

Prosecution evidence was presented almost entirely in the form of testimony by Chester M. Howell, Saginaw, former Republican state senator. He said Logie and Diggs had been paid $800 and $150, respectively, by him out of the $3,000 given him by the late Constantine Daniels, Grand Rapids lobbyist, to "kill the racing bill" in the senate state affairs committee, of which all three were members.

The bill, part of whose provisions eventually were adopted at a 1944 session, would have increased the state's "take" from pari-mutuel betting on horse races at the Detroit state fairgrounds track, set up stricter regulation of racing, and provided for installation of a specific type of computing machinery.

Delano to Appeal

At Lansing the Supreme court granted a petition of Carl F. Delano, Kalamazoo, former Republican state senator, for leave to appeal his conviction March 15 in a grand jury case charging he accepted a bribe in connection with consideration of a 1941 bill to legalize the practice of naturopathy.

Delano resigned his senate seat following his conviction, but has denied his guilt. The court ordered that he post a new $4,000 appeal bond.

DIVORCE POWERS BILL IS REVISED IN STATE SENATE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Springfield, Ill., June 7—The senate today amended and placed on passage stage a bill providing for possible intervention by the state's attorney in Cook county divorce cases. Sen. Daley [D., Chicago] changed the measure so that the state's attorney's role would be up to the discretion of the court.

"Whether the bill is permissive or mandatory it throws a tremendous burden upon the state's attorney's office," said Sen. Dick [R., Quincy]. Judge Feinberg of Chicago testified he had 2,000 divorce cases in a year."

The house judiciary committee today approved Daley's bills to prohibit city courts from hearing divorce actions unless the plaintiff is a resident of the city and likewise to bar the hearing by Circuit and Superior courts of divorce cases involving persons not residents of the county.

GREEN SAYS HE WOULD VETO PAY RAISE FOR SELF

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Springfield, Ill., June 7—Gov. Green told his press conference today he would veto pay raises for elected state officers, including himself, but would approve a 20 per cent boost for legislators if the assembly passes the bills.

A bill before the lower chamber would raise the salary of house and senate members from $5,000 to $6,000 a biennium.

The governor said he favors a series of bills to give raises to appointive officials. The measures were passed by the house yesterday and sent to the senate. The senate today killed a bill to increase the Supreme court marshal's pay from $[illegible]00 to $4,000 a year.

JUDGE TO DECIDE IF LAW BANNING BALM IS INVALID

Judge Charles A. Williams in Superior court yesterday took under advisement the validity of a 1935 Illinois law banning alienation of affections suits. He will rule in the action of Charles Zaremba, 4559 S. Washtenaw av., against Anthony Skurdialis, 4520 S. Francisco av. Zaremba seeks $50,000 for the alleged theft of his wife's affections. Atty. Sol R. Freidman, representing Zaremba, argued the law deprives wronged individuals of redress in court. He pointed out that legislation barring the naming of co-respondents in divorce actions has been held not constitutional.

Can BORDERLINE ANEMIA* Sap Your Stamina and Strength?

THE answer is yes! Borderline Anemia can steal away your pep and vigor—can take all the fun out of life. Borderline Anemia makes people pale and listless.

And medical records say that thousands and thousands of men—as many as 68% of women—suffer from a Borderline Anemia resulting from a ferro-nutritional deficiency of the blood.

You Need Big Red Blood Cells to Release Energy

If your oxygen-carrying, energy-releasing red cells aren't sufficiently large and rich, you can't hope to keep your full vigor. Your blood is the "supply line" of energy to every muscle, every fibre of your body.

Better Blood, More Energy with Ironized Yeast

Yes, if you grow fatigued with little effort—if you're continually pale and pepless—you may have Borderline Anemia. But there is a way to improved vitality—easy-to-take Ironized Yeast Tablets can help you!

Of course your condition might be due to other causes, so your doctor should be consulted regularly. If you have a Borderline Anemia*, Ironized Yeast Tablets will help you by building up your blood . . . by renewing your energy.

Start taking Ironized Yeast Tablets today to look better, to feel better, to be better. Insist on genuine Ironized Yeast. At all drug stores.

Energy-Building Blood

This is what the doctor sees through his microscope looking at blood rich in energy-elements. Note big, plentiful red cells that carry oxygen to release energy to every muscle, limb, tissue.

Borderline Anemia

Thousands have blood like this—and never know it. Note puny size and irregular shape of red cells. Blood like this can't generate the energy you need! Only sturdy blood can give you top energy.

EVER SIP A $2,000,000 OLD FASHIONED?

● Here's the recipe below! We call it a $2,000,000 "dream of a drink"—because that's what Fleischmann invested in grains, skill and research before we released one golden bottle of this rich, luxurious, straight bourbon whiskey. We make it in limited amounts. We have to—it's so delicious!

FIRST, GET FLEISCHMANN'S BOND

THEN DO THIS!

1
Place ½ level teaspoon of granulated sugar in Old Fashioned glass! Add 2 or 3 dashes of Angostura bitters, and just enough water to dissolve the sugar!

2
Muddle thoroughly. Add ice cubes, and 1½ oz. of smooth, delicious Fleischmann's BOND! Then stir!

3
Twist a strip of lemon peel over top and drop rind in drink! Garnish to suit with Maraschino cherry, a slice of orange, or a strip of pineapple!

CLOSE YOUR EYES

. . . and think for a moment who these boys might be. Maybe you knew them. A son—a brother—or that neighbor's boy who played with your kids.

They'll never come back, but you can help save the lives of thousands of other boys by investing your extra dollars in War Bonds today.

● Money invested in War Bonds isn't a gift. The money is still yours, and it earns interest while helping to win the war. . . . But the time now has come when you are asked to buy bonds in amounts that will be a severe sacrifice, if only a temporary one.

The Seventh War Loan Drive must do the work that two big drives did last year. The need is urgent. Your quota is stiff. It has to be. The job yet to be done is stiff.

And the cost will be stiff—in blood and money.

Stock Simple Snack Foods for Children

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1945: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"My aunt has been staying with us for the past six months, and she is quite distressed about the way the children are allowed to eat between meals. She thinks it will cause them to have stomach ailments in future years," a woman said to me the other day.

The idea that a child should not eat between meals has, thank goodness, passed into limbo.

When a child goes to school he has to have his breakfast between 7:30 and 8 o'clock in the morning, in order to arrive there on time. Most schools today allow for a recess period when the younger children have milk and crackers, and the older ones have an opportunity to eat fruit or cookies brought from home, or to purchase a snack at the school cafeteria. This, they find, not only fills the gap between breakfast and lunch but also makes for less restlessness and more concentration in the class room.

When our children are little we have to follow the doctor's directions as to the kinds and quantities of food they must be fed, but they very soon get to the age when we don't have to watch with an eagle eye every single thing they eat. They run and romp, play baseball, football, basketball, hockey, skate, and dance, and are, figuratively speaking, able to digest nails.

Of course we do expand their diet. And, being fairly well posted, we know that some of the things that used to be considered taboo aren't. When that age comes we can give them access to the cooky jar or its equivalent.

It's a good thing to have a cooky jar, or its equivalent, for growing girls and boys of any age. They give more heed to that gnawing feeling than the little ones. They recognize it as hunger, and, if you haven't arranged things so that they can find something to eat when they need it, you'll invariably hear, "Mom, I'm hungry!" This merely needs foresight on your part, not expensive provisioning, for the simplest fare—crackers or cookies and milk—amply fills the bill.

Having a well filled larder doesn't mean catering only to their physical needs, altho this is most important. It means a certain hominess, too. When two or three are gathered together—family or young friends—making a midafternoon or evening raid on the cooky jar or the ice box—there's more in the air then than the mere consumption of food.

Get Algonquin Ready to Open Its New Season

Camp Algonquin, scenic, oak shaded outing spot on the Fox river 40 miles northwest of Chicago, is being scrubbed into readiness for the arrival on June 25 of the season's first group of the city's underprivileged mothers and children. The camp is operated for them by United Charities with the generous assistance of Chicago Tribune readers.

White enameled cribs have been sterilized, mattresses aired and beaten, and in one gigantic housekeeping putsch the kitchen pots, pans, refrigerators, and stoves have been scoured and polished. Maintenance men are fixing the plumbing, the boilers, and the swimming pool. And the rowboats have been taken out of winter storage and recaulked.

In fact, everything is ready except for one single personnel problem which grew out of the need of a foster home for a cat. Mrs. Astrid Save, camp director for 25 years, discovered an excellent cook who would work at the camp provided a suitable foster home for her 17 year old tomcat could be found.

United Charities, old in the business of finding foster homes for babies, undertook to solve this variation of its usual problem, but when it failed to hear again from the prospective cook, decided that maybe a cook is still needed rather than a cat's guardian.

This is the 36th season the camp has been operated in its present setup, but United Charities first established an outing spot for Chicago's underprivileged mothers and children in 1897 on the outskirts of Oak Park. Year in and year out, the camp experience has brought health to and lifted the spirits of tired mothers and children. Contributions toward the project may be addressed to the Camp Algonquin fund, the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., Tribune Tower, Chicago.

APPROVAL

"Look, let's be sensible," he said. "Darling." "Yes." Winnie settled back. "You'll never be able to get more than a faint suspicion of how I feel about you. But I won't go into that. Haven't time. I am going into the navy. Or, if they won't have me, the army will."

"Well, so what?"

"I don't want any girl waiting for me to come home and marry her, to be brutally frank. If I'm all messed up . . . or finished . . . I want it to be just on me. See?"

"No. I don't see. I'll be frank, too. Suppose every service man felt the way you do. What would happen to the population?"

Kim tried to laugh. "The population. Well, well."

"Yes. We can be married right away and I can have them partly brought up by the time you get home."

"Them?"

"Didn't you ever hear of twins?"

Kim burst into a shout of laughter, a little crazy and not quite steady, and Winnie joined in. And suddenly, it seemed perfectly natural that she should be in his arms, with his mouth on hers.

"And suddenly it seemed perfectly natural that she should be in his arms . . ."

The little cottage living room seemed very full when Kim and Winnie came into it. But there were only Sen. North, Miss Warburton, and a slender man who seemed to be made of very elegant, flexible gray steel. He sprang to his feet.

"Hi, father." Winnie gave him a hug and kiss. She did it without letting go Kim's arm. "And this is Kim."

Her father said sarcastically, "You didn't have to hang on to them when you left home, Win. You must be losing your grip. Won't he stand without hitching? Kim who?"

"I'm not going to risk it. Jason Kimball, father."

North interpolated, "You know, Leslie. One I told you about. Morgan Riley's nephew."

The two men clasped hands but their voices were lost in Winnie's squeal. "Kim! Why didn't you tell me you were Morgan Riley's nephew?"

Kim turned a fierce pink. "Because it has nothing to do with me. It's mere accident that my mother happens to be his sister. Why? Would it have mattered to you?"

"Of course not, darling." Winnie gave him a glorious smile.

Kim tried to compose himself. He was furious at North for ferreting out and disclosing the fact.

The senator was giving him a cynical but sympathetic smile. "Sorry to butt into your affairs, Kimball, but the police had to know from where those anonymous telegrams came. I began to recall that Riley's sister's name was Kimball and called him long distance the other day. He admitted he was trying to get a report on the Jennesmas from you, too."

"I told him a dozen times I wouldn't spy out the land for him here," Kim said. "I knew you'd give him the straight dope, senator. But he kept on needling me with those wires. I just ignored 'em."

"The police aren't pleased about it," North said. "But at least, they've crossed you off the list."

Farnsworth Leslie managed to get his daughter's attention.

"You're coming back to Philadelphia with me, young lady, at once. Better go up and pack. We can make the night train."

"But I can't . . ."

"You heard me."

"I'm engaged," Winnie cried triumphantly. "Engaged to Kim. We're going to be married at once."

Leslie looked Kim over. He seemed able to take it.

"Very well. Come on home and we'll all talk it over with your mother."

Winnie gasped.

"O, well. All right. I suppose Kim can spare the time. Is mother home?"

Mr. Leslie sighed. "No doubt Maj. Leslie's colonel will give her enough of a leave of absence to discuss her only daughter's wedding."

"Gee. Is mother a major already?"

"That's not the attitude, my child. You mean, why did it take two months to recognize her outstanding ability? But get packed."

Winnie hesitated, smiled again at Kim and went up the stairs.

Kim decided to reserve his comments.

He said, "I'll arrange to store my car, Mr. Leslie, and meet you at the train."

For the first time Farnsworth Leslie gave him a charming, friendly smile.

He said out of the side of his mouth. "Just like her mother. But I'll give you a few tips."

It was a typical Michigan day, stolen from April's book. Sen. North stood at his bedroom window. But most of his mind was on the coming interview to which Sybrand Jennesma had invited him.

Sybrand, undoubtedly would insist on a decision on his proposition. If North said the "no" he had ready, he would have to get out. Who, then, would protect Olivia?

He had implored her to leave, but she wouldn't do it. Something she was concealing!

At 10:30 North gathered up his notes and went down the thickly carpeted stairs.

He tapped on Sybrand's door, and was told to enter.

At first, he could hardly see, it was so dark. The overcast sky shut off much of the light and the draperies did the rest. But he made out Sybrand's big bulk behind his desk.

"Come in, come in, senator."

North complied. But he felt uneasy. For the last few days, every time he had seen Jennesma he had got a queer feling that the man was doomed. There seemed to be an evil cloud hanging over him as if he would be next in the list of victims.

He said, "Rather dark in here, isn't it?"

"O, I suppose so. The light hurts my eyes. Must have scorched them when I burned my hands. Turn on that lamp beside you."

"No thanks. You wanted to see me?"

"Yes. I won't keep you long. Just want you to tell Mr. Morgan Riley I've decided not to ask him to invest in our—my—business."

North was amazed. He'd come down prepared for all sorts of possibilities, but not this one.

"That so? Why not?"

Sybrand sighed, exasperatedly. "I should think it would be obvious. You know what I've been thru here. This last blow was too much. I haven't heart or strength left for anything."

"But you have excellent assistants, well trained. You can always hire competent executives. The engine is good."

Head of Lutheran Synod Tells Peril in Spread of Nihilism

Moline, Ill., June 7 [Special]—Nihilism is the force abroad in the world seeking to destroy Christian civilization, Dr. P. O. Bersell of Minneapolis, president of the Augustana Lutheran synod, declared at the opening business session of the 86th convention of the synod here today. He also warned against acceptance of government control over American life.

Dr. Bersell said that the world cataclysm now confronting the church demands a united front on the part of all Christian forces and urged unity among Lutherans and in coöperation with the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America and the World Council of Churches.

The speaker confessed to a spirit of pessimism over prospects for world peace, declaring that "if we had assurance that it would be a permanent peace our joy would be unbounded. Sorrowfully we realize that it may be but an armistice of doubtful duration, for another power is in ascendancy that holds within it a threat to Christian civilization as dreadful as any that has gone before.

"All that stands for absolute state control of religion, labor, and social relations is nihilism," declared the synod president, "over against the sovereignty of God and the divinity of redeemed and regenerated man. It will tolerate only an absolutely supine and subservient church that has lost its spiritual power and abdicated its divine authority."

Headed for Heartbreaks Because Of This Neglect?

It is a tragedy to see a sweet little girl gradually grow up into a self-conscious one who, by the time she is 16, is ashamed to smile because of bad teeth or ashamed to dance because of her bowed legs! But it is a tragedy that can happen to any girl, yours included, who from birth grows up on a diet inadequate in the bone-building minerals and Vitamin D, so essential to strong bones and sound teeth.

Deficiency in these minerals, especially calcium, often is a limiting factor in bodily development. That is one reason doctors talk so much about milk for growing children. Milk is our best food source of calcium. Do your children get enough milk... at least a quart every day? Many children just don't like to take that much every day! That's why Cocomalt in milk is so helpful.

Cocomalt* is so rich in calcium, it makes 3 glasses of milk equal to a whole quart in calcium value! (Also, this supplies the day's full minimum requirements for iron, phosphorus, Vitamins B_1 and D.) And remember, too, Cocomalt's delicious chocolaty flavor makes children love their milk! Start your children on Cocomalt today. Save this as a reminder.

*3 heaping tsps. to 8-oz. glass of milk.

Drive Seeks Funds to Bring Netherlands Students to U. S.

BY JUDITH CASS

FOUR thousand letters will be put in the mail Monday by the Netherland-America Foundation asking for contributions of $5 and $10 to bring to the United States the pick of students from Dutch universities. The opportunity will be provided for these young men and women to complete their training in the fields of agriculture, engineering, social welfare, public health, nursing, and medicine in our universities before going back to help in the work of reconstructing Holland.

When the Germans overran Holland they did their best to change the ideology of the students and teachers in the universities, the letters explain. The Nazis shot or imprisoned the more defiant professors. The students struck and the universities were closed or deserted. At the end of the war the foundation plans to continue its purpose of furthering understanding and friendship between America and Holland by sending young American students to Netherlands universities.

At a meeting of the Chicago chapter of the foundation Wednesday in the Astor st. home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Ryerson it was revealed by Alfred P. Shaw and John U. Nef of the committee that the University of Chicago and several other midwestern universities have made available scholarships for the foundation's use. Mrs. Ryerson, secretary of the branch, said that the average yearly cost for each student would be $730.

Mrs. Barrett Wendell, chairman; Dr. Franklyn B. Snyder, vice chairman, and Mrs. Charles S. Clark, secretary, are other officers of the group. Mrs. Clark's signature will be on the letters going to 1,700 women's clubs. Some of the others who are working on the drive for money are Jan A. Schurman, consul general of the Netherlands; Stephen Y. Hord, Frank H. Woods Jr., Nathaniel A. Owings, Mrs. Stanley Keith, and H. Belin Vorhees.

Wedding News

The announcement that the date for the wedding of Miss Sarah Gilchrist Hyde to Eugene Ralph Head has been set for Saturday, June 23, reveals the recent marriage of the bride's sister, Miss Elizabeth Cole, to John Donald, on May 26 in Port of Spain, Trinidad. The new Mrs. Donald has been serving with the United States consulate in Port of Spain. Her marriage took place in the Presbyterian church of that city, and neither she nor her husband who is in business there will be able to be present at Miss Hyde's wedding.

Miss Hyde, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Hyde of Winnetka, and Mr. Head, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Head of Kenosha, Wis., will be married at 4:30 p. m. in the chapel of St. Luke's Episcopal church, Evanston, of which Dr. Hyde is the noted organist. Only the families and a few close friends will be present. Mrs. Hyde's son, William Hale Cole, and his wife and children will be among the wedding guests, but her other son, Corp. John Allen Cole, still is with the army in Italy. His wife will come from Goshen, Conn., for the ceremony.

Miss Claire Head will be the bride's only attendant, and Mr. Head will be his son's best man. Mrs. Hammond Bradley will give a shower and "brunch" for Miss Hyde at home in Winnetka Sunday. Miss Muriel MacChesney and Miss Helen Salomon will give a miscellaneous shower for Miss Hyde next Wednesday in Miss MacChesney's home. Mr. and Mrs. C. Colton Daughaday will give a dinner at home in Winnetka a week from tomorrow for Mr. Head and his fiancée.

Lt. Col. Henry E. Gardiner of the army, who was among the 50 men who came to Chicago for Memorial day with Gen. Mark Clark, will take Miss Rita Singstad as his bride June 19 in New York. The wedding will take place in St. Thomas' church, with the rector, the Rev. Dr. Roelif H. Brooks, officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ole Singstad of New York. Her only attendant will be Miss Margot Rivas of Santiago, Chile, daughter of Mrs. Eduvigis De Rivas and the late Manuel Rivas Vicuna, former ambassador to France, Italy, and Peru, and president of the council of the League of Nations in 1936.

Capt. George E. Hale of Chicago, now stationed in Washington, D. C., will be best man. He and Col. Gardiner served together in the Black Horse troop. Col. Gardiner and his bride will fly to Mexico on a wedding trip. They will be at home in Chicago when he is discharged from the army.

Engagement News

Mr. and Mrs. Norton H. Weber of Winnetka announce the engagement of their daughter, Norma Lucille, to Philip B. McLaughlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip A. McLaughlin of Tucson, Ariz. Miss Weber attended Sullins Junior college and has completed her junior year at the University of Arizona. Her fiancé was graduated from the university in 1944 and is in business in Tucson.

From Harrisburg, Pa., comes the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Ellwood E. Bullers of the engagement and approaching marriage June 23 of their daughter, Elizabeth, to Ensign Raleigh T. Williams II., son of Dr. and Mrs. Aubrey T. Williams of Winnetka. Miss Buller is a graduate of William and Mary college. Ensign Williams was graduated from Northwestern university and recently returned from nine months of duty in the Pacific. The wedding will take place in Harrisburg.

Ensign Fuller to Take Bride in East Today

Ensign William T. Fuller's Chicago friends and relatives can look forward to meeting Miss Mary C. Dortch, the young woman who will become his bride today in the east, some time within the near future. The ceremony will take place in the chapel of the United States Naval academy in Annapolis, Md., from which Ensign Fuller was graduated Wednesday.

The bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Le Roy W. Fuller, and aunt, Mrs. Bruce Borland, will not be in Annapolis for the wedding, but his mother, Mrs. Ada Norfleet Fuller, made the trip from Memphis, Tenn. After a 10 day stay at Sea Island, Ga., Ensign Fuller and his bride will go to Memphis. If they are unable to stop in Chicago en route to the west coast, Ensign Fuller's bride will visit here on her way back east after he has gone to sea. She is the daughter of Mrs. Isaac F. Dortch of Annapolis and of the late Capt. Dortch of the navy. Ensign Fuller's father was the late William A. Fuller of Chicago.

The orders which Lt. [j. g.] John D. Gillies of the naval reserve received on V-E day in the Mediterranean theater of war gave him permission to start immediately for a 36 day leave in this country. He arrived last Saturday in Kenilworth, and he and Miss Loraine Doris Kirtland will be married at 8:30 o'clock tonight in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Marion Kirtland.

Mrs. Weston Pullen will be Miss Kirtland's matron of honor, and Miss Sue Sullivan will serve as maid of honor. Best man will be Robert G. Brock of Fullerton, Cal. Lt. Gillies, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Gillies of Alhambra, Cal., will take his bride to Santa Barbara, Cal., before he reports for special training in San Francisco, where they will be at home temporarily.

Capt. and Mrs. Edwin A. Wollenson of Evanston and Dr. and Mrs. Everett B. Williams of Cuyler av. are in Providence, R. I., for the marriage this afternoon of the Wollensons' daughter, Katherine, and Lt. Comdr. Williams Jr. of the naval reserve. Among the attendants will be Comdr. Williams' brother, Lt. Comdr. Danforth D. Williams, who made the trip from Norfolk, Va., with his wife to serve as best man. Comdr. Williams and his bride will stay in Providence until he takes command of a new ship. The bride's father is in command at Navy pier.

Announcement has been made of the marriage in Reno, Nev., May 27 of Mrs. Rudolph Henning of Chicago and John Mackinlay of San Francisco. Before her marriage to the late Mr. Henning, Mrs. Mackinlay was Miss Yvonne de Ojeda of San Francisco, member of a well known California family. Before the war she lived for some time in London and Paris. Mr. and Mrs. Mackinlay are at home in San Francisco.

Her visit here is part of an extended tour of chapters thru the west and middlewest. Miss Alice Gerstenberg, president of Chicago chapter, will entertain at dinner for Mrs. Ferguson tonight in her home at 1120 Lake Shore dr. and tomorrow night the visitor's dinner hostess will be Mrs. Carl V. Wisner, who heads the northern Illinois branch.

If You Eat Out, Then Get Used to Vegetables!

Chicagoans who eat out were advised yesterday to get used to vegetables, fish, eggs, and spaghetti, and to curb appetites for meats and sweets. The suggestion was made by D. F. Kiesau, executive secretary of the Chicago Restaurant association following the OPA announcement of the cut in supplies of rationed foods to restaurants during July and August and a rumored slash of sugar to confectioners.

"All the days will be meatless days," Mr. Kiesau said, in describing the prospect for restaurant patrons. He added that it is virtually impossible to obtain chickens and that turkeys are almost as scarce. Even the supplies of eggs will diminish soon, he predicted.

The restaurants will take what they can get and put it together as interestingly as possible, he said. However, this summer's hit parade on the menus will be mostly spaghetti, eggs, vegetable plates, and salads.

The new order hits all institutional users. The sugar ration is reduced to .015 pound a person from .021 pound a person a meal. It compares with the home allocation of .014 pound a person. The order allows .64 red point a person a meal and .60 blue point a person a meal as compared with .55 in both red and blue points for home users.

Eking out restaurant meals with a candy bar was not a hopeful prospect, judging by reports yesterday at a session of the Chicago confectioners in the Palmer House. There were repetitions of the persistent rumor that third quarter sugar supplies may be cut to 40 per cent of the confectioners' base, which is set at 1941 levels. Second quarter supplies have been 65 per cent of the 1941 figures.

The Chicago confectioners, a unit of the National Confectioners' association, looked ahead, however, to dozens of new kinds of candy made from farm products. Dr. H. H. Hall, of the agriculture research department, reporting on experiments conducted by the department of agriculture in regional laboratories in New Orleans, La., told of 109 different candies made in the last year.

The confectioners already use a list of 80 farm products, and the research workers are experimenting now with the following list: Cottonseed flour, hearts of wheat, soya meal, peanut meal, sunflower seed meal, rice polishings, dehydrated cranberries, citrous juice concentrate, and purees of fruits.

In the army, candy has to be candy, Capt. Vernon M. White of the quartermaster corps subsistence research and development laboratory, Chicago, told the confectioners. GI Joe, he said, will not take "alleged confections which are thinly disguised health or cereal foods."

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

Ingredients of Success

Some one in business has remarked that success is ability plus incentive. Many persons of moderate ability, said this one observer of our white collar girls, achieve it because of a strong impulse to succeed.

All of us have seen the example of a flighty girl working half-heartedly, and then have watched this same girl come to grips with her job several years later. Perhaps by then she has married; perhaps she is a widow with a child to support. Possibly there is a mortgage to worry about; school books, clothing, and education to be reckoned. She works with a drive unknown to her before.

In considering how successful a woman is going to be we can't eliminate the question: "How successful does she need to be?" Necessity also is the mother of ambition!

But How Keep 'Em That Way?

How should those hosiery seams run? If WCG's "grables" are on the bowed side, let's try running the seam just a bit to the outside of the center; if the problem is knees that knock, bring the seams a bit to the inside of center. Just an optical illusion, but it should rate a whistle.

Fresh vegetables find a favored place on summer menus for two good reasons: They're point savers and they're garden fresh. Some of the favorites, such as asparagus and corn on the cob, are presented too often in the conventional way, cooked and served with butter or margarine. In these days of extending meals with more and more vegetables, why not be more ingenious?

Tho most persons enjoy eating corn from the cob during its brief season, an occasional luncheon dish using fresh corn, cooked and cut from the cob, will be enjoyed. Likewise, green beans dressed up with mustard and worcestershire sauce, cream sauce with minced onion, or with vinegar sauce have an added appeal.

Baked Corn and Tomatoes
[Serves six]

1½ cups cooked corn
2½ cups tomatoes, fresh or canned
½ cup chopped onions
½ cup chopped green pepper
¾ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
8 soda crackers, crushed

Combine all ingredients; pour into greased baking dish. Bake uncovered for 30 minutes in hot oven [400 degrees].

Green Beans with Vinegar Sauce
[Serves five]

1 tablespoon fat
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
¼ cup cider vinegar
¼ cup liquid from beans
2 tablespoons corn sirup
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
3 cups cooked green beans

Melt fat; add onion and cook until tender. Stir in vinegar, liquid from beans, sirup, salt, and pepper. Heat thoroly. Pour over green beans and serve.

Cabbage and carrots are so-called winter vegetables, but actually they're on the market all year around. This summer they should play an important and economical part in daily meals. Almost any left-over fruit or vegetable combines well with shredded cabbage for a tossed salad. Use canned or fresh peaches, pineapple, or pears; marshmallows and fruit, apples and nuts, chopped green pepper, shredded raw or diced cooked beets, diced celery, chopped green pepper, and peanuts. Carrots take their place with celery and radishes as a relish vegetable or in combination salad bowls.

Baked Cabbage with Sour Cream
[Serves four]

2 tablespoons bacon fat
1 clove garlic
1 onion, sliced
½ green pepper, sliced or chopped
½ cup sour cream
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
3 cups shredded cabbage

Melt fat; add garlic and cook until brown. Remove garlic; add onion and green pepper. Cook gently for 5 minutes, without browning. Combine cream, salt, and pepper. Add onion and green pepper to cabbage; stir in cream. Pour into greased casserole and bake in moderately hot oven [375 degrees] for 45 minutes.

For a hearty main dish, serve spareribs baked with sauerkraut. Brown spareribs on both sides; sprinkle with salt and pepper. Line bottom of shallow baking dish with ribs, cover with cooked sauerkraut, and top with remaining ribs. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) for one hour. Allow ½ pound spareribs per serving. Smoked spareribs, now available, also can be prepared this way.

Sugar Saving Frosting of Chocolate for Cake

A cake without icing is like a hat without trimming. Try this sugar saving chocolate frosting the next time you bake a cake. Melt two squares unsweetened chocolate in a double boiler, add one and a third cups sweetened condensed milk [one can] and stir over boiling water five minutes until mixture thickens. Add one tablespoon water and cool before spreading frosting. For variety add eight quartered marshmallows to the foregoing ingredients and omit the water. Stir until they begin to blend but before they are fully dissolved.

Here Are Helpful Don'ts for Cooking Vegetables

In the interests of good nutrition, observe the following don'ts when cooking vegetables. Don't overcook vegetables, don't hold them too long before serving, don't cook in large amounts of water, don't pour cooking liquid down the drain, don't start cooking in cold water. And an especially big DON'T on adding soda to green peas and beans—in fact to any vegetable. The alkali destroys vitamins in a hurry.

Experts Dispute Planners' Rosy Meat Promises

BY ARNOLD ERICKSON

Planners in Washington are serving more rosy promises to a meat hungry population, but these will be no more satisfying to the appetite than the cold facts which stock yards men have been relating. New dream stories have been circulated of coming juicy beef steaks, skillets full of pork chops, and broiling tender lamb chops for this summer. Unfortunately, what the average American family really will get is less meat than it ever has had, according to Chicago interests which are well informed on distribution.

Only a miracle can stave off an even worse civilian meat situation than any yet experienced, and that miracle is not likely to occur. It's sad, but true, that none of the planners can create something from nothing. In other words, it will be necessary to wait until the seasonal production rise next winter for more meat. Even the planners must wait on nature to create, and nature takes its own time in such matters.

The number of animals on farms has declined, forced downward by price programs, and slaughter volume will not rise sufficiently to give civilians more meat before winter. Even then their portion will depend largely on how much, above the actual needs of the military services, is taken by federal buyers for the lend-lease. The hope that abandonment of lend-lease for a time as production hits low this summer will bring civilians more meat is without much foundation, because it is expected the seasonal production slump will more than offset the lend-lease quantity. In fact, the situation for consumers has been getting worse for some weeks, and lend-lease has bought no fresh or cured beef for the last two months, no lamb or mutton for nine weeks, only 23,000 pounds of fresh and frozen pork for six weeks, and no cured pork for two weeks.

Requirements of the men in service have been rising and are expected to go up still more as lengthening of shipping routes increases losses. Production is nearing that summer period of shortages about which industry and farm leaders have been warning for many months. The OPA version of the tightening situation is that needs of the services have increased greatly and more than offset the decline in lend-lease allotments. This is only half the story. The other half is that billions of pounds of potential meat lie idle as grain in farm cribs, held there by price rules discouraging heavy grain feeding to animals.

The pork picture immediately ahead is darker than the beef outlook. No statistics are needed to tell the housewives how bad the present meat problem is, but a glance at production trends of other years indicates what can be expected. In almost all years the pork output hits the year's low in August and September. After federal requirements are filled, your chances of having that skillet filled with pork chops in those two months will be about 25 per cent poorer than they were last month.

THE QUESTION

Which of the special privileges that your parents grant you do you appreciate the most?

WHERE ASKED

Chicago Museum of Natural History.

THE ANSWERS

Richard Sandberg, 12, of 2854 Sunnyside av.—My parents own a cottage on lower Eau Claire lake in Wisconsin. We go up there July 1 and stay all summer. For the last two years they let me take a friend with us to spend the summer. The cottage is 13 miles from town so I think it's really swell having a pal with me.

Carol Boudreau, 11, 1055 S. Myrtle av., Kankakee—Since I was five years old I've skated on ice. I love to skate and hope some day to make it my profession. I live in Kankakee and my parents know I like to watch ice shows. Daddy has taken me to Chicago several times especially so I could see the ice shows.

Roger Pfahning, 13, of 4242 N. Whipple st.—Mother and dad usually let me go on a camping trip in the summer. This summer I'm going to Wisconsin for my whole vacation. I love outdoor life and there's nothing they could do that I would appreciate more than this trip. It's a perfect place to go boating, swimming, and fishing.

Gael Turner, 11, Clarkdale, Ariz.—You see, I live in a small town—Clarkdale—and the thing I enjoy more than everything else is going to Phoenix, Ariz., by myself to visit my aunt. She has a darling baby and a young son. I like getting on the bus and making the trip to the big city alone. It is a real thrill.

William R. Heyduck, 10, Centralia, Ill.—I appreciate the privilege of coming to Chicago more than anything else. When I'm here I get to go swimming in Lake Michigan. I can buy all kinds of airplane kits. I went thru the Douglas airplane factory. There's always something new and different to do in Chicago. It's fun.

It's still a bit chilly for bathing... I think I'll go make some hot coffee.
It's not too cold for me...but I'm always ready for a cup of your delicious Manor House Coffee.

Net and Mesh Hosiery Is Best Bet for Summer

BY REA SEEGER

Solve your current hosiery shopping problems by buying and wearing the smart new net and mesh weaves. Nothing is more correct with casual summer clothes, especially those of washable cottons, than cotton and rayon stockings, with the clever jacquard meshes the most effective. Run proof cotton hosiery is something else to check. For with increased activities, you'll need outdoor clothes, and with the sturdy denims, seersuckers, and cotton play clothes, you'll need equally practical and serviceable cotton stockings—can't-runs and meshes.

These amazingly sturdy stockings come in a flattering suntan shade, an all purpose suntan tone to complement every shade and tint of summer day time clothes. Mesh hosiery is a "must" for trim tailored washable summer suits of seersucker or gingham or other cottons. These mesh stockings fit smoothly, assure a slenderizing silhouette and also fit tight and smooth around the ankles. Those with vertical ribs slice inches off ankles and legs, and the suntan color also helps create the optical illusion by taking away excess inches where such strategy is so important.

A fascinating new color range is ready for the anklet socks buyers. Soft pastel rayons with such unusual tints as dove-gray, mauve, chartreuse, raspberry, and almond green, together with the time tested stand-bys of white, pink, blue, leaf-green, beige, off-white, navy, copper and black provide a wide assortment of these cool and comfortable contrasts for play and casual clothes as well as foot-gear.

The newest anklets boast soft fold-over cuffs of slightly more fuzzy material than the rest of the sock. They're soft and easy on the feet, fit smoothly, and take the daily trip thru suds and soap with the comforting assurance of being colorfast and nonshrinkable.

FASHIONS

By Angela

Father's day gifts should include something to be used in moments of relaxation on Dad's day off. Available for summer wear are some good looking washable robes, priced to spare the budget yet guaranteed to give father great pleasure. White-striped cottons are favorites, altho if you are an early bird you may uncover a few white or striped terry cloth robes.

The cool, washable rayon robe at the left, with an unusual stripe thruout, may serve either as a handsome beach robe or for just lounging. It has a large single side pocket, smartly cut shawl collar, and a wide material belt. It is available in large, medium, and small sizes.

For the more conservative who have no penchant for stripes, there is the rich, creamy white washable rayon robe in the center. Severely simple with its shawl collar, pocket, and belt, it has three pearl buttons at each side of cuffless sleeves.

In contrast to vivid red, blue, or green stripes against a white background, the robe at the right boasts pin stripes of warm brown tones thru the copper shades to soft beige. The usual single pocket, shawl collar, and belt are the only details. It is available in small, medium, and large.

Pianos Needed by Ex-Marine and Boys' Club

[Sally Joy Brown department activities are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

BY SALLY JOY BROWN

The medical profession long has recognized the rehabilitative power of music in treating certain nervous disorders. We hope, with the aid of some interested reader, to help a former marine who is suffering from a nervous disability and has been trying to adjust himself to normal routine. It was suggested that this might be accomplished more expeditiously if he found an emotional outlet in music, inasmuch as he had a particular talent for it. He is eager, therefore, to study the piano but can not afford to purchase an instrument.

An organization, which is trying to help solve the delinquency problam by offering the youth of poor and congested communities training in educational, recreational, and religious activities, has asked our assistance in obtaining a piano in good condition for a south side group. There are about 300 boys in this particular unit, many of whom have promising voices and others eager to learn music, especially piano. Instruction is available, and it is important that they have the benefit of an instrument. The operating budget is limited and altho arrangements can be made for transportation, there are no funds for repairs.

Any reader interested in filling either of the above mentioned requests may obtain further information by writing or telephoning this department.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., June 7—Frank Craven plays Olivia De Havilland's father in "To Each His Own," and if I know Frank, he'll hold his own. He's a scene stealer from away back. . . . Van Heflin gets "Green Years," A. J. Cronin's story, at Metro. . . . Those who love Dame May Whitty—and who doesn't?—may be appalled to learn she hasn't done a picture since "Gas Light." That was made 18 months ago. So she's leaving for Broadway to co-star with Eva Le Gallienne and Victor Jory in one of Zola's powerful stories, "Therese Raquin," which probably will be titled something else. Dame May's daughter, Margaret Webster, will produce. While Dame May has been the pet of Duffy's Tavern [and she's still the pet of the screen as far as I'm concerned], our writers have just overlooked her when parts were being written. More's the pity.

She's Overseas Bound at Last

Yes, Ingrid Bergman is going overseas with Jack Benny. They'll do a comedy routine together, then she'll do a dramatic scene. Ingrid wanted to go with Jack last year, so when they arranged this tour, and she was told she couldn't go because a picture was coming up, Ingrid went to work herself, with the result that they'll be on their way in a few days. Larry Adler and Martha Tilton will be with them, too. . . . Twentieth Century is still trying for Charles Boyer in "Cluny Brown"—also Joel McCrea for "Smokey," which 20th will make into a plush horse opera in Technicolor. . . . Everett Crosby is trying to buy Ivan Tor's "Story of an Army Band," which he got when he was with Glenn Miller over seas. Sounds like a good one for Bing. . . . Chief Petty Officer Keith Richards married Powers Model Carmen Gambrell Tuesday in Chicago. Congrats!

Sure to Gather in the Gold

"A Thousand and One Nights" will sure gather in the gold pieces. In fact, profits from it could pay off the mortgage on almost anything. The ending, with Frank Sinatra's voice coming out of Phil Silvers' mouth and haidmaidens turning bobby soxers, is hilarious. Frankie sang for nothing for his friend Silvers. At last Evelyn Keyes got a part that showed what a clever comedienne she is. . . . Lana Turner has a new name since she stepped on "The Postman Always Rings Twice" set in white shorts, jacket, turban, and deep suntan. She's called "The Sex Explosive," and John Garfield has caught the same malady. Metro hopes their love scenes will sizzle the screen. They're certainly sizzling the onlookers. . . . Metro has let in a fresh breeze since its younger set has taken over. Kids such as Esther Williams, June Allyson, Gloria De Haven, Van Johnson, Bob Walker, and Keenan Wynn haven't been trained in the uppity regions. You don't have to go thru conniptions to get to 'em. You just lift the telephone and ask, "Will you do this or that?" They love it. They're coöperative—yes, and grateful. And I must say, it's refreshing. Maybe that's the reason these kids have gained popularity so fast.

It Makes Them Wonder

Citizens of Malibu are wondering, with the shortages, etc., how any one can go right on building a yacht club there. There are $150,000 worth of piles being put down in the ocean. The work has been going on for six months, with lumber and all things necessary for a big building. When it's completed it probably will be turned into a huge night club. People would like to know how that can happen when most of them can't get enough lumber to build a shed. . . . Ida Lupino is being rushed off her feet by a handsome lieutenant commander in New York. . . . Pvt. Pat Faxzone writes from Rhodes General hospital, Utica, N. Y.: "Throw in a boost for Lupino. She was just here. She's a foxhole dream. What a morale booster!" . . . Mrs. Bill Bendix is going east to get her parents, who'll come here to live. Bill bought the house for them. . . . Dick Hyland was taken to a beautiful but overdressed mansion to dine. As he left he was asked by his friend how he liked it. "Too much rum and rococo," said Dick.

A Lot Goes On in the Dark in Mystery Movie

"THE UNSEEN"

Produced by Paramount, directed by Lewis Allen, and featuring Joel McCrea, Gail Russell, Herbert Marshall, Phyllis Brooks, Isobel Elsom, Mikhail Rasumny, Tom Tully, Nona Griffith, Richard Lyon, Elizabeth Risdon, and Norman Lloyd. Presented at the Chicago.

By Mae Tinée

Unlike many movies, "The Unseen" cannot be accused of having an inappropriate title—it's just about as nebulous after you've seen it as before, and you can't spot anything except blackness for a good deal of the footage. It's a mystery, and much of it remains so after the film is over. It seemed to me that there were a lot of goings-on which were completely unnecessary to the plot but were just thrown in for effect.

It all begins with a creepy looking deserted house on Crescent dr. and a nosy old lady who pays dearly for her curiosity. The adjoining residence, altho populated and furnished, is equally creepy—the occupants being a rather disagreeable man, his belligerent and sneaky little son, and an intimidated baby daughter.

Gail Russell is the girl who moves in on this outfit, hired as a governess for the problem children, and why she stayed after the first 24 hours I'll never know. The father [Joel McCrea] is rude and bullying to her, the boy, Barnaby, announces to her face that he hates her, and little Ellen tells her some outrageous fibs right off the bat. [Both Richard Lyon and Nona Griffith do nice work in these roles.]

What mystery writers would do without women, I don't know. They're always the ones who, when warned of danger, waltz right into it—and the young governess is no exception to the rule. When she hears queer noises and sees funny people, instead of heading for the door or the police, she makes a beeline for the darkened basement or gets into conversation with the sinister character, thus causing the pot of mystery to come to a rapid boil.

Music has a prominent part in this business—Barnaby spends all his time playing a raucous version of "There'll Be Some Changes Made" on his small phonograph, a part of the plot makes it necessary for some one to play "Beautiful Dreamer" over and over again on the piano, and even little Nancy obliges with what sounded to me like a simplified version of a gavotte.

The cast is able, the photography excellent, and the suspense is heightened by a couple of exciting chases thru the dark, but I wouldn't be surprised if you know whodunit well before the finish.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 club	Pass	2 clubs	Pass
3 clubs	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

Today's hand is of the homespun variety, yet a number of better than average players who held it in a recent tournament were unable to cope successfully with the simple problem that it presented. The bidding actually proceeded in several ways.

North invariably opened with one club and most South players responded with two clubs. At this point most of the Norths, holding only two honor tricks were discouraged from taking any further action and the bidding subsided. The contract was fulfilled with an overtrick. At another table South felt that he had too much for a simple raise and decided to make the unorthodox response of one diamond. This was raised by North to two diamonds and South then bid three clubs. Hoping that partner would be short in hearts North elected to bid five clubs, which was of course, defeated two tricks.

At still another table, North after hearing the raise to two clubs went on to three of that suit and South took no further action, because he felt he was too wide open in spades and diamonds. Only one pair bid the hand in the manner indicated here and were well rewarded by scoring a game. I believe their bidding to be eminently sound.

I think the raise to two clubs is South's best choice. It tends to relieve partner's anxiety about the weakness of the trump suit and furthermore a raise from one to two in a minor suit is usually somewhat better than the ordinary raise, because with a very mediocre hand partner will be more inclined to bid one of a suit instead of increasing the contract. When this raise comes in North has a reasonable expectancy of running six club tricks, which with his two aces brings the total of eight. If partner has an other taking trick, a no trump game is within reach, provided the opposition does not run off with too many heart tricks. The three club bid at this point strongly urges partner to bid three no trump if he can. Since spades have not been adversely bid South is justified in taking a chance that that suit cannot be run by the opposition. North will probably have something in the suit since he should have six clubs to the king and at least two other tricks.

Household Forum

By Louise Bargelt

Mrs. Bill S., Chicago—I have converted an old tea wagon into a carryall for my household cleaning articles and wheel it from room to room as I work. Easier than a basket—and it has space for everything, including pail, rinse pail, brushes, and vacuum attachments.

Lily T., Escanaba, Mich.—I have learned that if you think a color isn't very "fast," the quicker you can dry it after washing it, the better.

Mrs. Dan. W., Gary, Ind.—When I want to give a veil new freshness by pressing it over a sheet of waxed paper, I am careful not to use a hot iron but only a moderately warm one to avoid melting the wax.

Thru the Looking Glass

We almost hate to mention it, and certainly it seems as tho in this highly grooming conscious world it shouldn't be necessary to mention it, but have you noticed that more than a few young girls and women trotting about in open toed sandals, sans stockings, need to be reminded that exposed toes should be kept awfully, awfully clean?

We might as well face the fact that there is nothing very pretty about a bare foot, unless it's the satiny, tiny, pinky one of a small baby. The adult foot is a strong and invaluable piece of human mechanism, but it ain't pretty! All you can hope to do when you expose your foot to the public view is to keep it clean, and the nails beautifully groomed, so that it will just pass muster.

Open toed shoes don't help keep the feet clean. As a matter of fact, when you wear them about city streets or dusty country lanes you actually shovel dirt into the shoe, and a pretty shocking amount of that dirt is bound to cling to toes and nails, where it's decidedly unaesthetic.

The bobby sockers, we noticed, seem to forget about this. Their toes are often tinted bright red, but the polish coat is chipped and all around the nail edges and the toes there are unmistakable evidences of plain, ordinary dirt. It's nauseating.

The very choice of wearing toeless shoes and skipping stockings imposes an obligation to groom the feet to perfection. The cleanliness is most important. Next comes the necessity for keeping the skin soft, not horny, so that it looks and feels better. Then comes grooming. Clean the nails, shape them conservatively, persuade cuticle back, and as a final touch, apply polish. But never, never be seen in chipped polish . . . it's much worse than none.

Louisville, Ky., June 7—Some time tomorrow morning officials of Churchill Downs will accept the names of the probable starters in Saturday's 71st running of the $75,000 added Kentucky Derby—and there will be at least 14 of them from present indications, altho owners of 17 still were hopeful today that their color bearers would parade before one of the Derby's largest crowds.

The starting field right now depends almost entirely upon the weather and the resultant condition of the track at post time [about 5:05 p. m. Chicago time]. This has been a rainy spring in the Blue Grass country and Derby week rainfall has been particularly plentiful. Weather bureau forecasts, too, point to more rain and there's little doubt in the minds of owners and trainers that the Derby will be run on an off track, perhaps the first muddy strip since H. P. Gardner's Clyde Van Dusen won in 1929.

Burning Dream No Mudder

A bad track would crush the chances of E. R. Bradley for his fifth Derby victory with Burning Dream. Jimmy Smith, trainer for the venerable sportsman, said today that the son of Bimelech cares no more for mud than did his famous sire.

In addition, two of the three horses shipped in from Canada, Tom Graham's Kenilworth Lad and Harry Hatch's Fair Jester, won't go if the strip is bad.

Two of the middle west's main hopes to repel the eastern trio of F. W. Hooper's Hoop Jr., C. V. Whitney's Jeep, and Henry Lunger's Alexis, took their final workouts this morning and were pronounced ready to accept the challenge Saturday. One was Warren Wright's Pot o' Luck, the Calumet farm's classy winner of the Pimlico Futurity and the Champagne stakes last year. Pot o' Luck went three-quarters in 1:15 3-5 on a good track. The other was Mrs. W. G. Lewis' Darby Dieppe, winner of the Blue Grass stakes a week ago. The gray speedster's test for five-eighths was 1:02 2-5. He also is reported as liking muddy going.

Charles S. Howard's importation from California, Sea Swallow, breezed a half mile in :47 3-5. Fair Jester worked six furlongs in 1:18.

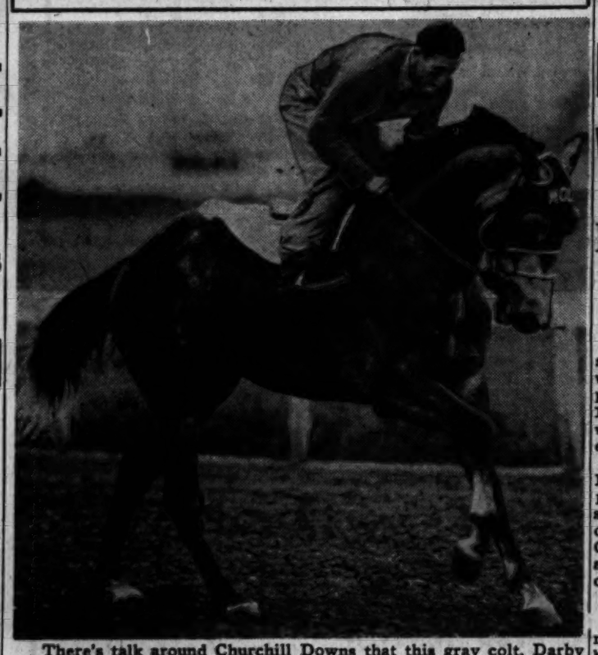
Hoop Jr., the bay son of Sir Galahad III, which caused no end of commotion around the Derby barns when he worked a mile and an eighth yesterday in the sizzling time of 1:51 3-5, went to the fore on the handicappers' sheets, being made the favorite at 5 to 2 over the 3 to 1 quotation on Jeep. The Ben Jones trained Pot o' Luck and Alexis are quoted at 5 to 1.

Pole Lane May Be a Rut

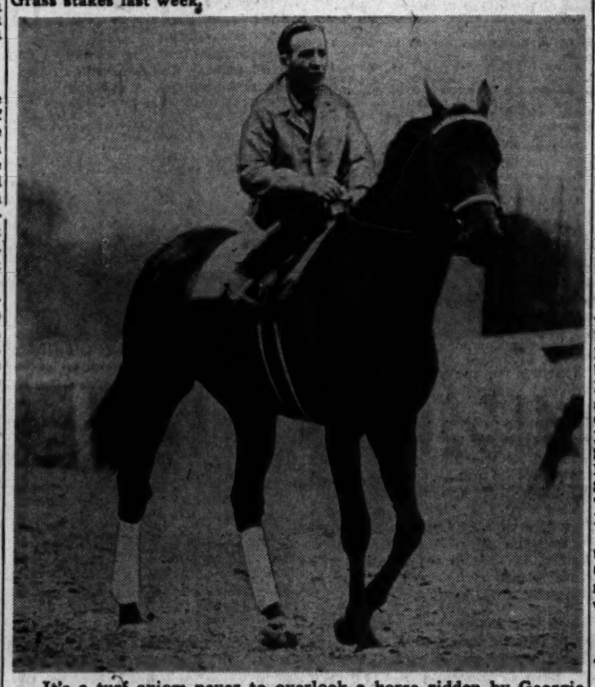
After the starters' names are slipped into the entry box tomorrow morning the important task of alloting post positions will follow. It's done with a Kelly pool bottle and numbered balls and upon this touch of fortune much depends.

Should the track be muddy, as is likely, the horses which start from the center and outside will have an appreciable advantage, as the Churchill Downs strip drains into the rail and the pole position path may become somewhat of a rut before the running of the big seventh race. Clyde Van Dusen's winning post position in 1929 was 20th in a field of 21.

EXPERTS LIKE THESE LONG SHOTS



There's talk around Churchill Downs that this gray colt, Darby Dieppe, listed at 15 to 1, is one of best bets for tomorrow's Kentucky Derby. The reason is he likes to run in the mud, of which there probably will be plenty. Owned by Mrs. W. G. Lewis, he won Blue Grass stakes last week.



It's a turf axiom never to overlook a horse ridden by Georgie Woolf in a big race. Woolf is due to ride Sea Swallow, son of the great Seabiscuit, tomorrow and for that reason present 15 to 1 odds may shorten before race time. [TRIBUNE Photos]

'44 FINALISTS ENTER WESTERN WOMEN'S OPEN

Indianapolis to Be Host to Golfers

BY CHARLES BARTLETT

The Women's Western Golf association, one of the most assiduous workers in the war time fairway picture, is assured of a field for its 1945 Western Open tournament which easily rivals any assembly it ever called to a tee in peace time.

This was indicated yesterday by Mrs. Charles Dennehy of Onwentsia, president of the organization, as she revealed a number of the definite competitors in the 16th annual Open show to be held at Indianapolis' Highland Golf and Country club the week of June 18.

Dorothy Germain Enters

Mrs. Dennehy and her associates rate a bow on the fact that they have brought back to this year's cast the 1944 finalists—Champion Mildred Didrikson Zaharias, Babe for short, and the runner-up, Dorothy Germain of Philadelphia.

Babe and Dorothy would have been a right nice inducement to galleryites in themselves, but Mrs. Dennehy yesterday said that there will be a couple of other talented parties around to argue with them thru the six-day battle ending on June 23 at Highland. These will be Elizabeth Hicks of Long Beach, Cal., and Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex. Neither played in either of the 1944 Western events. This year both will compete as professionals in the tournament which, since 1930, has been the only established vehicle of its type in the game.

Phyllis Otto Will Compete

The above mentioned foursome would be a handy one in any show, but each member of the quartet will have her troubles when the firing begins in Indianapolis a week from Monday. The rival field includes such as Phyllis Otto of Atlantic, Ia.; Catherine Fox Park of Glen Ridge, N. J.; Dorothy Kirby and Louise Suggs of Atlanta; Sally Sessions of Muskegon, Mich.; Jane Selz, Betty Sims, Virginia Ingram, and Lillian Townsend of Chicago, and Babe Freese of Portland, Ore.

Yesterday's presentation of the two putting clocks which the W. W. G. A. had planned to present formally to Vaughan General hospital was postponed until a later date.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD

HOLLIS (SLOPPY) THURSTON, former big league pitcher, now scouting for the Pittsburgh Pirates, probably will be named manager of the Hollywood Coast league Stars most any day now. . . . Pepper Martin, manager of the San Diego club, violates all established rules by picking his own club to win the 1945 pennant. . . . Jesse Flores, Athletics right hander, struck out the first three Indians to face him the other day, yet five batters went to the plate. . . . Here's how it was: Catcher Frank Hayes allowed the third strike on Dutch Meyer to get away from him, then threw badly to first base, saving Dutch. . . . Flores then fanned Felix Mackiwiecz and Paul O'Dea, walked Manager Lou Boudreau and got Pat Seerey on an infield grounder. . . . Nick Cullop, manager of the Milwaukee Brewers, used an old trick on Rookie Pitcher Stretch Goedde of Toledo and it won the ball game. . . . With men on first and second, Phil Martignetti, Brewer first baseman, bunted down the third base line. . . . The third sacker and Goedde both rushed to field it and the pitcher picked the ball up. . . . Cullop, coaching at third base, shouted, "Third base, third base!" . . . Goedde tossed the ball toward the uncovered cushion, it rolled away, permitting a run to score and advancing another to third base. . . . Before the rattled hurler could retire the side he had been hammered for four runs and Milwaukee triumphed, 4 to 2. . . After the game Goedde met Cullop near the clubhouse and said, boyishly, "Nick, I never thought you would pull a trick like that on me." . . . Said Nick, "I would do it even to my own father if I thought it would win a ball game for my club." . . . Del Webb, part owner of the New York Yankees, has been scouting the Browns and White Sox at Comiskey park the last couple of days. . . .

In trading Skeeter Webb to the Detroit Tigers, Manager Jim Dykes of the White Sox gave up his favorite golfing partner. . . . Some scribes claimed Dykes used to excuse Skeeter from spring training early so he could be in shape for a full 18 holes of divot digging. . . . If you stay in baseball long enough, anything can happen to you. . . . Take the case of Ad Liska, the Seattle pitcher, for example. . . . Ad, who has been chucking in organized ball for 19 years, never had been touched for a four run homer until the other night, when Johnny Moore of Los Angeles turned the trick. . . . Larry Hoff, Richmond (Cal.) High school track star, is undefeated as a hurdler, broad jumper, and relay man in 10 meets while piling up 162½ points. . . . Johnny Butler, son of Willis, the Cleveland Indians' scout, was cited for navy action in the Rhine crossings. . . . Clayton Wilkinson, older member of the brother combination which transferred from the University of Utah to help Iowa win its first undisputed Western conference basketball championship, was a missionary before enrolling with the Hawkeyes. . . . A New York Giant fan became so excited the other afternoon he threw his right arm out of the socket cheering his favorites. . . . Lt. Bob Kennedy, former White Sox third baseman, will marry Miss Claire Ellensohn at St. Mary's church in Riverside tomorrow. . . . He is stationed at the marine base in Pensacola, Fla. . . . Lt. Comdr. Burt Ingwersen, athletic officer at the Navy Pre-Flight school in Chapel Hill, N. C., will be transferred on June 28 to the Naval Air Technical Training Center at 87th and Anthony, Chicago, where he also will serve as athletic officer. . . . Lt. Comdr. H. E. (Red) Smith, now on Adm. Kendall's staff in Chicago will relieve Ingwersen at Chapel Hill. . . . Lt. Comdr. Sam Barry, former head football and basketball coach at Southern California, will take Smith's place on Adm. Kendall's staff. . . . Ted Payseur, athletic director at Northwestern university, will be the principal speaker at Oak Park High school's spring letter award dinner Monday night.

The Test

A song of triumph rises now,
"The war's all over," we often hear.
In rising tones it fills the air—
So simple to say, so soothing to hear,
"With brutal Nazi hordes gone down,
There is no other foe to fear."
And topping all now comes the cry,
"The rest is easy, that is clear!"

Yes, "easy"—like the Java sea,
Or in those early days, Bataan,
On Guadal and at Tarawa,
On Guam and then again, Saipan;
As easy as the Philippines,
Or Iwo, where our hearts' blood ran
Or on that day we'll fight our way
To land on "easy" shores—Japan!

Five million bristling bayonets
We face in the war to the west!
Five million savage, bestial men
Are waiting to face our best,
Unless, as they hope, with one war won,
We'll all feel entitled to rest
And fall to maintain our hard won
Americans, this is the test!

St. Louis, Mo., June 7—The receding Cubs, who arrived here early last Monday morning, got around to playing a baseball game tonight and earned no better reward for their long wait than a 6 to 4 whipping at the hands of the rising St. Louis Cardinals. The Cubs plopped into sixth place, a game out of seventh and the Cards improved their second place rating to a point 3½ games behind the leading Giants.

Paul Erickson, nominated to pitch the scheduled opener here Tuesday and held over thru last night's postponement finally got his chance and didn't do much by it. He lasted three innings, in which the champs made four runs and six hits, including a double and a homer by Babe Adams, a double by Ken O'Dea, and singles by Debs Garms, Marty Marion, and Emil Verban. Ray Prim yielded one run and three hits and Mack Stewart was socked for only one hit, a double by Ray Sanders which grew into the Cardinals' unneeded run.

Creel Is Blasted Out

The Cubs went hitless against Jack Creel in the first five innings but knocked him out with three runs and five hits in the sixth. Harry Brecheen replaced Creel and held the Cubs to one run in the last three and one-third innings, despite lead-off doubles by Lennie Merullo and Heinz Becker in the seventh and eighth innings.

The Cubs, who thus registered their third loss in the third night game they have played this season, found little comfort in their midnight escape from this town. Tomorrow Bill Nicholson will undergo a pre-induction examination in Chicago, then, with the other Cubs, in the afternoon will face the Cincinnati Reds, hottest team in the National league these last two weeks.

Paul Derringer has been nominated to see what he can do about slowing down his former buddies.

Cardinals Start String

The Cardinals had four runs home—two in the second inning and two in the third—before the Cubs got a runner on base. Adams started the second inning splurge with a double to center and scored on O'Dea's double to right. Marion singled to left, O'Dea stopping at third. Verban made it four hits in a row for the Cards with a single to left, O'Dea scoring and Marion stopping at second. Creel attempted to sacrifice and fouled to Rice, then Schoendienst and Hopp flied out.

Garms drew Erickson's second pass at the start of the third inning and was forced by Sanders. Adams then drove the ball into the left field bleachers, scoring behind Sanders. It was at this juncture that Hack was charged with his first error of the season. Marion smashed one Stan's way and it caromed off toward Merullo, who made a good try in an effort to save the error, but his good throw easily was beaten by Marion. Verban then fouled out and Erickson disappeared for the evening.

Prim Starts Rally

Prim, who replaced Erickson at the start of the home fourth, made the first Chicago hit, a grounder to Verban. Hack struck out, but Johnson singled to right. Becker singled to center, scoring Prim and Cavarretta singled to right, scoring Johnson and putting Becker on third. Pafko bounced to Garms and Becker was out at the plate. Nicholson singled to center, scoring Cavarretta. Manager Grimm sent up Gillespie to bat for Len Rice, whereupon Manager Southworth replaced Creel with Brecheen. Livingston then batted for Gillespie and forced Nicholson, Verban unassisted.

Verban singled to center with one out in the sixth. Brecheen attempted to sacrifice and fouled to Livingston, after which Schoendienst drew a pass. Hopp singled to right center, scoring Verban.

Merullo opened the Cub seventh with a double to left and went to third after Sanders had gone far into right foul territory for Pinch Batter Frank Secory's foul. Hack then flied to Hopp, scoring Merullo.

Get One Off Stewart

Stewart's first act was to pitch a double to Sanders at the start of the home seventh. Sanders moved to third on Adams' sacrifice, then O'Dea was given an intentional pass. Marion flied to Cavarretta, Sanders scoring.

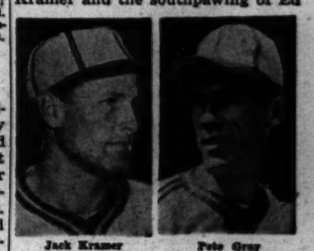
BROWNS DROP SOUTH SIDERS INTO 5TH PLACE

Lopat, Humphries Are Victims

BY IRVING VAUGHAN
[BOX SCORES NEXT PAGE]

James Dykes' White Sox were weighted down with various infirmities in Comiskey park yesterday so were forced to write off their afternoon of work as a total loss. Due to such items as batting feebleness, wobbly fielding, and shaky pitching, they surrendered twice to the title-holding St. Louis Browns, who took the first decision, 6 to 0, and the other, 6 to 2. As a result, the Sox who were league leaders two weeks ago, now are resting comfortably at the top of the second division.

The first game was a matter between the right handing of Jack Kramer and the southpawing of Ed



Jack Kramer Pete Gray

Lopat, but the latter wasn't quite as soft a touch as the score might indicate. The Browns aided their man with steady fielding, whereas Dykes' boys were guilty of three fielding blunders, and for good measure Lopat tossed in a balk and wild pitch.

Hits Are Wasted

The Sox continued with their pea shooter attack in the second game, getting practically nothing with their 11 scattered safe shots against Tex Shirley. On the other hand, the champions continued to avoid batting waste. They put on one four hit inning for two runs and followed with a five hit inning for four runs, all of this at the expense of Johnny Humphries, who welcomed retirement at the end of the fifth.

One of the blows against Johnny was especially impressive. It was a double by George McQuinn that drove in three pals in the fifth.

Ed Is Tough for Awhile

Lopat was good enough to keep the Browns hitless in the first three innings of the opening game, but once they started to bang the ball around they found it a comparatively simple matter to score runs. They got their first on a single by Mike Kreevich and double by McQuinn in the fourth. This was just one run better than the Sox were able to do on a double by Tony Cuccinello with none out and a single by Cass Michaels with one out in the second inning.

The Browns' fruitful sixth inning began with a single by Don Gutteridge, who arrived at second ahead of Lopat's attempt to force him on Pete Gray's bunt. After Kreevich had popped out the Sox slipped an intentional pass to Vern Stephens and McQuinn followed with a long fly on which Gutteridge scored. Michaels lost a chance to retire the side when he fumbled Babe Martin's roller, reloading the bases. Two of the waiting gentlemen rode home on a single by Len Schulte.

Gutteridge Steals Home

Myron Hayworth singled to open the ninth and went to second on a balk. A double by Gutteridge scored him. With such help as a wild pitch and an error on Gray's roller by Leroy Schalk, the Browns found themselves with men on third and first. They changed this by pulling a double steal in which Gutteridge scored the last run.

Humphries was perfect in the first inning of the second game, but from then on things were different. Stephens led off with a single in the second inning and, after McQuinn had fanned, there was another single, this one by Martin. Schulte also singled, Stephens scoring, but Martin was nailed trying to reach third. Mancuso doubled and Schulte scored.

The bit of hilarity in the fifth, when four Brownies scored, began with Gray beating out a bunt. Kreevich looped a single into right and Stephens beat out a bunt, filling the bases. McQuinn cleaned 'em up in a hurry by doubling to left center and he counted the fourth run of the inning a moment later when Schulte singled. Fortunately, a double play intervened to hurry the conclusion of the unfortunate inning.

Double Play Halts Rally

For a few moments in the sixth it looked as if the Sox might hit the jackpot on Shirley. Farrell's single, a double by Hockett, and a pass to Dickshot filled the bases with none out. Cuccinello grounded into a double play and Schalk flied to center so the dividend was limited to one run. Their other run scored in the seventh on singles by Vince Castino, Moses and Farrell.

Final Glory Wins Feature at Hawthorne

Final Glory, a front running son of Case Ace which races for Walter H. Bishop of Anna, Ill., yesterday scored a decisive two lengths victory over two leading candidates for tomorrow's $5,000 Steger handicap at Hawthorne.

In front every step of the six and one-half furlong sixth race, the 5-year-old gelding negotiated the distance over a fast track in 1:20 and paid $10.80 in the mutuels. The majority of the crowd of 11,120 had neglected him to support the two Steger nominees, Mrs. Robert Garvey's Night Shadow, which was backed to 3 to 2, and the Brolite Farm's Challenge Me, which closed at 5 to 2. They finished second and third, with Night Shadow a nose in front of Challenge Me.

Night Shadow was taken off the early pace by Paul Glidewell, but showed her usual finishing burst of speed at the end. Challenge Me was kept in a contending position all the way by Joe Cavens, but seemed to tire at the end.

The Dixiana stable, which sent out two winners Wednesday, came thru with another in yesterday's second race. It was Little Priss, a 3 year old filly which was ridden by Harry Hart and paid $7. The favorite was coupled with another public choice—Liberator in the first—to complete a $22.20 daily double, one of the smallest of the Chicago racing season. The mutuel handle for the day was $757,653.

Moore Best of N.C.A.A. Vault Field

BY WILFRID SMITH

While most of the individual events in the National Collegiate track meet tomorrow night in Marquette university stadium, Milwaukee, will be wide open battles, this is not true of the pole vault. The outstanding candidate for this title is Billy Moore of Western Michigan, the only collegian to clear 14 feet this year.

Beginning with the National A. A. U. indoor championship, Moore, a navy student following service in the South Pacific, has won the Drake relays and the Central Collegiate titles. At Drake, where he was a freshman before entering the navy, Moore vaulted 14 feet.

Moore's competition will come from John Schmidt of Ohio State, Western conference champion, and Bob Phelps of Illinois, who was second in the Big Ten meet this year.

Five athletes entered in the broad jump have cleared 23 feet this year and the national title conceivably may be won by any of them. Fred Bouwman, representing the United States Naval academy, has the best mark, a jump of 23 feet 11⅛ inches, and he was the Eastern Intercollegiate champion at 22 feet 5½ inches. Other contenders are Melvin Larson, Iowa State; Joe Hall, Navy; Henry Aihara, Illinois, and Ray Tharp, Minnesota.

Championship time in the N. C. A. A. 440 yard dash probably will be more than 49 seconds, for this group of contestants is distinctly mediocre. Illinois' Bob Kelley, Western conference champion who is not eligible for the meet tomorrow, finished third last year, but probably would be an easy victor this year. Joe Shropshire of Fresno State, fourth in 1944, is a likely candidate for the championship. So are Dick Forrestel of Michigan and William Kash of Navy.

ALDERMEN FIGHT 4 MILLION JUMP IN PEGGED LEVY

Waller to Ask Showdown Vote Wednesday

Several aldermen yesterday expressed their opposition to a new request of the city administration that the legislature grant an increase in the city's pegged tax levy, from 37 million dollars a year to 41 million. All agreed that higher taxes would act to discourage the establishment of industries in the city, as well as to penalize home building and ownership.

"Upping the levy four million would be an outrageous thing," said Ald. Waller [43d]. "The council has not even been consulted. The move is in direct contradiction to the program that the council finance committee adopted unanimously—no increase in taxes.

Plans Showdown Wednesday

"I do not believe there is one alderman who will stand up and approve this move. I intend to bring the question before the council at its meeting next Wednesday. Because I fear there will be an attempt to prevent discussion I intend to try for a showdown and get every alderman on record either for or against tax increases."

Ald. Bohling [7th] said huge sums were being spent on city planning and that this spending may be useless.

"What good is planning unless we can interest people in living and working here?" he asked. "Higher taxes certainly won't promote that. If the city needs money it can get a lot by consolidating the city and the park district."

Ald. Merryman [45th] said it was time for "somebody in public office to champion the taxpayers."

Opposed by Civic Groups

The Civic federation and other civic and real estate groups opposed the proposed bill before the senate and house committees on municipalities on Monday, but the legislation was approved by both committees. The federation has forecast that the city tax rate may climb to $4.28 for 1946, compared with $3.97 for 1944.

Mayor Kelly has insisted that no increase in taxes is necessary, since another law being considered at Springfield would transfer all relief costs to the state. Under present law the city is required to levy six million dollars a year for relief and all proceeds of the tax are spent before the state chips in.

Actually the city tax produces about four and a half million and the state is currently paying about three million. The total of seven and a half million is about one-tenth the peak relief load of depression years.

SUPERIOR COURT JUDGES TO WAIT FOR PAY BOOST

Cook county Circuit court judges will benefit immediately from the legislative act increasing salaries from $15,000 to $17,000, but most Superior court judges will wait two years for their raise, it was explained yesterday.

Judges, like other elected officers, must serve out their terms at the salaries effective when they were elected. Grover C. Niemeyer is the only Superior court judge whose term expires this year. Reelected, he is the only one on that bench to get the new pay scale. Charles Byrne, Edwin Robson, and John H. Tuohy, who were elected Monday, fill vacancies and will get the same salary as their predecessors.

The salary increase was voted as an emergency and made effective June 4, judicial election day. The sitting Circuit judges were reelected and with the three newly elected, Thomas J. Courtney, Leonard C. Reid, and Elmer J. Schnackenberg, will begin new terms at the higher salary.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

GAS COMPANY'S WORKERS VOTE TODAY ON STRIKE

More than 1,300 members of local 18007, Gas Workers' union [AFL], all employed by the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company, will vote today at a dozen gas company plants on whether to strike.

A last minute effort to settle the dispute will be made by Leo Kotin, assistant disputes director of the regional war labor board, at a conference with company and union officials at 10 a. m. today. The strike election, complying with federal requirements, will be supervised by Miss Helen Graves, a field agent of the national labor relations board. Results will be announced tonight by James E. Fitzpatrick, union business manager.

The union is demanding a flat 25 cent an hour wage increase, which last month was denied by the WLB. Fitzpatrick said the union also wants restoration of the pension plan as of 1927, insurance benefits as of 1927, a union shop, and inclusion in the contract of the current sick benefit plan. He said if the company concedes these points, apart from the wage demand, there will be no strike.

Arresting officers found seven shopping bags stuffed with 304,122 red coupons in the house. Charges against Mrs. Polito were dismissed on a motion of the government.

Five United States coast guardsmen from Chicago will be heard in interviews with Lt. Comdr. Jack Dempsey over W-G-N at 12:30 p. m. today. The interviews were obtained in Pacific areas and the transcriptions flown back. Those to be heard are Warren Zinkel, 3225 Belmont av.; Ray Valenta, 2310 S. TRANSIT TOPICS TO BE DISCUSSED IN COURT TODAY

Matters connected with the Chicago traction problem will be discussed today in the federal District court of Judge Michael L. Igoe. He is in charge of the surface and elevated lines, which are in bankruptcy.

At present there is only one plan for the unification and operation of the two systems—the public ownership scheme proposed by Mayor Kelly and Gov. Green and ratified by referendum last Monday. The trustees' plan for private ownership is regarded as having been killed by an unfavorable report by the Illinois commerce commission to the court.

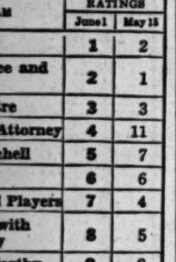
Bye-Bye Blue!

After June 15, you won't hear the Blue Network any more. No, it is not being discontinued. The name is being changed to American Broadcasting Company.

Radiophone Service for Farmers

The postwar period holds a bright prospect for farmers in remote districts, where telephone wires have not yet been installed. Experiments are now being made to provide these folks with regular telephone service through use of military field radios.

In many other ways radio will add to postwar living. Staticless F.M. broadcasting will be one attractive feature, which you will be able to enjoy fully with your coming Majestic F. M. Radio. From the speaker of your Majestic will flow true-to-life tones, natural, pure, vivid as music heard in a concert hall. And your Majestic Radio-Phonograph will flood your home with brilliant melody on records—Majestic Records—bringing the nation's top talent to your home.



These Engineers Wear Lipstick!

Who said this is a man's world? The ladies (bless 'em) are even taking over highly technical engineering jobs in radio. NBC now has two women engineers in charge of important operations on various network and local shows.

How Would You Like A Job Like This!

At the first glance a radio commentator's job looks like a cinch! Just step up to the mike for a few minutes, read prepared lines, and then pick up your check! Tain't so! . . . Frinstance — Martin Agronsky, Blue Network news analyst and war correspondent, spends about 14 hours a day in research. Polishing up his script takes additional time. He says, though, that the worst part of the job is getting up at 4:00 A.M. to rehearse finishing touches in the Blue's Washington news room.

Authors at Work

Radio celebs now busy writing books: Hedda Hopper, authoring "Malice in Wonderland;" Orson Welles, two books.

STOCK MARKET TURNS UPWARD; TRADE LIGHTER

New York, June 7 (AP).—Assorted stocks developed strength in today's market altho many leaders remained in the losing division. Gold mines revived early on word Canada had removed production restrictions. Rails and aircrafts made a last minute bulge as financial prospects seemed better.

Altho new 1945 highs, with gains running to 2 or more points, were well distributed at the close, losses were plentiful. Dealings, slow most of the time, picked up in the final hour. Transfers totalled 1,300,000 shares compared with 1,520,000 Wednesday.

In the new high class were Delaware and Hudson, up 2⅞ on refunding plans connected with the merging of the road's leased line; Chicago & North Western preferred, following another disbursement; Warner Brothers, reflecting dividend possibilities; Lehigh Valley Coal, in response to recapitalization reports; Lockheed, Boeing, and Douglas Aircraft.

RAIL BONDS STRONG

New York, June 7 (AP)—After dragging thru most of today's session the bond market became firmer in late dealings under leadership of rails. Advances of fractions to a point or more generally and in some instances 3 and 4 dotted the carrier list at the end. The general run of industrials and utilities were only slightly higher, altho investment rated issues advanced.

Antwerp 5s moved up 3⅝ points to 105 on sale of one bond. Other foreign dollar loans were quiet.

CHICAGO LIST MIXED

Prices were mixed yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange and turnover was 31,000 shares. Active issues included Chicago corporation, and Central and South West Utilities, each down ⅛; Curtiss-Wright, up ⅛; City Service, up ⅜, and Aviation corporation unchanged.

CANADA LIFTS RESTRICTIONS ON MINING OF GOLD

OTTAWA, Ont., June 7 (AP).—All metals control restrictions on the mining of gold and other metals or minerals have been removed, Munitions Minister Howe announced today.

The original order, designed to conserve man power and machinery, prohibited all expansion of existing mines and development of new properties after June 22, 1942, except by metal control permit.

"Mining labor is still subject to strict control by national selective service and it may be many months before machinery becomes available," Howe said. "The removal of restrictions is in line with the policy of the government in rescinding all limitations on civilian industry as quickly as conditions warrant."

HUMBLE OIL UNIT REMAINS UNDER COMPANY RULE

Corpus Christi, Tex., June 7 (AP)—The big Humble Oil and Refining company plant at near-by Ingleside, ordered under government operation by President Truman, continued today under company jurisdiction.

A court order granting a temporary injunction against the seizure order was issued late yesterday by Federal Judge T. M. Kennerly at Galveston. A hearing was set for Monday in Houston.

President Truman yesterday instructed Secretary of the Interior Ickes to take over the Humble plant and the Pure Oil company plant at Dawes, W. Va., to insure their continued operation. Both plants have been involved in labor disputes.

S. S. KRESGE COMPANY

Please tell me how high income taxes have affected earnings of S. S. Kresge company.—A. N.

Earnings of S. S. Kresge, before allowance for income taxes, have increased each year since 1938. During the last four years, however, net income after taxes and reserves for post-war contingencies has been below the average of the five years ended with 1939.

The company has been subject to excess profits taxes in increasing amounts each year beginning with 1940. Last year these taxes, including Canadian, totaled $14,238,000 net after post-war refund, or the equivalent of $2.59 a share on the 5,489,917 shares. It is apparent that Kresge will be a beneficiary to an important extent if the excess profits tax is repealed after the war. The company's combined income and excess profits taxes last year were $19,605,000.

Sales rose from $153,911,000 in 1939 to $216,454,000 in 1944. Kresge operates 709 stores, of which about 60 are in Canada. Share earnings were: 1944, $1.64; 1943, $1.54; 1942, $1.45; 1941, $1.72; 1940, $1.83. The average for the five years ended with 1939 was $1.87. Dividends in each of the last two years totaled $1.20. Net working capital increased from $31,311,000 in 1939 to $50,202,000 at the end of 1944.

GLOBAL MONEY LENDING PLAN WINS IN HOUSE

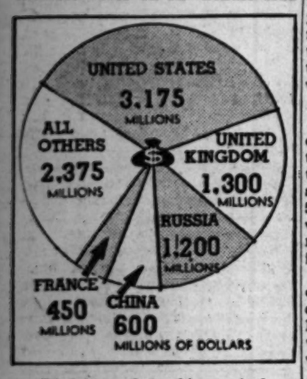
Vote 345 to 18 for Bretton Woods

BY LAURENCE BURD
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., June 7—Participation by the United States in the Bretton Woods 18 billion dollar global lending plan was approved by the house today by the decisive vote of 345 to 18.

The program drafted last year by delegates from 44 nations calls for a world bank to make reconstruction loans to member countries and establish a monetary fund from which members could make withdrawals to stabilize their currencies. The United States would be the largest contributor to the two agencies, with a total payment of nearly 6 billion dollars.

The enabling bill approving this country's entry into the plan now goes to the senate, where it will be the subject of hearings in the banking committee before that chamber votes on it. Senate leaders indicated that, because of other urgent business and a prospective summer recess for congress, final action on the Bretton Woods plan may be postponed until next fall.



Division of bank's capital.

Beat Motion to Recommit

The house voted its approval after defeating a motion by Rep. Sumner [R., Ill.] to recommit the measure to committee for the purpose of striking out the stabilization fund portion of the program. The vote against this motion was 326-29, with all the "no" votes cast by Republicans.

On the house vote for final passage 205 Democrats, 138 Republicans, and two minor party members voted "aye" against 18 Republican "no's."

The program was indorsed earlier this week by President Truman, who urged congress to give it "bipartisan support." It was denounced by a Republican minority, led by Miss Sumner, as a "swindle and fraud" that would result in the loss of billions of American taxpayers' dollars. The minority charged it would stifle foreign

Sen. Johnson Fights to Keep Alien Debt Act

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., June 7—In an impassioned plea to the senate finance committee, Sen. Hiram Johnson [R., Cal.], dean of senate Republicans, today asked for retention of legislation forbidding transactions by individuals in bonds of foreign governments which have defaulted in their debts to the United States.

Johnson made one of his rare public statements at a hearing on a bill authored by Sen. Fulbright [R., Ark.], young internationalist and former Rhodes scholar, which would repeal the Johnson act, introduced 11 years ago by the Californian to protect American citizens against worthless foreign securities.

"Remember You're Americans"

"For God's sake, just remember you're Americans all!" Johnson quavered, leaning on his cane before a hushed committee. "Don't render a decision against America. It's no disgrace to say you're American and to say that defaulting nations won't be forgiven forever. Uphold America's rights—say that even to Great Britain!

"When I read of the deliberations at San Francisco—well directed but not accomplishing much—I feel 'O, for God to give us an American, just one man, who will speak his mind and ask for what we are entitled to.' Apparently we are entitled to nothing, we're to take what's given to us."

Lend More than 4 Billion

Johnson estimated American government loans to foreign nations, thru the Bretton Woods proposals, the Export-Import bank, and other agencies, would total between 4 and 5 billion dollars a year after the war. He said those nations could not maintain their financial stability under such a burden.

John T. Flynn, author and economist, a Johnson witness, asked the committee to postpone action on the Fulbright bill until it was known what kind of governments the world would have after the war.

SALES OF WARD TOP YEAR AGO IN MAY, 4 MONTHS

Montgomery Ward & Co. yesterday reported May sales of $52,080,451, an increase of 3.8 per cent over last year's $50,160,388. For the four months ended May 31 sales amounted to $213,119,369, compared with $189,306,068 a year earlier, an increase of 12.6 per cent.

May sales of Spiegel, Inc., amounted to $5,666,684 and sales for the first five months totaled $25,369,446. Comparable figures are not available for 1944 because this year's reports include both mail order and retail stores sales. Only mail order sales were reported last year.

Truman Names Symington to Direct Surplus Disposal

Washington, D. C., June 7 (AP)—In the midst of congressional controversy over surplus war goods and facilities, President Truman today designated W. Stuart Symington, St. Louis industrialist, to take over the disposal job as successor to Guy M. Gillette.

CHICAGO AREA TO BUY 450,000 AUTOS IN YEAR

Most Owners Need Replacements

BY THOMAS FURLONG

Nearly three-quarters of the automobile owners in the Chicago area intend to buy new cars in the first year after the war. They expect to pay higher prices than they paid for their pre-war automobiles. These are conclusions drawn from the results of a comprehensive study by The Chicago Tribune business survey department.

From answers received to 2½ million questions asked in 10,029 separate interviews with Chicago area families the survey staff projected the following:

The 2,232,363 families living in metropolitan Chicago and other population centers of 2,500 or more in Illinois and four near-by states will spend $606,059,000 for new automobiles in the first post-war year.

Expect to Pay About $1,344

Of the 450,937 that these families intend to buy, 73 per cent will replace cars now owned. The remainder will be bought by families that do not own cars.

Those planning purchases expect to pay an average price of $1,344, substantially higher than the pre-war average.

The survey also brought out that automobiles are high on the list of durable goods to be purchased first by Chicago area families. Only washing machines and vacuum cleaners had a rating ahead of automobiles in scoring articles by the order in which they will be purchased. The aggregate intended expenditures for automobiles exceed by a wide margin the funds reserved for purchase of other durable goods, with the single exception of new housing.

82 Pct. Over 4 Years Old

Other information compiled by the survey staff included statistics on the age of automobiles owned and the brand preferences of present owners.

Only 17.7 per cent of the cars owned in the area are less than 4 years old. Other age brackets are: 4 to 6 years, 41 per cent; 7 to 10 years, 32.9 per cent; 11 to 15 years, 5.6 per cent; 16 years and older, 1.1 per cent.

A wait and see attitude is indicated in the data compiled on brand preferences. Altho nearly three-quarters of those planning purchases own cars, only slightly more than half have definite preferences. Those expressing no preference represent 47.5 per cent of those registering intention to buy, compared with the 27.2 per cent who are without cars today.

[Other data compiled from the survey will be reported in a later article.]

Washington, D. C., June 7 (AP)—A 50 per cent increase in the supply of leather for repairing women's shoes was reported today.

Hurley Plant Makes First Ironers Today

Civilian production will be resumed today at the plant of the Hurley Machine company, 54th av. and Cermak rd., when 50 home electric ironing machines will come off the assembly line. They will be donated to 7th war loan drives and will be shipped by air to 50 cities.

Edward N. Hurley, president, said the ironing machines will be the first to be turned out by the industry. He predicted that it will be at least 60 days before housewives will be able to buy them.

"We have more than 10,000 dealers who must be supplied with floor samples before shipments for retail sale can begin," he said.

The Hurley company, which makes the Thor electric washing machines, entered war work in 1940. It produced boosters for high explosive shells as well as washing machines for the military services and it will continue to produce these items.

The WPB authorized resumption of electric ironer production on May 21 on a nonpriority basis under which it was up to the manufacturer to find materials. Hurley had an inventory of materials that had been frozen at the start of the war and was able to resume production quickly.

Yesterday WPB authorized production of 350,000 washing machines in the third quarter of this year and gave priorities assistance to manufacturers in obtaining materials. Production of washers and ironers has been prohibited since May 15, 1942.

Call Off Apparel Market to Meet Convention Ban

The July apparel market held each year in the Merchandise Mart has been called off in compliance with the convention ban.

ICC APPROVES C. & O. CONTROL BY ALLEGHANY

Orders Pittston Co. Stock in Trust

Washington, D. C., June 7 (AP)—The Alleghany corporation today won its long fight to retain control of the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad.

Agreeing to certain conditions suggested by Alleghany as a means of settling the controversy, the interstate commerce commission held that Alleghany's control of the C. & O., the New York, Chicago & St. Louis [Nickel Plate] railroad, the Pere Marquette railway and their subsidiaries and affiliates is legal.

The ICC decision was contrary to the recommendations made last March by C. E. Boles, assistant director of its bureau of finance, that the commission find the control illegal and order Alleghany, a holding company, to divest itself of control of the carriers.

Sets Up Three Conditions

Boles had based his recommendation on a contention that the Alleghany lost control of the C. & O. in 1938 and regained it in 1941 and 1942 without ICC approval as required by the interstate commerce act.

The ICC prescribed three conditions by which Alleghany shall operate its control of the carriers:

1. Alleghany and the C. & O. shall deposit their respective holdings of stock of the Pittston company, a holding company engaged in coal operations, with the Empire Trust Company of New York as independent voting trustee.

2. Alleghany and the C. & O. shall deposit with Chase National Bank of New York as independent voting trustee all voting stocks of carriers now owned or acquired later by them. Exception was made for Alleghany's holdings in the Missouri Pacific railroad, in reorganization.

3. Existing interlocking directorates involving Alleghany, the C. & O. or affiliated companies on the one hand, and the Pittston company on the other shall be eliminated.

Considered a Carrier

The ICC ruled that henceforth Alleghany shall be considered a carrier subject to provisions of the interstate commerce act and therefore answerable to ICC for its future activities. In particular Alleghany was ordered to report four times a year, beginning July 1, regarding changes in trust agreements.

The ruling on the Alleghany control case was included in a decision authorizing the C. & O. to purchase Norfolk Terminal company.

House Republicans Urge Tax Reduction to Spur Initiative

Washington, D. C., June 7 (AP)—Immediate congressional action reducing post-war federal taxation was proposed today by the house Republican tax study committee, to "spur individual enterprise." Declaring that "the time for decision in tax matters is now," Chairman Reed [R., N. Y.] of the unofficial study committee proposed:

1. Congressional refusal "to plunge the federal government into new and more fields of expenditures and, as the controler general [Lindsay Warren] said, 'Courageously apply the pruning knife day after day to present federal spending.'"

Urges First Reduction Steps

2. Immediate action on "the first steps in tax reduction so that it is a clear disclosure of the official path that will be followed."

"These first steps, above all, should be a spur to profit ventures and a timed reduction of taxes on consumers so they may increasingly absorb the products and services of private enterprise," Reed said. The group made no specific proposal for tax reductions.

Doughton Bill Expected Soon

Chairman Doughton [D., N. C.] of the house ways and means committee soon will introduce a bill designed to improve the cash position of business by 5 billion dollars during the reconversion period by advancing the time for payments on a percentage of excess profits taxes and other funds due business after the war.

Capitol hill expects a vigorous battle at that time to amend the Doughton bill with a general downward revision of corporation and individual taxes.

OHIO SUPREME COURT HOLDS CITY TRANSIT SYSTEM IS TAXABLE

Columbus, O., June 7 (AP).—The prospect of millions of dollars annually in additional tax revenue for local governments was raised today by an Ohio Supreme court decision that property of the Cleveland municipally owned street railway system is taxable. Officials of the transit system estimated the ruling would cost them $250,000 a year in taxes.

The court, in a 5 to 2 ruling, held the city of Cleveland in operating the railway system, which it purchased three years ago from the Cleveland Railway company for $14,300,000, was engaged "in a private enterprise for profit" and therefore the property could not come within the constitutional exemption of property used for public purposes.

MEAT SOLUTION NEARER, SENATE LEADERS AGREE

OPA Plans Special Price Control

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., June 7—A secret meeting of senators and office of price administration officials, parliamentary maneuvers, and senate debate on the bill extending the life of OPA today brought a solution of the nation's meat problem nearer, senate leaders believed tonight.

The day's developments included:

1. The OPA promised at the secret meeting to put the meat industry on a special price control basis.

2. Sen. Thomas [D., Okla.], leading Democratic foe of OPA, offered an amendment to the stabilization act which would force the senate to vote on retaining vital parts of the law.

Ignores Intent of Congress

3. Sen. Taft [R., O.] charged the OPA with ignoring the intent of congress in its administration of the price control and stabilization laws.

4. Sen. Morse [R., Ore.] declared OPA promises "are not worth the paper they're written on."

OPA Administrator Bowles came to the Capitol this morning with James F. Brownlee, his meat expert, and Richard H. Field, OPA counsel, and was immediately closeted with Sen. Wagner [D., N. Y.], senate banking committee chairman, who wants the OPA continued another year without change.

Bowles' visit was believed to be

WOOL SUPPLIES LOAD MIDWEST STORAGE SPACE

Processors Lack Labor, Machine Parts

American wool stocks are piling up so heavily that the overflow of imports from Australia are being shipped to warehouses inland, including such centers as Milwaukee, Dixon, Ill., and Minneapolis, wool dealers said yesterday. Altho there is a large surplus of raw wool, stocks of woolen cloth on dealers' shelves are below normal largely because of the shortage of man power at the mills and lack of repair parts for machines used in woolen production.

William L. Kleinz

William L. Kleinz, president of the Chicago-Midwest Wool Trade association, said the world has a surplus of about 4 billions of pounds of wool—largely held by the British—which is the equivalent of about one year's production. He estimated the United States' stock at 1 billion 200 million pounds, about twice the normal annual consumption.

Military Takes 80 Per Cent

Kleinz said large amounts of wool are being brought in from Australia, and production in the United States is heavy. About 80 per cent of the finished wool production, including the wools going into clothing, blankets, socks, and other finished products, is absorbed by the military.

Altho stocks of woolen cloths have been below normal, the civilian population has not suffered much to date. Civilian woolen fabric production has been directed to fewer patterns and fewer colors. Altho the choice of clothes is not as broad as before the war most merchants have had fair sized supplies.

The man power problem has been difficult for the textile mills and efforts are being made to recruit more workers. Cutbacks in certain war plant operations are expected to relieve the situation. The other difficulty has been in getting repair parts for carding machinery, looms, and other equipment.

Lack Knitting Machines

A shortage of knitting machinery has affected government orders for certain woolen products, including 26 million pairs of woolen socks sought for the army.

For the future, Kleinz believes the country will have adequate stocks to clothe its war veterans because they will be discharged gradually over a long period. As a result there will be no big demand at one time.

After the war with the Japanese is ended the world will again be confronted with large surpluses which will affect the price structure. At present American wool consumption is about 75 per cent foreign and 25 per cent domestic. The average price paid in this country is about $1.18 a pound. Foreign wool sells at about 15 cents less.

CHARGES UTILITY PLAN TO 'PLANT' NEW DIRECTORS

Philadelphia, Pa., June 7 (AP)—Leo Tierney, Chicago, counsel for Illinois Power company, told the securities and exchange commission today that Middle West corporation and the North American company system have a "well defined plan" to "plant" three directors on the Illinois Power board.

Illinois Power has asked SEC to enjoin election to its board on June 20 of N. P. Zech, Robert N. Golding, and Robert D. Gordon by its parent companies—Illinois Traction, North American Light & Power, and North American, the top holding company.

"Isn't it a strange thing that these three men all have Middle West corporation connections?" Tierney asked after attempting to establish the corporate and geographic relations between Illinois Power and Central Illinois Public Service company, a Middle West subsidiary.

James F. Masterson, Philadelphia, representing North American Light & Power, said the commission "has no power under law to enjoin a holding company from voting its stock [in a subsidiary]."

First of Prefabricated U.S. Houses Reach Britain

LONDON, June 7 (AP)—The first of a consignment of 30,000 prefabricated houses have arrived from the United States, Minister of Works Duncan Sandys said today. German prisoners will be used preparing sites. "We are assured that the greater part of the total consignment of 30,000 will be dispatched to us before the end of the year," said Sandys, a son-in-law of Prime Minister Churchill.

Scott Radio Will Be Sold Thru New Dealer Program

Scott radios will be sold thru dealers in 90 major markets after the war, E. J. Halter, president of E. H. Scott Radio Laboratories, Inc., said yesterday. Previously the company operated and owned outlets in only a few cities. Dealer franchises have been granted in approximately 85 per cent of these major markets, Halter said.
